January 4, 2011 at 11:17pm

GMA BALITA

Originally debuted on May 19, 1986, this newscast becomes the first on GMA-7 by replacing News at Seven, Lacanilao, Vela and Jose were the first anchors of this newscast after they sequestered from the ceased BBC-2's BBC-2 Balita and commenced after the inception during the pilot episode. It also simulcasted on DZBB Bisig Bayan 594 kHz as a radio edition. Despite of Vela's absence and death from colon cancer, Veronica Bayulut-Jimenez replaced her on a vacant seat as an interim anchorwoman in 1990 and later commenced in 1992, Bobby Guanzon also replaced Jose in 1989, when he departed for DZMM, and Alex Tinsay and Lyn Ching-Pascual replaced Lacanilao and Guanzon in 1995, because of both his retirement and running for a Congressional candidate. The newscast served for 12 years and is dominated on TV program ratings with significant success, this was ended on April 8, 1998.

But the newscast was ceased airing due to Martial law as ABS-CBN shut downed for 14 years. In July 1986, Balita Ngayon returned to Channel 2 for its re-run with Mel Tiangco and Robert Arevalo as newscasters from 6 to 7 p.m. (one hour) from 1986 to 1987 and from 6:30 to 7 p.m. from January to February 1987. ## THE WORLD TONIGHT

The World Tonight is an English-language newscast of ABS-CBN. It is anchored by Tina Monzon-Palma on weekdays, and by Gigi Grande and Ron Cruz on weekends.

Airing history

The World Tonight premiered on November 21, 1962 at 8:30pm on ABS-CBN's DZXL-TV Channel 9 as the network's answer to Associated Broadcasting Company's The Big News, News at Seven on GMA and NewsWatch. Co-anchoring the newscast were Hal Bowie, a veteran announcer from ABS-CBN radio, Eric Eloriaga, and Henry Halasan, a former ABS-CBN Cebu talent who was transferred to the network's main offices in Manila as a sales executive. Bowie, who was in his 70s when the newscast first aired, later bowed out of the newscast due to health reasons and concentrated instead on producing news reports for the network. This left Halasan and Eloriaga as main anchormen of the program.

The program was transferred to sister station DWWX-TV on the 10:00pm time slot a year later. This happened when Channel 9 premiered Newsbreak with Bong Lapira, who transferred from rival newscast The Big News on ABC. The newscast continued until ABS-CBN's closure by the Marcos government during the declaration of Martial Law in September 1972.

The roster of field reporters for the newscast in its pre-Martial Law days included Orly Mercado, Jun Bautista, Tony Seva, Tony Lozano, Boo Chanco, Philip Pigao, Lito Tacujan and Danny Hernandez.

The World Tonight returned to television on September 15, 1986, coinciding with ABS-CBN Channel 2's reopening. It was anchored by Larry Ng (an ABS-CBN executive during the pre-Martial Law era), Angelo Castro Jr. (then the network's news director) and Loren Legarda. Ng left the newscast after a while, and was replaced by Korina Sanchez. However, Sanchez eventually left the newscast to concentrate on hosting the morning show Magandang Umaga (later Magandang Umaga Po), leaving Castro and Legarda as main anchors, with Ces Oreña-Drilon (business), Cathy Yap-Yang (business) and Dyan Castillejo (sports) joining in the '90s as segment anchors. Sanchez returned as an anchor but only on Saturday Edition along with Castro, Drilon, Castillejo additional segments with Angelique Laz (entertainment) and Bon Bivar (alternating anchor with Castro)

Legarda left the newscast in 1998 to run for senator. She was replaced by Tina Monzon-Palma, who used to anchor rival newscasts GMA Headline News (on GMA Network) and The Big News (on the reopened ABC, now TV5).

The newscast ran on Channel 2 until August 13, 1999, then moved to the network's 24-hour news channel ABS-CBN News Channel on November 1, 1999. The program continues to be one of ANC's flagship newscasts. During its ABS-CBN days, it was simulcast via SNN (Sarimanok News Network) (ANC's former name) from 1996-1999.

On March 2001, The World Tonight relaunched to its present graphics and theme music.

The newscast became notable when Robin Padilla announced that he was already married with Mariel Rodriguez at India on August 19. On September 1, 2009, due to Angelo's retirement as anchor, Tina Monzon-Palma become a solo anchor for the Monday to Friday newscast.

Woman in Commercials - Aug. 20, 1986 article from Ms. Norma Japitana

January 17, 2011 at 8:57pm

This time around the women's liberation can hardly fault the TV commercials. When before the women burned their bras in protest against the exploitation in advertising, this time there is a nod of approval. For the women in this latest commercial are achievers who happen to look good, too.

Joey Albert is pretty and busy and finds time to drink beer. Celeste Legazpi looks gorgeous as she goes through the phases of rehearsal and her eyes sparkle as she sips the brew. Then there's Laurice Guillen, who acts, directs and receives awards with her beer. The women pictured in the ad are in control and this makes the women libbers happy.

I wonder if they really drink beer. I have not seen Celeste take the drink even in that new glass that is more acceptable to women. I know she used to prefer wine. Laurice, perhaps, has a swig once in a while with beer-drinking Johnny Delgado. Then Joey, with the soulful eyes, is hardly the type to mix religion and beer.

The ad is obviously to prod women to start drinking beer. As if the male guzzling population is not enough. They are now enticing the women. Very shrewdly they choose slim women as models for the initial fear of women about drinking is the ugly beer belly that most corrupt politician and policemen are afflicted with. One can hardly induce women to join a drinking spree if there is danger that she will end up looking like a truck driver or some masculine type lady director.

Meanwhile, Sylvia La Torre drives us leisurely to a memorial park and invites us to visit. Which reminds of a joke about memorial parks that it is so nice that every one is dying to get in. Sylvia is also in a laundry soap commercial with Celeste where they both are seen with stars on their hair. Then she does everything to a poor chicken in that chicken commercial.

Sharon Cuneta and Kuh Ledesma look very good in their beauty soap commercial and I can swear that everyone in my neighborhood switched to the brand hoping that they will catch a Gabby Concepcion. For the ordinary people, commercials feed their fantasies and for those not yet knowledgeable with the plastic surgeons ability to create beauty, a bar of soap will do.

I am one of those who have always believed in advertising. In fact right after college, I worked in an advertising agency which handled accounts like watches and Vonnel products. I even produced a Vonnel commercial where the models say "Yeh, Yeh!" One reason I enjoyed advertising was because I met dashing people who never seemed to get over 25. It must be the endless cocktail parties.

As a devoted observer of commercial I scrutinize every shot. I'm happy that Eric Baines does not teach us how to brush our teeth anymore. But I'm dismayed to see two otherwise sensitive guys like Orly Mercado and Dong Puno fight each other with a toothbrush for the privilege of brushing their teeth.

Oh, there's Helen Vela milking a cow in Holland with a skyline that looks like Tagaytay. Helen seems to milk cows with authority and that superb voice to hers can sell anything. Subtlety in advertising can also be charming. Like that sanitary napkin ad that shows a girl skating gracefully. But there is also recall in exaggeration. Like that biscuit ad which sends you to heaven with one bite. You don't have to meditate to levitate.

After the February revolution, some products attempted to tie their products with the mass appeal of EDSA. We have a fan commercial using a Laban sign. Then there is now the controversial milk ad showing footage of tanks and people power and welcoming back the brand. Does it denote that the brand was prevented by the past government in getting into our coffee cups? Please explain.

The cola war heated up with Lionel Richie for Pepsi and Bill Cosby for Coke. But then comes Tina Turner who showed us her underpants while rocking to the beat of Pepsi. She has great legs but at her age they look lewd shown from all angles dancing to the beat of our local boy Gino Padilla.

After a trip to Moscow where there are no ads, I realized how much good advertising brings to life. It can be disconcerting only when you feel that the ad is not for you like the ads on very expensive cars. But some say that can make ordinary people like us ambitious. Like the ad that says: "Someday, you too, will own an Omega."

Is 'Bubble Gang' signing off? By Ed Sicam, For Yahoo! Southeast Asia

January 17, 2011 at 8:18pm

I am a big fan of GMA's long running gag show "Bubble Gang" (BG) so I felt bad when I read this item in Ricky Lo's "Funfare" column in the Philippine Star on Monday, January 17: "I am sad. One of my favorite shows (which I never fail to watch, come what may) will soon fade out after one decade and a half on the air.  It's one of the most innovative, most creative and most imaginative fun shows on local television, one show that proves the dictum "laughter is the best medicine." I will shed a tear when the show finally bursts like a bubble. Sayang!!!" It was quite obvious which show he was referring to. "BG" has been entertaining viewers for "a decade and a half" (It premiered on Oct. 20, 1995.). The give-away line was of course his reference to the show finally bursting like a bubble. Ricky has very reliable sources in the industry so I have no doubt that the report is true. By coincidence, I was really planning to write about "BG" after watching its latest episode last Friday. I was a little disappointed because their gags did not elicit hilarious laughter from me as in their previous shows, just a mild chuckle. The punch lines were not that funny and that segment where Ogie Alcasid mispronounces words in a spelling bee fell flat. Still, I gave "BG" the benefit of the doubt. I was sure the next episodes would be funnier. If it's true that "BG" is being cancelled, I'm wondering if the show has overstayed its welcome. Networks cancel programs when their ratings drop. Maybe the audience has gotten tired of the same menu and would like to try another dish. Sometimes even if you serve delicious steak every time, the viewers might want to try fish, for a change. If last Friday's episode was similar to what they aired in the previous weeks, the audience should not be blamed if it wants a different Friday menu. Of course, this is all speculation. Keeping a show on the air for fifteen years is already a big achievement. Other successful gag shows like "Champoy," "Super Laff In (the one with Ramon Zamora)" and "T.O.D.A.S." did not reach the 15-year mark. It's hard to make people laugh. That's why there are very few sitcoms and gag shows on TV today. Networks would rather air safe bets like drama, fantasy, reality and musical-variety shows. It is said that a famous comedian was dying and a friend asked him, "Is it hard, this dying?" to which the comic replied, "No, dying is easy. Comedy is hard." The writers and cast of "BG" sure made it look easy. Who can forget: its commercial spoofs; the parody of "Ang Dating Daan," featuring Isko Salvador as Brod Pete; Yaya and Angelina played by Michael V and Ogie Alcasid (It was so popular they turned it into a movie.); Michael V's music videos (His songs like "Hindi Ako Bakla" are in his album "The Bubble G. Anthology"); the Sex Balls (a spoof of the Sex Bomb dancers) composed of Michael V, Ogie, Wendell Ramos and Antonio Aquitania); and many more? Michael V, Ogie, writer Cesar Cosme and director Uro de la Cruz are the driving force behind the success of this show. Also in the pool of writers are Mon Roco and Chito Francisco. These are the only names I remember right now but I'm sure other creative people contributed to the success of this show. Michael V and Ogie deserve plaudits because of their consistent performance. Their versatility is very evident in the many spoofs that they've done. Michael V is believable and hilarious in his female roles from the gestures to his voice. as well as in his impersonation of famous figures. De la Cruz impresses with his use of special effects when they are needed. A gag show would not be complete without the bombshells who brought sex appeal to the show. Worth mentioning are Diana Zubiri, Francine Prieto, Maureen Larrazabal. and Rufa Mae Quinto. That's probably why the show was moved to a late time slot. Sometimes their jokes bordered on adult humor. Last Friday, for instance, there was a scene where Rufa was looking for a condom so she and her lover could make love. This was the first time I've heard the word "condom" uttered so many times in a TV comedy or drama. If it's really true that "BG" is finally signing off and chances are it is, Michael V., Ogie, Uro and the writers and cast are already assured of a special place in the history of Philippine television. It's going to be hard for others to match "BG's" longevity as well as the caliber of humor on the show.

Here is Mark Antony's line in William Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" after the emperor is assassinated: "Here was a Caesar. When comes such another?" In the same vein, I say, "Here was 'Bubble Gang.' When comes such another?" However, I'm hoping in the end that I will be quoting Mark Twain who said, "The reports of my death have been greatly exaggerated."

Bubble Gang director says longest-running gag show will not be taken off the air

January 18, 2011 at 7:58pm

The cast members of Bubble Gang were taping for their gag show last night, January 17, when they learned about a blind item reportedly talking about their show.

In a report published in a national broadsheet yesterday, it was indicated that a show "will soon fade out after one decade and a half on the air."

The show was described as "one of the most innovative, most creative and most imaginative fun shows on local television," which prompted the writer to say that he will "shed a tear when the show finally bursts like a bubble."

The clues of the item seem to be referring to GMA-7's gag show, Bubble Gang, which celebrated its 15th anniversary in October 2010.

PEP (Philippine Entertainment Portal) called Bubble Gang director Uro dela Cruz regarding this blind item. He responded by saying, "Hindi mawawala ang Bubble Gang. Marami pa kaming celebration na pinaplano."

The director added, "Kung may official announcement [ang management], hindi na idadaan sa blind item."

Direk Uro is also puzzled why this blind item came out since he says watching Bubble Gang has become a habit among viewers.

"We don't want to change that timeslot kasi magagalit ang mga tao," he said.

In an interview with PEP last June 2010, Mr. Gilberto "Jimmy" Duavit, (Executive Vice President, COO) also pointed out that the gag show enjoys strong support from viewers.

"Bubble Gang is synonymous with the network. It's something that has a very loyal following both in the trade and sa viewership niya. And again to a large extent, we acknowledge that particularly sa timeslot niya, napaka-late na... Bubble Gang will outlive me, so will Bitoy [Michael V] and Ogie [Alcasid].

"Maski ang timeslot niya, hindi option sa aming palitan," said the GMA-7 executive.

Bagong News Channel ng GMA7, malapit nang magbukas!

January 22, 2011 at 2:02pm

Malapit nang maging news channel ang Q Channel 11. Ang sabi, sa last week ng February and for one week, magsasara ang Q Channel 11 at pagbalik, news channel na.

Maraming shows na umeere ngayon ang mawawala pero may ilan ang mare-retain at kasama rito ang Tweetbiz, Full Time Moms, at Balikbayan ni Drew Arellano, pero iibahin ang title. Ang X Life ay extended up to March.

Mari-retain din ang American Idol, kaya lang, paano ito mapapanood kung one week na magsa-shut down ang Q Channel 11? Posible kayang ilipat muna sila sa GMA 7?

Curious kami sa “one big name” in news na makakasama ng mga reporters. Sino kaya siya?

Lineup A.

7.1 - GMA HD

7.2 - GMA News TV SD

7.3 - Citynet 27/GMA Sports SD (kung sakaling ibabalik)

7.4 - GMA 1seg

Lineup B

@PNTV. The Beat,XLife may still remain on GMANTV.

How to make the government TV network more relevant

January 23, 2011 at 1:07pm

Communications Secretary Sonny Coloma opened 2011 with positive news that the DoF (Department of Finance) under Secretary Cesar Purisima is spearheading the privatization of long sequestered television networks RPN-9 and IBC-13 and that the funding requirements of the government television network, NBN-4, is already being addressed.

The President Cory C. Aquino administration had wanted to privatize both RPN-9 and IBC-13 but legal impediments prevented that from happening. Eventually, many of the legal impediments were hurdled after winning several important court decisions. However, succeeding administrations still failed to privatize the two networks.

In the case of the Gloria Macapagal Arroyo (GMA) regime, it was understandable for them to hold on to RPN-9 and IBC-13. A besieged administration will desperately utilize any facility, including two TV networks that are lagging way behind in ratings, which can prop up its dismal public image. That, of course, is sheer illusion and an expensive one to sustain.

Sonny Coloma's announcement also mentioned a target date for the privatization of RPN-9 and IBC-13 — by end of year 2013. Unless, there are still legal impediments — my advice to both Secretaries Purisima and Coloma is to fast track the privatization and aim for a consummated sale of both TV networks by no later than March of 2012.

There are two reasons for that fast track recommendation, as follows:

1. Between 2011 and 2013, there is no way that those two sequestered TV networks will appreciate in value. On the contrary, based on their track records, their sale prospects are diminished with every passing year. Trying to window dress these two networks will be a case of spending good money after bad. Other than these reasons, Free TV networks all over the world have been encountering consistently diminishing audiences and returns.

2. In early 2010, there were only two FREE TV Titans — ABS-CBN and GMA-7 — that can smother an aspiring rival network. Now, there is the fast rising ABC-5 of Manny Pangilinan. You have here a case of stiffer competition in a market that is not able to sustain more than three national free TV networks.

Sec. Sonny Coloma is on the right track to want to transform NBN-4 into something like the UK's BBC Network. With over two decades of experience in the television game, your Chair Wrecker would like to offer these suggestions to Sec. Coloma:

Seek private partnerships

The government cannot possibly fund what it will cost to transform NBN-4 into a BBC-type operation. The government cannot even fund NBN-4's present hand-to-mouth operation. Private partnerships can be attracted if the programming is seen to be relevant to the real big needs of the people. Sec. Coloma will also have to convince potential private partners that NBN-4 will improve its programming and production standards.

Address the real big needs of the people

People have not developed an NBN-4 viewing habit because there is very little in NBN-4 programming that most Filipinos find useful. Even if Filipinos are biased towards entertainment programs, NBN-4 will still manage to attract a respectable viewer base if the programming really serves the big needs of the people.

Among these big needs that NBN-4 can address are the following:

1. Teach the people livelihood skills or where they can go to learn these skills. Information where people with these skills can find employment will also be appreciated.
2. Instructions on important government programs and services and how people can avail of these. Much of people's disappointment with the government emanates from their lack of knowledge of what services are available to them, where to apply for these services and how to apply for these.
3. Historical dramas that teach Filipinos their real history. The KBS World Network of South Korea does this to perfection. Their historical dramas are well written and provide nuggets of wisdom.

Develop an NBN-4 niche in the Public Affairs arena

It will take decades before NBN-4 will ever be perceived by the public as fair and unbiased in news reporting. The BBC enjoys this image because their society has long lived with a culture of editorial independence. No public official in the UK will ever dare to try to influence BBC news reporting. However, being a part of the government, NBN-4 enjoys the unlimited access to information which the rest of private media do not publish or broadcast. Farmers (Department of Agriculture programs), mothers (nutrition and health tips), businessmen (trade incentives) and so forth could be attracted to watch NBN-4 if there are useful information to be had on a regular basis.

NBN-4 should look into the minds of the Filipino FREE TV viewers and find out what the government TV network can still offer them. Marketing begins and ends with the consumer. NBN-4 should develop a marketing mentality and not be prone to simply copying other networks like the BBC and PBS of the US. The British and American publics have different needs. NBN-4 should address Filipino needs.

Even after NBN-4 succeeds to determine the real big needs of Filipinos that it can service, their mission has only started. NBN-4 has to convince the showbiz oriented Filipino viewers that they need to watch and learn from these developmental TV programs.

- Kyle Florencio TV tax ang sagot diyan. BBC is under a broadcast license fee, Around Php 10K+ nga yun when converted from British pounds.
Suggestion is gawin nalang abot kaya para kaya bayaran.
Class E : 175/year (50php/quarter)
Class D : 250/year (pwedeng 70Php/quarter)
Class C : 400/year (pwedeng 110Php/quarter)
Class B : 750/year (pwedeng 195Php/quarter)
Class A : 1,000/year (pwedeng 275Php/quarter)

Mas mura kapag yearly payment than quarterly payment.

Kailangan munang pag-aralan kung ano ang penalty na makukuha mo kapag hindi nag-bayad.

NBN must also show Independent Filipino movies sometimes to showcase Filipino creativity and culture.

- Guien Garma Usually, European countries lang ang may TV license fees. Sa Asia, Japan lang ata ang nagpapa-TV License fee.

Ok din lang naman yung suggested prices, pero, sa UK kasi, hindi lamang socioeconomic levels ang tinitignan, pati kung ilan ang iyong TV at kung ano ang iyong TV [black and white or color].

But considering that PH is still a developing country, baka maraming kumontra sa TV license fee. Hindi pa abot ng NBN ang buong bansa. Walang NBN station dito sa Ilocos Norte [meron sa Ilocos Sur, pero di kami abot dito], e di hindi namin mararamdaman ang patutunguhan ng TV license fee.

- Kyle Florencio @Guien. Kung saan man may NBN, doon lang effective yung TV licence fee. The area needs to be inspected bago maghingi ng license fee tsaka pwede ito tanggalin kapag nabili ang RPN and IBC.

About TV, pwede naman dayain yan if you have a color TV then pay the price of a B/W. Gawin mo lang ay alisin yung color ng TV before the tax collector goes there.

RPN 9 a done deal?

February 18, 2011 at 2:31pm

Spy Bits sources tell us that Wilson Tieng's Solar Entertainment Corp. now owns the majority shares of RPN 9 together with Kitchie Benedicto Paulino, the daughter of the late Ambassador Roberto Benedicto who owned a substantial number of shares from both IBC 13 and RPN 9. Both channels were sequestered in 1986 with their ownership put into question, but Kitchie (who currently runs her own production outfit Cinemakulay and was actively involved in RPN 9 during the Marcos years) has reportedly been successful in getting back her father's sequestered shares in a recent Sandiganbayan ruling.

Along with IBC, the government has been wanting to privatize RPN which, other than its transmitter, now has zero assets having been dissipated over the past 20 years after it was placed under government supervision.

During its heyday, RPN 9 ruled the airwaves but the station's decline has made privatization difficult with the lack of interested takers. In 2007, Solar engaged in a partnership with the station and took over the programming. The introduction of new shows (among them the popular Fox TV series "Bones,") has infused new life on the network, now back to the branding "Solar TV on RPN." If Solar is indeed the new owner of RPN, then it can only mean good news for the network and its employees, many of whom have been complaining about late payment of salaries.

Philippines gets new ‘nonstop’ news and sports TV channel

February 18, 2011 at 9:13pm

The Associated Broadcasting Corp., now known as TV5, tonight unveiled AksyonTV, the Philippines’ newest “nonstop news and sports channel”, before members of the press and bloggers and trade partners in glitzy ceremonies at The Fort, Taguig City in Metro Manila. This is definitely good news for news hounds and Filipinos long wishing for a 24-hour news station on free TV.

AksyonTV starts broadcasting, mainly in Filipino, on Feb. 21 on channel 41 in Metro Manila and on channel 29 in Cebu and Davao.

Prior to the entry of AksyonTV, the Philippines’ lone all-news channel could only be found exclusively on one cable provider.

Prominent Filipino businessman Manny V. Pangilinan now chairs TV5, with veteran journalist Luchi Cruz Valdez as head of News5.

TV5 chief executive officer Ray C. Espinosa told journalists and bloggers that AksyonTV hopes to differentiate itself from competitors with the way they will deliver the news.

Espinosa says TV5 has streamlined its news gathering and reporting capabilities through News5 which will oversee operations of NewsFM, TV5’s novel news radio station on the FM band, and AksyonTV.

Bobby Barreiro, TV5 executive vice president, meanwhile revealed that AksyonTV and News5 will still have its headquarters in TV5’s main studios in Novaliches, Quezon City as well as a satellite station at The Fort, Taguig City, Metro Manila.

Dong Puno, Teddyboy Locsin, Dick Gordon, Lourd de Veyra and Carlos Celdran will headline AksyonTV’s talk shows, while Martin Andanar will be the news and sports channel’s head newscaster.

Espinosa said AksyonTV will deliver news updates every 30 minutes, and will tap the news-gathering and news-reporting

TV5's AksyonTV promises to deliver as much sports as Filipinos would gladly watch and follow, starting with the Feb. 26 bout of Fil-Am boxer Ana Julaton which will be telecast live from Point Richmond, California.

Espinosa said TV5 is going to bid for TV coverage rights of the Philippine Basketball Association and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

"We've ordered special cameras for our sports coverage," said Barreiro.

Carlo Ople, head of TV5's social media unit, said AksyonTV and TV5 will have an iPad app, which would soon be submitted to Apple for approval.

"We hope to be the leader in social media, in news and everything. We have many plans. We want to take our use of the further.

Expect AksyonTV reporters and anchor to interact more with the public through Twitter and via TV5's website dubbed "InterAksyon".

TV5's AksyonTV on Channel 41 represents the first challenge to the ABS-CBN News Channel, the 24-hour news channel of the country's leading broadcasting company.

GMA Network launches GMA News TV on Feb. 28 via free UHF channel 11.

The entry of TV5's AksyonTV and GMA's GMA News TV, both on free TV, is expected to provide ANC stiff competition. ANC is an exclusive channel on SkyCable, which is also owned by the same family behind ABS-CBN.

GMA welcomes QTV, their newest 'kapuso' - Clickthecity.com

February 19, 2011 at 1:59pm

GMA fans are of one heart again in welcoming QTV Channel 11.

The newest free TV channel celebrates all women: sister, mother, daughter, kumare, ninang, lola and every other title in between. QTV promises to be your new home on television, with an aim to understand women in a way that no other channel does.

It knows women so well that they've moved the news time slot. Balitanghali airs its news at noon. Anchored by Raffy Tima and Pia Archangel, the hard-hitting noontime news show also dishes out the hottest news and information relevant to women.

QTV will win your heart by touching it with stories from shows such as the good deed-rewarding Pusong Wagi, hosted by Miss Tessie Tomas and At Your Service: Star Power, a spinoff public affairs show where Iza Calzado rallies celebrities to help local communities solve their own problems.

Let QTV touch your life with the brave stories from Women's Desk, a brave show that promotes women's and children's rights.

QTV will also lighten your day with innovative shows such as Love Life where host Love Añover takes on the identity of celebrities, politicians and ordinary folk and lives their lives. Original sitcom O, Mare Ko highlights everyday Pinay lives. The Philippines' most respected dramatic actresses try their hands at comedy. Sandy Andolong is a separated mother of two, Gina Alajar is a happy-go-lucky old maid, Amy Austria plays a not-so-smart OFW and Miss Lorna Tolentino is a happily married woman with a sharp mind for business.

QTV will change the lives on mothers everywhere with shows geared solely for them. Every woman needs a soul mate who shares with her the joys of motherhood and shares in those quiet moments when she can let her hair down, put her feet up and relax.

Moms is one of those programs. Hosted by celebrity mommies Lani Mercado and Sherilyn Reyes, they magazine program tackles unique mommy experiences as well as give practical tips on motherhood. This is going to be the newest tambayan of Kapuso mommies everywhere.

Also catering to other members of the family, QTV offers a show like Candies, a unique teen magazine show that understands the angst, insecurities, confusion as well as the beauty and pleasures of teenage life, and other programs that will further endear the station to women and the important people in their lives.

And of course, what would life be without music? MMS (My Music Station) is an hour of nothing but music hosted by VJ Raymond Gutierrez. The stage is set for favorite artists, songs, music news and behind-the-scenes videos.

Ka-Toque (Lutong Barkada) is a cooking show for everyone who loves to whip up a good meal for their loved ones. Two teams of famous chefs barge into celebrity homes and come up with interesting meals using only the ingredients they find in the kitchen.

If Ka-Toque feeds your body, let May Trabaho Ka feed your mind with its helpful advice on how to land a job. Every hour, Paolo Abrera and Mariz Umali lead applicants through a series of on-the-job challenges posed by a potential employer. Assisted by a panel of judges, the employer picks the most qualified applicant and gives them a job.

And these are only a small sample of the truly unique programs that QTV has lined up. The Filipino viewing experience has never been richer and emotionally rewarding.

Mom, teen, or lola, no matter what age is, she's always a big fan of someone. And QTV makes sure that the celebrity quotient is always met with shows like Fans Kita--the ultimate fans show hosted by the Starstruck Avengers, giving a sneak peek into the lives of favorite celebs. Another such program is Balik-bayan with Drew Arellano. The travelogue and celebrity profile show in one follows Drew as he joins a special star as they travel back to the artista's hometown.

OFFTOPIC: NEWS5 LAUNCHES 360-DEGREE MULTIMEDIA PLATFORMS

February 19, 2011 at 9:52pm

True to its commitment to ignite a new kind of firebrand journalism that goes beyond traditional news reporting, News5 rises to the challenge of bringing comprehensive and up-to-the-minute news by launching a massive 360-degree convergence of various multimedia platforms to deliver relevant and real-time news updates to Filipinos all across the country and around the world.

As TV5's News and Information organization, News5 breaks boundaries with its non-stop delivery of the latest news on free-to-air TV, on the much-accessible radio FM band, and on the globally available Internet. Barely a year since its launch, News5 has earned the status of being a credible news organization with a dynamic team of news anchors, reporters and correspondents who often gain first-hand access to late-breaking news and exclusive reports that benefit the viewing public.

News5's launch of its multimedia news platforms presents a series of milestones in the industry. Another innovation to be introduced by News5 is the first-ever non-stop news and sports channel on free TV, AksyonTV UHF Channel 41 (Channel 29 in Davao and Cebu). The 24-hour news and sports channel gives Filipinos the privilege of continuously being updated on the latest national and international news and witnessing some of the most talked about sports events even without cable subscription.

Frontlined by a formidable lineup of veteran news personalities who are known pillars of the industry, AksyonTV will officially air this February 21. As its first big salvo, it brings the much-awaited battle of Fil-Am female boxer Ana Julaton, the WBO Super Bantamweight champion who will slug it out with the fiery Francesca Alcanter. Dubbed as 'The Return of the Hurricane,' the championship bout will be held at the Craneway Pavilion, Point Richmond, California and will air live on AksyonTV UHF Channel 41 on February 26. This and a lot more are in store as AksyonTV goes full blast in delivering non-stop news and sports coverages.

News5 also launches its InterAksyon website which will present real-time news writeups and video streaming of news reports for the benefit of Filipinos here and abroad who want to be updated on the latest happenings in the country. More importantly, InterAksyon's tie-up with vital organizations such as Metra (for the most technologically advanced weathercast) and the MMDA (for synchronized traffic updates) will make the website an essential instrument for the Filipinos' everyday life.

RPN info

February 23, 2011 at 2:00pm

RPN was the original home of the top Hollywood TV series- McGyver, Ally McBeal, The X-Files, Buffy- The Vampire Slayer, and Felicity. These were just few of the shows which became popular to Filipino TV viewers through RPN channel 9.

RPN PROFILE:

On June 19, 1960, the Philippine Legislature passed Republic Act No. 2980 which granted RPN a franchise to construct, establish, maintain and operate radio broadcasting and television stations in the Philippines.

Once fully operational, it launched its flagship radio station in Manila, DZBI. By 1967, RPN had grown into a full network, operating DZRR in Manila as well as DZAX- Manila, DZAH and DZBS in Baguio, DZTG in Tuguegarao, DZRL in Laoag, and DXDX in Dadiangas.

Since the granting of its first broadcasting franchise in 1960, RPN has performed as a major player and has been recognized as an innovative pace-setter in the country's broadcast industry. RPN Newswatch is known as the longest running English News Program in the Philippines.

1969 was a signal year in the growth of RPN. It was in this year that the network branched out into television with channel 9 in Manila and channel 12 in Baguio. It was also in 1969 that RPN introduced technical milestones in Philippine television. First, it brought in its Toshiba equipment which enabled Channel 9 to telecast in full color. 'Accucolor', as its color casting capability was named, was far superior and professional from the test-quality color broadcasts then being run in the country.

Then, RPN brought in the first Outside Broadcast Color Van (OB Van) in the country, making it possible to beam studio-quality broadcasts of news and special events coverage from remote sites.

RPN entered the 1970's as the country's premiere radio and television network with the coverage of the times epochal events by its award-winning news and public affairs, it's TV Hall-of-Fame local and international services, landmark local and foreign entertainment specials and extensive coverage of sporting events, from Philippines Basketball to Munich and Montreal Olympiads.

A decade later, in 1981 RPN introduced another first, when it brought true "networking" to the country as it pioneered the use of domestic satellite to simulcast its primetime block programs over all its TV stations nationwide, making it possible for provincial audiences to view the same programs at the same time as their Manila counterparts.

Today, RPN continues to provide exceptional broadcasting together with its provincial TV and Radio stations nationwide, and its partner Solar TV.

RPN is also currently one of the media companies under the Presidential Communications Operations Office headed by Secretary Herminio B. Coloma, Jr.

EDSA 25 festivities on air at NBN 4

February 24, 2011 at 3:13pm

In line with this week's celebration of the 25th anniversary of the peaceful and world-renowned 1986 EDSA People Power Revolution, the government-run National Broadcasting Network (NBN 4) on Wednesday started airing programs that allow every Filipino, especially those not born yet at the time the bloodless revolution that ousted a dictatorship took place, to grasp the significance of this day.

Among these is a TV special that was first aired in 1995, called "EDSA: The World Remembers." This will be aired once again at NBN 4 on Wednesday and will run through until the 27th.

This TV special, according to Maria Montelibano, head of EDSA 25 celebration, in a press briefing on EDSA's 25th anniversary held last week in Malacanang, features many world leaders like Vaclav Havel, Raul Alfonsin, former US President Bill Clinton and former Congressman Stephen Solarz giving their homage and tribute to the Filipino people for starting a peaceful revolution.

Other EDSA 25 special programs of NBN 4 include "The Challenge of EDSA," "Kalayaan (People Power)," "Winning the Peace," "Puso at Diwa Ni Ninoy" and "Ninoy: The Heart and the Soul".

GMA Tower of Power/GMA Broadway Centrum

February 23, 2011 at 9:23pm

'Tower of Power' is the 777-foot (237-meter), 100-kilowatt transmitter of GMA Network located in Tandang Sora, Barangay Culiat, Quezon City. It was inaugurated on November 7, 1988. It serves as a transmitter facility for both GMA, GMA News TV and Barangay LS 97.1.

History

The Tower of Power was constructed on a huge vacant lot in the 3rd Quarter of 1987, as a new edifice for the network and for the preparation for Rainbow Satellite broadcast to replace an old surplus 50-kilowatt transmitter located at the old RBS building in EDSA, and to clear TV and FM reception. The transmitter's construction uses 600 tons of steel from a local steel mill, costing 170 billion pesos for the building of this transmitter, a reinforced concrete foundation designed to withstand the structure from Supertyphoon Sisang in November 1987 and an earthquake on July 16, 1990. Antennas are also provided to enhance signal strength. After several months of planning, the transmitter completed in October 1988 and on November 7, 1988, the transmitter was opened by then President Corazon Aquino and the GMA Network board of directors. A grand TV special was started after the inauguration. The slogan GMA-7-POWER was used from November 7 to December 1, 1988 as a station ID.

Features

The transmitter

The Tower of Power uses its high-gain corner reflector antennas to produce a wide coverage of VHF TV reception in Metro Manila and nearby provinces including Bulacan, Pampanga, Zambales, Tarlac, Bataan, Nueva Ecija, Laguna, Batangas, Cavite, Quezon, Aurora and Rizal in both grades A and B for the broadcasts of GMA-7 and GMA News TV. By 1998, the signal coverage is greatly improved in TV reception throughout Luzon. The transmitter also served to test Digital Terrestrial Television broadcasts on DWDB-TV on Channel 27.

For FM radio, DWLS's signal strength utilized by a circular bay Jampro FM antenna provides listeners with clear FM reception of 25 kilowatts and to spread out in Metro Manila and nearby provinces as well.

It also serves as a repeater for the transmissions of Channel 27 in Cebu and Davao to relay Channel 11's programs.

The transmitter facility

The transmitter facility houses both DZBB-TV, DZOE-TV and DWLS containing sets of transmitter equipment imported by Harris and RCA of the United States, and Japan's JVC. At the same time, the satellite downlink facility housed all satellite broadcasts directly to the United States and other countries to produce foreign programs.

The tower as a symbol of democracy

Even the transmitter was served as a symbol of democracy after the EDSA Revolution in 1986, this makes both the network and the transmitter as instruments of democratic freedom after the downfall of President Marcos. The transmitter survived after a devastating earthquake struck the island of Luzon on July 16, 1990 and to withstand the structure from typhoons.

Comparison to other towers

The Tower of Power is being competed with the Crystal Palace TV Tower in the United Kingdom so close to their height at 219 meters, this has been compared to Tokyo Tower in Japan at 332.5 meters, KVLV-TV mast in North Dakota with 628.8 meters and the Tokyo Sky Tree to be finished in December 2011, at 634.0 meters.

GMA BROADWAY CENTRUM is located in New Manila, Quezon City, the Westside Theater cinema of the Broadway Centrum was converted into a high-end live studio in 1987 to serve as an alternative studio for the network's programs. The 700-seater studio was inaugurated to usher in GMA's broadcast in Stereovision. In the 1990s, the Broadway Centrum served as the live studio of GMA's variety shows, "Lunch Date", "That's Entertainment", "Vilma!" and "GMA Supershow". In 1995, the network built a second studio inside Broadway Centrum by renovating the Eastside Theater cinema (renaming it TAPE Studios and can accommodate 400 studio audiences), which was home to Eat Bulaga!. Once one of the most modern broadcast facility in the country, it was later renovated in 2000 when the musical variety show SOP moved to Studio 3 (now Studio 5) of the GMA Network Center. In 2003, it accommodated live studio audiences once more as it served as the live venue of the eliminations of the reality-based talent search StarStruck.

In October 2008, majority of GMA shows migrated to the GMA Network Studios after inauguration, leaving the original Broadway Centrum with no major tenant. But on January 1, 2010, noontime show "Eat Bulaga" started to broadcast live temporarily from the Westside Theater with a newly renovated stage while their main studios at TAPE was given a major makeover. The new TAPE Studios was inaugurated on March 6, 2010. GMA Eastside's Theater houses the noontime show Eat Bulaga! while the Westside's theater was given to TV5 that produces programs P.O.5, Star Factor, and Face to Face.

ETC to be moving to RPN-9

February 25, 2011 at 1:44pm

Good news for followers of ETC: Effective March 2, it will be airing on RPN-9 so it will be accessible to a wider audience and market because it will be on free TV.

This was disclosed to Funfare Update last Monday by Wilson Yu Tieng, president and CEO of Solar Entertainment Corporation and RPN-9 chairman, and Peter Chan Liong, SEC Chief Operating Officer.

Solar Entertainment Corporation is the first broadcast media company in the Philippines to have successfully brought to television a rich and diverse selection of entertainment and sports programs through its roster of English-language channels that also includes 2nd Avenue, Jack TV, Solar Sports and Basketball TV.

ETC has changed the viewing habits of many people because of its “Match-Airing” campaign launched last year, featuring musical shows Glee; dramas Gossip Girl and Hellcats; sitcom How I Met Your Mother; supernatural drama Vampire Diaries; reality show America’s Next Top Model; and suspense-thriller Pretty Little Liars. Other ETC shows: Project Runway, The Rachel Zoe Project, One Tree Hill, The Bachelor, The Bachelorette and TMZ (which has been imitated by other local stations).

Funfare Update did an exclusive interview with Tieng and Liong. Excerpts:

Does the transfer from cable TV to free TV entail a lot of work?

PCL: In the case of RPN, we had to do a lot of shifting, particularly our sports assets. We had to move it, in order to make this happen. So we were able to do that. First, we cleaned up the airtime of RPN to make that whole sale move of ETC over to RPN. The hope and objective is to increase the reach and distribution of our network to our core viewers — the young, female and the ABC market.

Is ETC accessible only in the Philippines?

WYT: It’s always been only in the Philippines, not outside the Philippines. The other telecast in Shanghai is pirated.

But isn’t free TV airing in the Filipino communities around the world?

PCL: No, no. We’re strictly licensed for the territory of the Philippines.

Does it mean also more space for advertising?

PCL: The fact that we are increasing our reach, increasing our obvious space, means we hope to increase our advertising rates, to the type of reach and ratings we hope to achieve.

So far, ETC is doing well, no?

PCL: Yeah, it is. It’s our flagship channel for the entertainment network. We started off with it and it’s still, for us, the No. 1 canned US entertainment network in the Philippines. We air something like 30 series in a weekly schedule. The top-rater is, of course, Glee. Not far behind are The Vampire Diaries, Hellcats, Gossip Girl, America’s Next Top Model and Project Runway.

WYT: Some of our shows are being copied, one of them TMZ. I just don’t want to say who the copycat is. It’s a form of flattery. You know, what’s great about it is that we are hours behind the U.S.

Of course, the move is for a wider market, no? That’s why you’re going for free TV. Is it also an attempt to compete with the channels 2, 7, and 5?

PCL: No. We understand that that market belongs to them. We’re going after the young market, the female market, particularly those in the A-B-C market. So, we are not here to go after the C-D.

ABS-CBN is Kapamilya, GMA 7 is Kapuso and TV5 is Kapatid. So, what are you going to call ETC? It should start with a “K.”

PCL: Kool! But, you know, we’re really not into competing.

Dapat Kalaban, no? ETC, Kalaban mo. Maganda, ‘di ba? Aggressive, competitive. Do you have any plans of producing local shows?

WYT: We already did Philippine's Next Top Model and Project Runway Philippines which will have new seasons by 2012.

Still with Ruffa Gutierrez as host?

WYT: Yes, Ruffa for Next Top Model and Teresa Herrera for Project Runway.

What about privatization of RPN?

PCL: Well, I think that's the goal of the administration. And I think it's something that should happen. Well, we're all aware of that, it's something that they want and we were very supportive of that.

WYT: Yeah, we've been with them for, what...five or six years?

Will Solar eventually take over the whole of RPN?

WYT: We would certainly put in our bid for it, for whatever the government has now.

So, ETC is the same. It's just the transfer...

PCL: And we hope to make it bigger and better than what it is now.

Aside from the wider market, what are the advantages of making ETC a free TV channel?

PCL: Well, I think that's the most important objective for us. To reach a wider audience, increasing all the share, increasing all the ratings, increase our rates, increase our revenues. That's the bottom line.

So, the bottom line is making money, no? That's a good thing.

PCL: Well, yes. Well, that's what we hope for.

Accucolor is the name of Toshiba's color transmission technology. I think it is a Fil-Jap technology since the Philippines may be the only country to use that technology.

CTV 31/E! Philippines

March 10, 2011 at 7:43pm

On October 31, 1992, Radio Mindanao Network became the second radio-based network to launch a TV station called CTV31. It is also the first UHF station to be inspired by the format of a cable movie channel. In mid-1997, it acquired rights to broadcast shows from the E! channel, a U.S. cable TV channel. On April 12, 2000, CTV changed its name to E! Philippines. However on June 1, 2003, RMN ceased operations of its TV arm citing financial constraints and poor television ratings. There were several religious groups who wish to acquire block programming of CTV but RMN refused to accept their offers. After the closure, it aired Bloomberg Television until December 2003.

Citynet Television 27

March 10, 2011 at 7:37pm

On August 27, 1995 seen another new UHF channel via DWDB-TV channel 27.[1] It was the first UHF television station operated by a major broadcast network. GMA officially launches its new channel under the Citynet Television brand and decided to expand its programming business via UHF. While incorporating the standard red, green and blue colors with some extra color in grey, Citynet Television logo differs from the traditional GMA insignia. It uses in oblique oblong circles in an abstraction of three-rings to indicate richness in color.

It was simplified in keeping with the symbol's pared-down design. Underneath its oblique rings, a rectangular box embossing the text "citynet" in lower case and uses a San Serif font beneath it is the text "TELEVISION" in upper case and also uses the same San Serif typescript. But when displaying channel logo while programming, it was written CITYNET 27.

The goal of GMA Network for making the very first TV network-owned UHF station is to transfer all of its American programming to have broadcast time space for the GMA local TV shows. Transmitting on a 30,000-watt power capacity with an effective radiated power of up to 60,000 watts, Citynet's telecast on channel 27 covers the Metro Manila Area and its neighboring provinces in Bulacan, Laguna, and Cavite. This station branding was known to have dubbed the first and only Philippine-dubbed Hispanic telenovela in English, entitled Ka Ina (until May 28, 2009 when Amanda O is debuted on Q in English dubbed telenovela), and Citynet Television News.

NUTV 37 (now UNTV 37)

March 14, 2011 at 5:43pm

A year after the Y2K fever, the radio network NU 107.5 widened its scope and added television. In the growing Progressive Broadcasting Corp. family, its visual counterpart was born with NUTV. Fast-paced, contemporary, edgy and original shows and music video-centered programs emerged out of the creative minds of its owners, banker/businessman Mr. Alfredo Henares and radio veteran Mike N. Pederro.

The station was producer and creator of television's hugely popular and sensational odd show called "Strange Brew," the experimental short video and film window on TV, "Eat my Shorts," and, music video program that features contemporary, rock and edgy artists, "In the raw."

As television's "Home of New Rock," the station, like its radio counterpart, set the standard for good taste in rock and contemporary songs, blasting off with music that are dynamic, young, passionate, creative, and always ready to renew itself.

Lifestyle defining was how popular culture observers said of NUTV because it made inroads with Filipino rock musicians, to give opportunity for them to have their songs aired on radio and television.

In its old hat, NUTV strives to give audiences a taste of what television should be.

• Wilbert Rola Kaya pala mas maraming nanonood sa GMA-7, RPN-9 at IBC-13 kaysa sa BBC-2 noon dahil pang masa ang Channels 7, 9 at 13 dati at 2 naman ay pang sosyal. Noong naging ABS-CBN ang BBC-2 noong 1986, ginawang puro Filipino shows ang mga palabas sa Channel 2 kaya nag-number 1 ang ABS-CBN noong 1988.

• Wilbert Rola Yes kasi wala pang network war noon. Lahat ng mga artista ay pwede pang gumawa ng shows sa iba't-ibang networks. Unlike ngayon na puro exclusive sa mga networks ang mga artists.

ABS-CBN's TV Tower

March 31, 2011 at 4:50pm

ABS-CBN Tower' is the 866-foot (264 meter), 120-kilowatt transmitter of ABS-CBN Corporation located at the ABS-CBN Broadcast Center, Mother Ignacia Street, corner Sgt. Esguerra Avenue, Quezon City. It serves as a transmitter facility for both ABS-CBN and Studio 23.

The ABS-CBN Tower was constructed at the corner of Mother Ignacia Street and Sgt. Esguerra Avenue, within the ABS-CBN Broadcast Center Grounds. It's former height is 198 meters, until the time when ABS-CBN started a major reconstruction and rehabilitation of the whole transmitter, which includes the changing of its cylindrical antennas to even more powerful dipole antennas, and increase of its height in the year 2009, and was finished by the year 2010.

The ABS-CBN Tower uses its newly-installed dipole antennas for wide coverage of VHF TV reception in Metro Manila and some nearby provinces for the broadcasts of DWWX-TV and DWAC-TV

The transmitter facility houses both DWWX-TV and DWAC-TV that contains sets of transmitter equipment imported by Harris of the United States.

Rhovin Luke V. Maglaqui @Joshua hindi, mas mataas pa rin yung TOP, dahil sa regulations ng NTC. Kaya ang GMA hindi na tinataasan ang TOP dahil lagpas na ito sa limitation na linabas noong 1990s... pero 200+ ang height ng ABS-CBN towe

Rhovin Luke V. Maglaqui at mali yung info sa wikipedia, kung tunay na 264 meters ang sa ABS-CBN, e di mas mataas na ito sa PBCom tower? 259 meters lang ang PBCom at until now highest pa yan dito sa pilipinas...

• XLoi BUzz Buzzyu 777 foot is not 264 meters but 237 meters, estimated height, and as I passed by ABS-CBN yesterday, I may have written a wrong height, I confirm that it is less than 250 meters, so I adjusted it to 248 in wikipedia. mas mataas prin dyan ang NET 25 with 276 meters

Butch Francisco's Article last April 5

April 6, 2011 at 5:09pm

In the mid-'60s, the famous parents of the late master rapper Francis M., Pancho Magalona and Tita Duran, had a weekly sitcom in the old ABS-CBN called Pancho Loves Tita. In scenes where they were supposed to retire after a long day filled with comic twists and turns, they were shown going to sleep in separate beds.

Off-camera, as a properly married couple Pancho and Tita already had several kids that time between them, Francis M. included (he was still a baby then). And yet they couldn't be shown on TV sharing one matrimonial bed, which I can imagine was what they had in their home in Mandaluyong (then still Rizal).

However, foolish as it may have seemed, that was what the guardians of morality in media dictated in those days.

A decade later, in 'Yan ang Misis Ko, Rosa Rosal and the late Ronald Remy, playing husband and wife in the sitcom, were already allowed to be shown chatting in their huge bed like most couples do before retiring at night.

Alfie Lorenzo's TV Carrer

April 13, 2011 at 3:44pm

Ako, sa buong kayabangan ay may solo talkshow na nu'ng 1980 pa sa City 2, ang "Star Ka!".

Then in 1986 ay may "Rumors, Facts & Humor" kami nina Chanda Romero at Janice Jurado sa Channel 2 nu'ng muling mabalik ang network sa mga Lopezes.

And in between ay nagkaroon din kami ng iba pang shows, one produced by Robbie Tan sa Channel 2 pa rin, sa Channel 13 'yung "Sine-silip" at sa Channel 5 'yung "Troika Tonite" namin ng nasirang dalawang friend kong sina Billy Balbastro at Oskee Salazar.

Naging bahagi rin ako ng "Eat Bulaga" sa "Aminin!" portion nito nu'ng nasa Celebrity Plaza pa ito held.

Nagkasama kami ni Inday Badiday sa "Eye to Eye" and later on sa ABS-CBN uli with Cristy Fermin and Edu Manzano in "Showbiz Sabado".

Ang nakakatuwa sa mga shows na ito, I can walkout anytime I want to dahil wala akong kontratang pinipirmahan. 'Pag may ayaw ako, just walkout and never return! Hindi ba nga hindi na ako pumirma ng renewal sa "Showbiz Sabado" kasi katwiran ko, ano ang ire-renew ko eh wala naman akong pinirmahan in the first place?

My style stemmed from my constant out of the country trips, kasi everytime kumati ang mga paa ko para maglamyerda abroad go ako. Sayang naman kasi ang US Visa ko na indefinite o walang pagkapaso, until nauso ang 10-year Visa na lang. Six times a year nanduon ako sa Amerika. Kaya how can I stay put sa isang show lang?

Then when I handled Ruffa Gutierrez, panay kami sa Europe. Ipagpapalit ko ba sa isang show ang opportunity to travel for free? Eh kung mag-iipon ka ng pamasaha mula sa isang show mo eh kukulangin 'yun sa pamasaha pa lang, eh papaano pa ang hotel accommodations and shopping money? Eh libre lahat 'yun when Ruffa and I had those European sojourns! Hanggang sa dulo ng South Africa nga narating namin ni Ruffa na 'di kailanman narating ng iba pang taga-showbiz!

Nu'ng mag-radio sa DZMM si Inday Badiday, sinamahan ko siya hanggang sa magkasakit at tuluyan nang lumisan sa mundo. Sabi ni Mr. Freddie M. Garcia, eh kunin ko na ang 2:30 - 4 p.m. slot ni Inday sa DZMM. Tinanggihan ko kaya napunta kay Ogie Diaz and later on kay Jobert Sucaldito and Cristy Fermin, then solo na ni Jobert.

Dapat kaming tatlo nina Billy at Oskee sa 10 p.m. - 12 midnight daily na tinanggihan ko rin. Kaya sina Billy at Oskee lang ang nag-radio. Nu'ng mamatay si Oskee, again sinabihan ako ni FMG to take over Oskee's slot. At humingi na lang ako ng sarili kong solo slot na ibinigay naman pero every Saturday lang, hindi daily.

Nu'ng mamatay naman si Billy ay ibinibigay na rin ni FMG ang slot ni Billy sa akin para two hours daw ang radio program ko. Inayawan ko rin.

Dahil 'yung rason ko sa pagtanggap sa radio slot ni Inday Badiday, ni Oskee at ni Billy ay: "Hindi ako pamalit sa patay, noh!"

champoy, champoy,
subukan 'nyo ang champoy aba, 'di ba, ibang-iba ang lasa?
sa unang tikim, 'kala 'nyo'y matamis, biglang aalat, parang nang-iinis
champoy, champoy,
ibang-iba ang champoy...

champoy, champoy,
ang tao'y parang champoy...
mayro'ng payat, mayro'n ding parang bondat matangkad ang nanay, anak ay maliit, magandang babae, boyfriend ay pangit
champoy, champoy,
ang tao'y parang champoy

champoy, champoy,
buhay ay parang champoy...
kaya sana, tawanan ang problema minsa'y tahimik, minsan ay magulo, ganyan talaga ang takbo ng mundo...
champoy, champoy,
buhay ay parang champoy...

Mangarap (100 Days to Heaven)

Mahiwaga ang buhay ng tao
Ang bukas ay di natin piho
At manalig lagi sana tayo
Ang Diyos siyang pag-asa ng mundo
Pag-ibig sa ating kapwa tao
At laging magmahalan tayo
'Yan ang lunas at ligaya
At pag-asa ng bawa't kaluluwa

Pag-ibig sa ating kapwa tao
At laging magmahalan tayo
'Yan ang lunas at ligaya
At pag-asa ng bawa't kaluluwa

'Yan ang hiwaga ng buhay ng tao.

TV show's Theme Songs (1)

July 31, 2010 at 10:45pm

Hoy Gising

Ang ating bayan, kay raming problema..
Walang tubig, tambak ang basura...
Sobra ang traffic maya't maya'y brown-out pa!
Lubak-lubak ating mga kalsada!

Hoy! Gising!
Tayong Pinoy dapat Magbago na!
Hoy! Gising!

Katok Mga Misis!

Katok mga Misis, Katok Katok..
Kung Nais nyong may makasama...
Tuwing umaga, sa inyong kusina..
Katok Mga Misis Katok..
Katok Mga Misis! Katok!

Tanging Yaman

KORO:
Ikaw ang aking tanging yaman

Na di lubusang masumpungan
Ang nilikha Mong kariktan
Sulyap ng 'Yong kagandahan

Ika'y hanap sa tuwina
Nitong puso'ng Ikaw lamang ang saya
Sa ganda ng umaga
Nangungulila sa 'Yo, Sinta (KORO)

Ika'y hanap sa tuwina
Sa kapwa ko Kita laging nadarama
Sa lyong mga likha
Hangad pa ring masdan ang 'Yong mukha (KORO)

YOUR SONG: MY ONLY HOPE

There's a song that's inside of my soul.
It's the one that I've tried to write over and over again
I'm awake in the infinite cold.
But you sing to me over and over and over again.

So, I lay my head back down.
And I lift my hands and pray
To be only yours, I pray, to be only yours
I know now you're my only hope.

Sing to me the song of the stars.
Of your galaxy dancing and laughing and laughing again.
When it feels like my dreams are so far
Sing to me of the plans that you have for me over again.

So I lay my head back down.
And I lift my hands and pray
To be only yours, I pray, to be only yours
I know now, you're my only hope.

I give you my destiny.
I'm giving you all of me.
I want your symphony, singing in all that I am
At the top of my lungs, I'm giving it back.

So I lay my head back down.
And I lift my hands and pray
To be only yours, I pray, to be only yours

I pray, to be only yours
I know now you're my only hope.

hmmmmm, hmmmmm, ooooooh.

Kapag Ako Ay Nagmahal (Magkaribal)

Ibibigay ang lahat-lahat
Handa kong gawin
Lahat ng 'yong hiling
Sukli man ay sugat sa puso

...

Karamay ka
Sa hirap at saya
Masaktan mo man
Damdamin ko
Ako'y nandyan parin sayong tabi

Kapag ako ay nagmahal
Ang lahat ng ito'y magagawa
'Di magbabago, 'di maghahangad
Ng anumang kapalit
Kapag ako ay nagmahal
Umiyak man ako hindi ko ito ikakahihiya
Handa akong magtiis
Kapag ako, kapag ako ay nagmahal

Sa 'yo lamang likot aking mundo
Sa 'ki'y bale wala
Sasabihin ng iba
Basta't alam ko
Mahal kita

Kapag ako ay nagmahal
Ang lahat ng ito'y magagawa
'Di magbabago, 'di maghahangad
Ng anumang kapalit
Kapag ako ay nagmahal
Umiyak man ako hindi ko ito ikakahihiya
Handa akong magtiis
Hindi ka man maging akin
Lahat ng ito'y gagawin

Kapag ako, kapag ako ay nagmahal

Practices of Sign-Offs and Sign-Ons in the Philippines (2006-2009 and even present)

April 20, 2011 at 5:03pm

Practices of Sign-Offs and Sign-Ons in the Philippines

Pinoy Nostalgia TV Notes

Practices of Sign-Offs and Sign-Ons in the Philippines

DZKB-TV Channel 9 is a Philippine broadcast television station licensed to broadcast to the Metro Manila region on VHF Channel 9.

- No official sign-off message ever given
- The test card used during the time when DZKB-TV had no programming
- Starts to have parts of the National Anthem begin to play over it, audio only, this was clearly a mistake

- Video and audio of the National Anthem produced by a number of government offices, used on quite a few stations
- A countdown video that signals the signing on of the station.

DWET-TV Channel 5 is a Philippine broadcast television station licensed to broadcast to the Metro Manila region on VHF Channel 5 with a radiated power of 120 kW's.

-All information required by National Telecommunications Commission (NTC), most interesting is the broadcast hours it's licensed to operate in.

-National Anthem video; it also features the Flag. This same sequence is aired with slight modification to Signing On at the start of their broadcast day; the National Anthem comes after the Sign-On information video. DWET-TV does not sign off after the rebrand but still continues to air this National Anthem video prior to 6am each morning.

DZBB-TV Channel 7 is a Philippine broadcast television station licensed to broadcast to the Metro Manila region on VHF Channel 7 with a radiated power of 100 kW's.

-A digitally rendered shot of the GMA Network Center in Quezon City
-A list of information containing the broadcast details of DZBB-TV, its postal address, and then a list of employees with their license number
-Call signs and locations of GMA Network affiliates in the Philippines by island
-Announces the station is signing off for the night

-National Anthem of the Philippines video

-A test pattern with text "GMA CHANNEL 7 TOC MANILA" on it to identify the station

DWWX-TV Channel 2 is a Philippine broadcast television station licensed to broadcast to the Metro Manila region on VHF Channel 2 with a radiated power of 346.2 kW's.

- A list of information containing the broadcast details of DWWX-TV, its postal address and transmitter details, then a list of employees
- Announces the station is signing off for the night with ABS-CBN logo
- A National Anthem of the Philippines video. Admin-Jenine wonders that the people featured ABS-CBN employees? She sees a shot of people in a balcony on the ABS-CBN Broadcast Center. Then after the national anthem video, it fades into an ABS-CBN logo with "In the service of Filipino Worldwide".
- A test card of "ABS-CBN CH. 2"
- The transmitter is turned off
- We get static

DWGT-TV Channel 4 is a Philippine broadcast television station licensed to broadcast to the Metro Manila region on VHF Channel 4 with a radiated power of 40 kW's.

- A standard test pattern with NBN PHIL on it
- A short video explaining that stations affiliated to NBN are now signing on, the various stations location on a map and their channel number
- What's on next and on tonight slides
- NBN ident/bumper

Broadcasting Radio and Television in the Philippines is customary and even recommended by the government to play the National Anthem at Sign-off and Sign-On. Broadcasting in the Philippines is regulated by the National Telecommunications Commission. (Admin Jenine, sourced from <http://www.tvclosedownblog.com/>)

20 Taon ng GMA Public Affairs

April 21, 2011 at 10:54am

Ang "20: Dalawampung Taon ng GMA Public Affairs," espesyal na handog ng GMA Network ngayong Oktubre 28, Linggo, 10:30 ng gabi. (Hosted by Jessica Soho and Arnold Clavio)

The humble beginnings

It was the year 1987 when Tina Monzon-Palma, then head of GMA News, decided to set up a Public Affairs department.

This was manned by only five people, fresh graduates all, who first held office in the tiny locker room of news cameramen.

Marissa Flores, now Senior Vice-President for GMA News and PublicAffairs, was one of the first Public Affairs employees Tina Monzon-Palma hired in 1987. She says, "We had no experience and no equipment, no camera even to call our own. On our first sets we just glued gold letters to black backing announcing the name of the program. But we had the passion to work."

Who could imagine that from this passion would grow a department of more than 500 staffers, now producing 16 of the most awarded programs on Philippine television?

Tina Monzon-Palma says the year public affairs began, there was a hunger for in-depth discussion of issues. After decades of media repression she explains, "Filipino viewers wanted to find out what was happening in their new government, the changes that were taking place as well as what befell former leaders who had been removed via People Power. The half-hour daily newscast was simply not enough to discuss all this."

GMA Public Affairs began by producing special reports. Their first long form production was "Inside Congress" which back then won the Catholic Mass Media Award for Best Documentary.

Weekly talkshows soon followed. Jose Mari Velez, the leading broadcaster at the time, hosted GMA Public Affairs' first station produced talk program, Weekend with Velez, later renamed Velez this Week.

Velez's program was joined by block-timers and co-productions such as Viewpoint with Dong Puno, Firing Line with Teddy Benigno, Issues and Answers with Art Borjal and The Probe Team with Cheche Lazaro

Now, twenty years later, GMA Public Affairs produces the award-winning late night block I-Witness, Reporter's Notebook, Palaban, 100% Pinoy and Emergency. It also counts the leading morning program Unang Hirit and primetime programs Kapuso Mo, Jessica Soho and Imbestigador among its shows -- along with magazine programs, children's shows, travel documentaries and reality programs.

The department is proud to have won the George Foster Peabody Award for investigative reports and two Gold Medals from the New York Festivals for its shows . something no other local network can claim.

Flores credits the success of the department to the values already long implanted in the news organization, "It was never an option to not be balanced, to not get both sides of story, there were standards already in place. We stand on the shoulders of those who came before us. "

Monzon-Palma agrees, "Public affairs has not changed its basic principles - to put issues in the proper perspective, to be objective and balanced, to put together a good story be it in documentary, magazine or debate format. I think these principles have kept it not just where it was 20 years ago. It has grown to an even higher level of professionalism."

This year, GMA Public Affairs celebrates twenty years of public service. To mark this milestone, GMA will be airing a very special retrospective documentary, entitled "20: Dalawampung Taon ng Public Affairs" on Sunday, October 28 at 10:30 p.m.

Sinong mag-aakalang sa isang maliit na locker room lang nagsimula ang isa sa pinakarespetadong organisasyon sa media ngayon?

Isang taon matapos ang makasaysayang EDSA Revolution, binuo ngGMA Network ang Public Affairs Department sa pangunguna ni Tina Monzon-Palma.

Ayon kay Monzon-Palma, nung panahong iyon, "Nagkaroon ngnapakalakas na pangangailangan ang mga tao na marinig ang lahat ngnangyayari sa bagong gobyerno, anong nangyayari dun sa mga taong napatalsik as a result of people power at nakita rin namin na hindi sapat ang kalahating oras ng balita. Doon nabuo ang departamento noong 1987."

Limang tao lang ang production staff ng Public Affairs noon, at pawang mga fresh graduates pa. Kasama sa lima ang ngayo'y Senior Vice President ng GMA News and Public Affairs na si Marissa Flores. Bagamat wala pa silang gamit, kahit kamera, at wala lalong karanasan sa paggawa ng programa, pilit nilang itinataguyod ang departamento noon. At sa maniwala kayo o hindi, sa locker room nga ng mga cameraman sila unang nag-opisina!

"Unique yung kuwarto na iyon kasi labas masok ang mga cameraman 'dun. So limang tao kami nun nasa isang maliit na kuwarto na may labas masok na cameraman na nagbibihis na pawisan na binabati-bati kami every so often. We were really encroaching sa space nila, ganun kaliit na kuwarto" ani ni Flores.

Sa mga special reports nagsimula ang Public Affairs. Ang unang pagsabak ng departamento sa paggawa ng malalimang ulat ay ang "Inside Congress." Ginawaran ito ng Best Documentary ng Catholic Mass Media Awards.

Sumunod na ang paggawa ng Public Affairs ng mga talk show. Ang Weekend with Velez ang kauna-unahang station-produced publicaffairs program, na kalauna'y naging Velez this Week. Sinabayan ito ng mga co-production gaya ng Firing Line ni Teddy Benigno, Issues and Answers kasama ni Art Borjal, Viewpoint ni Dong Puno at The Probe Team ni Cheche Lazaro.

Tumatak sa publiko ang mga dekalibreng programa ng departamento at umani sila ng parangal. Sa Pilipinas, GMA Public Affairs pa lamang ang nagwagi ng dalawang Gold World Medal mula sa New York Festivals at ang George Foster Peabody Award, ang pinakaprestihiyosong award para sa larangan ng investigative journalism.

Sa ngayon, mayroon nang labing-anim na programa ang departamento, at binubuo na ito ng mahigit sa 500 production staff at crew, malayong-malayo na ang narating, kumpara sa dating Public Affairs noon. Ang lahat ng ito, ahil sa pagpupursigi ng mga taong bumubuo sa departamento at sa mga prinsipyong itinataguyod nila.

Ayon kay Monzon-Palma, "Hindi lumilihis ang grupo sa basic na prinsipyong paggawa ng isang magandang kuwento in a story form, in a magazine form, in a talk show form, in a debate form. Kailangan makuha nila yung isyu, ilagay sa tamang perspektibo, maging objective at maging balanced sa pagpapahayag nito. I think that has kept it not just where it was 20 yrs ago but it has grown and elevated itself to an even higher level of professionalism."

Bilang pagdiriwang sa dalawampung taon ng paghahatid ng Serbisyong Totoo, ihahatid ng GMA Public Affairs ang pinaka-hindi malilimutang istorya ng departamento sa nakalipas na dalawampung taon. Muling balikan ang mga eksena at kuwentong gumulantang sa publiko at gumising sa gobyerno, at sariwain ang pinagmulan ng departamentong pinagkakatiwalaan ninyo ngayon.

Programming of GMA Network in the 1960s to 1980s (Based on the Butch Francisco Article)

August 5, 2010 at 1:40pm

GMA Radio Television ARTS First Logo (1974)

Below, I will try to recall the networks programming trends through the years from the time it became my baby sitter up to the present.

In the mid-60s, Channel 7 was the favorite TV station of kids because it aired all those wonderful cartoons like Popeye, Gumby and Baby Huey every Saturday morning. The network also carried Tino Lapuz Eskuwelahang Munti which was made into a movie by Sampaguita Pictures.

And then, there was also the war series Combat which was enjoyed by both adults and kids. Combat was so popular in the Philippines that time, Vic Morrow was even given a tickertape parade when he visited Manila in the mid-60s.

Channel 7 also had Dancetime With Chito, hosted by Chito Feliciano, Feliciano died in a helicopter crash in the early 70s.

During this phase of the network, the most familiar face on Channel 7 was that of Bob Stewart-better known as Uncle Bob to kids. Bob Stewarts face was seen at all times of the day because he had to do live endorsements of products during station breaks.

In the early 70s, another Bob came into the picture: Fr. Bob Garon, Bob Garon was then still a priest and was assigned a Friday night counseling show on Channel 7.

When martial law was declared on Sept. 21, 1972, all radio and TV networks were shut down except for Channel 9. Channel 7 was allowed to resume operations later that year and it became the refuge of practically all the local shows that used to air on ABS-CBN which was not allowed to reopen until after the EDSA revolution in 1986. ABS-CBNs Wala Kang Paki (with Nida Blanca and Luis Gonzales) became Sa Di Mo Pa Mi. Wanted: Boarders (with Pugo and Patsy) became Boarding House. Ariel Ureta and Tina Revillas 12 Oclock High, a popular noontime show that was produced by ABS-CBN, became Noontime Matinee when it later moved to Channel 7.

Channel 7 developed a bigger mass following when Eddie Ilarde, Bobby Ledesma and Pepe Pimentel revived Student Canteen In January 1975. Coney Reyes, a Baron Travel Girl finalist, was brought in to take the place of Leila Benitez who was then already residing in the US. Coney wasnt exactly a newcomer to television and movies that time. She had earlier played bit roles in TV dramas and in the movies as Coney Nubla.

By mid-70s, Channel 7 had become the most important network in the Philippine television industry. (Its closest rival was RPN-9. ) The station had gone full color by this time. It also produced local show that received a lot of critical acclaim. One was Ms. Ellaneous, a glossy magazine show that featured Tina Revilla, Maan Hontiveros and former Miss International runner-up Yogi Dominguez. Originally aired Wednesday nights, Ms. Ellaneous always figured prominently in the PATAS awards race and Tina Revilla was a perennial winner as Best Magazine Show Host.

Penthouse Seven, the dance show hosted by Archie Lacson, may not have received awards during its more than five years on the air, but it undeniably had good production values. It remained a popular late Sunday night show until it was cancelled in early 1981.

In the drama series department, there was also Tanghalan, which was directed by Lino Brocka. Tanghalan featured a lot of PETA talents and socially relevant episodes. This drama anthology may not have lasted very long on TV, but in my book it will always be remembered as one of the best programs handled by the great Brocka for local television. It also helped boost Channel 7s image as a network that aired only quality programs.

Among all the local stations, only Channel 7 has managed to have a continuous hold on the rather picky AB market. Aside from coming up with well-produced local shows, it also had the monopoly of all the rights to bring into the country almost all of the best and most popular canned programs abroad: Charlies Angels, ChiPs (with Erik Estrada and Larry Wilcox), Mork & Mindy (with Robin Williams), Threes Company, Eight is Enough, Lou Grant, Soap (with Billy Crystal), Cher, The Cosby Show, BJ & the Bear, M. A. S. H. etc.

For the CD bracket, Channel 7 had Suerte as Siete (Student Canteens pre-programming show), Prinsipe Abante (a parody of Prinsipe Amante with Bert Marcelo and Tina Revilla), Discorama (where Tito, Vic & Joey gained prominence), Eddie Ildes Kahapon Lamang, Ikes Movie-Go-Round (a morning showbiz-oriented talk show), Lovingly Yours, Helen and, of course, German Morenos Germespyal which later evolved into the bigger GMA Supershow.

The news and public affairs programs of GMA-7 had always been known to be fearless and innovative. Remember how it made a household name out of weatherman Amado Pineda? Or how Tina Palma evolved from a reader of light news features to that of a main news anchorwoman?

And then, there was the Carruncho incident in Pasig during the 1981 presidential elections that was caught on video by a team of newsmen from Channel 7.

During the dying days of the Marcos dictatorship, Channel 7 produced Viewpoint with Atty. Ricardo "Dong" Puno. that was a brave move on the part of GMA-7 because Viewpoint was a public affairs program that was critical of the Marcos administration.

Prior to the EDSA revolution, GMA-7 was known to be the only credible TV station because it did not pander to the wishes of Marcos and his men. On the contrary, it became the voice of the opposition on local television.

After the EDSA revolution in 1986, a lot of changes happened within the local television industry. The name of the government station, the Maharlika Broadcasting System or MBS-4, was changed to People's Television or PTV-4. RPN-9 and IBC-13 were both sequestered by the new administration.

Only GMA-7 remained untouched –until some of its executives who were with the pre-martial law ABS-CBN were lured back into Channel 2 when this Lopez-owned station reopened middle of 1986.

Newly-married Martin Nievera and Pops Fernandez also abandoned Penthouse Live on Channel 7 and moved to ABS-CBN where they were given a new show called Twogether. (Twogether was a short-lived program though. After its cancellation, Martin returned to GMA-7 to host Martin After Dark – only go back again to Channel 2 in 1993.)

Channel 7, however, regained back Helen Vela who brought her drama/counseling show, Lovingly Yours, Helen, to BBC-2 in 1983 after she was promised a better deal in the Benedicto-controlled station – along with a newscasting job. When BBC-2 closed shop after EDSA, Helen returned to Channel 7 where she got her old Sunday afternoon slot –plus an additional job as newscaster for the station.

Also dislocated with the closure of BBC-2 was Vilma Santos' variety program Vilma in Person or VIP. Vilma in Person – in spite of the fact that it was given the VIP treatment by the Benedicto management – never did well in the ratings game when it was with the old Channel 2. But when it moved to Channel 7 – where it was called Vilma, the show immediately shot up in the ratings chart.

Vilma! had grand productions week after week and was a consistent winner in the various awards races in the field of television. It went off the air in 1995 only because Vilma got pregnant with Ryan Christian and needed to have a complete rest.

Another well-produced show that was put up by GMA-7 after the EDSA revolution was Lunch Date. This program's original hosts were Orly Mercado, Rico J. Puno, Chiqui Hollman-Yulo and Toni Rose Gayda. The two gentleman, however, later bowed out of the show and were replaced by Randy Santiago and Keno. To everyone's surprise, Randy became an overnight sensation and was even given his own Sunday evening variety program called Shades. Unfortunately, Shades didn't do very well in the ratings game. It was taken off the air less than a year after its premiere episode.

GMA-7 (and the whole industry as well) also mourned the death of Elvira Manahan several months after the EDSA revolt. She was brutally murdered in her Forbes Park home in October 1986. When she died, her Two For the Road co-host, Nestor Torre, had been on leave for several months. He was in China doing an acting part in Eddie Romero's Hari sa Hari. With Elvira gone and Nestor away, Channel 7 was left with no other option but to cancel this late Monday night talk show.

For young audiences, GMA-7 put up with the help of German Moreno the daily afternoon variety series, That's Entertainment. This program produced a lot of talents who are still doing very well in the business – as dramatic stars, singers and even newscasters.

Channel 7 didn't actually just concentrate on strengthening its lineup of entertainment programs around this period. In 1987, it welcomed into its fold Cheche Lazaro's The Probe Team, a documentary program that didn't do well in ABS-CBN, but is now still going strong after 14 years on GMA-7.

Other significant public affairs and public service programs that were put up by the station starting in the '90s were Firing Line, I-Witness, Debate, Imbestigador, Brigada Siete and Emergency. Of course, Kapwa Ko Mahal Ko is still around almost 30 years after it was launched by GMA-7.

From the late '80s up to the '90s – and even up to the present – Channel 7 began winning various awards here and across the globe.

Along a covered pathway that connects the various buildings of the GMA complex in EDSA is a long shelf that houses just some of the trophies won by station in the various award-giving bodies. These trophies may now be gathering dust (in spite of the protective glass), but each one of these stands as a testimony to the great service provided by GMA-7 through all these years to the Filipino viewing public.

GMA — then known as Republic Broadcasting System — began its operations (but radio only) in 1950. Television didn't come until more than a decade later.

Unlike today, where everything you see is local production — save for a couple of Korean telenovelas that are even dubbed in Tagalog — most shows on Channel 7 in the past were canned programs (the most popular in the US): Combat, Mission Impossible, Sunset Strip, Charlie's Angels, Three's Company, The Golden Girls, etc.

Until the '80s, the network's prime market was the A-B crowd. But Channel 7 wasn't exactly lacking in good local productions in those days. The few that it had were among the best produced and starting in this series, I will go down memory lane and share with you my favorite local shows on GMA 7 from the past to the present.

Uncle Bob's Lucky 7 Club — What kid of my generation didn't watch this children's show hosted by Channel 7's founder, Bob Stewart (he died only a few years ago in Arizona)? Oh, those were the relaxed days of television — unlike today where every minute is so precious: You are given only a minute or two to interview a celebrity guest who spent hours in the beauty salon and even longer on the road to get to the station. The way Uncle Bob conducted his show — it seemed like he had all the time in the world (nobody could rush him to begin with — he owned the network). What I couldn't forget about this program were the latest toy models — mostly robots — that were endorsed by Uncle Bob. Although that awakened the covetous side in me, it taught me how to strive harder to attain what I want in life. And yes, I still have a few pieces of those toys I saw in Uncle Bob's Lucky 7 Club — reminders of the early days of Channel 7.

Baltic & Co. — Based on the comic strip by Ronnie Santiago of the Manila Bulletin (one of the three dailies allowed to operate during martial law), this comedy, which premiered in 1974, was about office life and among its mainstays were Angelo Castro Jr. (he was a TV-movie actor before he got into broadcasting), Menchu Genato (now Mrs. Quinito Henson and also Tita Maggi in the noodle soup commercial), Mely Tagasa a.k.a. Miss Tapia (she still used the same name when she did Iskul Bukol four years later) and the late Bert Marcelo and Ricky Manalo. The show featured respected guest performers and among them was no less than the late great Rita Gomez, who played a sidewalk vendor and gamely allowed herself to be deglamorized for the part.

Kapwa Ko, Mahal Ko — Public service programs (especially of this type) are usually depressing to watch. But with Rosa Rosal there and then you throw in Orly Mercado, you have an engaging tandem. If there was one thing viewers learned from Kapwa Ko, Mahal Ko, it was how to share what you have with the less fortunate. Of course, the church had been preaching that from the beginning. But there's nothing like the influence of television to send the message across.

Student Canteen II — I say II because the original Student Canteen was born on radio and was first telecast on ABS-CBN in the early '60s. In January 1975, however, this lunchtime show was revived on GMA 7 with Eddie Ilarde, Pepe Pimentel, the late Bobby Ledesma and Coney Reyes. For seven solid years, it was the king of noontime programs.

Discorama — Tito, Vic & Joey first worked together in the gag show Okay Lang in 1973 on Channel 13 (along with the APO, who would later become their rival). But it was in this Saturday early evening variety program Discorama where the now-legendary trio gained national prominence. Although the real star of the show was Bobby Ledesma, Tito, Vic & Joey developed their own following among TV viewers — thanks to their Tough Ten hits, which spoofed current hit songs around that period.

Tanghalan — A PETA production in cooperation with the Social Communication Center, this was a drama anthology (aired every Wednesday from 8 to 9 p.m.) with Lino Brocka directing each episode. The show was daring, especially that time when people were more conservative and living in fear under martial law rule. But it dared tackle social issues — like poverty and prostitution. One of its early episodes was Orlando Nadies' Paraisong Parisukat, which is about exploitation in the work place (in a shoe store). Its female lead was Melvi Pacubas. When Paraisong Parisukat was turned into a movie in 1976, Alma Moreno became the leading lady. Less than two decades later, Jose Javier Reyes did a remake with Joyce Jimenez, but the material no longer worked, sadly.

Penthouse Seven — A descendant of Dancetime with Chito (the first ever local production of Channel 7), it was hosted by Archie Lacson, who was one of the dancers of the '60s dance show. Piloting in 1975, it aired every Sunday very late at night and it featured the latest in disco trends, plus Latin dances. One of the mainstays of the program was Ida Henares, who eventually became the head of the GMA Artist Center. From the dance floor below, she has moved up to the executive offices upstairs (that's what I call success). Penthouse Seven was actually viewed by both the sosyal and the social climber and so it was assured of a captive audience. Strangely enough, it was canceled without warning. Pope John Paul II arrived in February 1981 and the show was pre-empted to give way to the Papal coverage and never returned. When the former Penthouse Dancers (Ronnie Henares, Gina Valenciano — plus the other members who even flew in from the US) had a reunion dance concert last year, I asked them why it was canceled, but no one knew the answer (it was still a popular show when it disappeared). It remains one of the big mysteries in the history of local TV to this day.

Ms.Ellaneous — Until the mid-'70s, if you were an unmarried woman, you were formally addressed as Miss. But advocates of the women's liberation movement insisted on being called Ms. — married or unmarried, just like Mr. When GMA 7 therefore launched on July 7, 1977 a show featuring three female hosts — Tina Revilla, Ma-an Hontiveros and Yogi Diminguez — they called it Ms.Ellaneous. The title was apt because the content of the show was, well, miscellaneous: It was talk, instructional, quiz, documentary and even game. Directed by Maria Montelibano (the late Mito Villarreal eventually took over), it will go down history as among the most polished programs when it came to presentation and with substantial content to boot. It is unequalled to this day.

Pamilya Bato-Balani — This comedy is about two warring families — next-door neighbors, actually. With Apeng Daldal and Metring David in the lead, its comic style required the best of timing and this was delivered on the dot all the time by the two vaudeville veterans

Late Night With June & Johnny — June Keithley and Johnny Litton capped the week with their very interesting on-air banter with guests, who came from different fields. There was the Bionic Boy, who — so Rene Mariano later told me — turned out to be a hoax, Leo Parungao and his dwarfs and an odd assortment of faith healers. But the line-up of guests most viewers looked forward to were the celebrity friends of both June and Johnny: Mitch Valdes, Ronnie Henares, Ed Gatchalian, Ma-an Hontiveros and even Bibeth Orteza. It was like they were letting us in into their private world. June and Johnny also began the tradition of roasting a birthday celebrator (it was actually picked up from the show of Dean Martin) and soon after, every other local program was doing it — even in private birthday parties. Again, that's the influence of television.

Two for the Road — Aired Monday nights, this show had its beginnings in pre-martial law ABS-CBN with Elvira Manahan and Eddie Mercado hosting and Nestor U. Torre directing. When it was revived in the late '70s, it had a brief stint on Channel 4 (with Nestor as Elvira's co-host) before it found its final home on GMA 7. The show could have gone on, except that in 1986, Nestor joined the cast of Eddie Romero's The King and the Emperor that was shot in China for six months. Before he could even return to the show (they got guest co-hosts in his absence), Elvira had been murdered in her Forbes Park home.

Prinsipe Abante — A spoof of the classic Clodualdo del Mundo Sr. work (aired on radio) by Bert Marcelo. Aired early evenings, it was the funniest, especially the rapport between Bert and Bayani Casimiro, who played the king.

Kahapon Lamang — An Eddie Ilarde-annotated radio show transported into television, it sometimes featured daring themes. One never made it on air because the censors (then under the military) didn't allow it: A story of incest starring Joey de Leon.

Lovingly Yours, Helen — Originally a radio program, this drama/counseling show debuted on TV in October 1980. Not your usual sappy melodrama where characters scream and slap each other around, it won a lot of critical acclaim and was even recognized by the Gawad CCP Para sa Telebisyon. This Sunday afternoon drama still went on air for a while even after Helen Vela's death on Feb. 14, 1992. Daughter Princess Punzalan carried on with it, but nothing beats the original. The show packed up and Princess later became an award-winning villainess on ABS-CBN. She is now happily married to an American and currently works in a bank in LA.

Viewpoint — Piloting the year after the assassination of Sen. Benigno Aquino Jr., it was fearless. Its anchor, lawyer Dong Puno, interviewed a lot of political personalities with anti-Marcos sentiments. To this day, I salute lawyer Puno for having started that public affairs program.

Lunch Date — This noontime show took over Student Canteen in 1986 and was hosted by Orly Mercado, Rico J. Puno, Chiqui Hollmann and Toni Rose Gayda. When Randy Santiago was taken in the year after, he — with his pair of shades — became an instant sensation and the show lorded it over in the noontime slot. A lot of other talents later hosted this show: Tina Revilla, Louie Heredia, Ai-Ai de las Alas, Lito Pimentel, Verni Varga and for a while, Pilita Corrales.

Tanghalan ng Kampeon — This talent search was Wilma Galvante's brainchild when she was with Channel 9. When she later moved to GMA 7 where she is now Senior Vice President for Entertainment TV, she brought it with her and the show became an even bigger hit — what with the winnable tandem of Pilita Corrales and Bert Marcelo.

GMA Tele-sine — Imagine a made-for-TV-movie every week? I don't know how the network managed (expenses and all), but it did and viewers had a feast every Sunday evening watching a new TV movie with big stars in it.

Kapuso Mo, Jessica Soho — Jessica is able to come up with polished stories every week — thanks to excellent research and getting the proper angles (every newsman with the eye and instinct knows this).

Imbestigador — Hard-hitting and courageous, this public service program anchored by Mike Enriquez teaches people from all areas (especially the public servants) to behave.

Case Unclosed — I like history and going back to the past and this is what this news and public affairs program does every week — tracing stories that didn't have closure.

Family Feud — I got so addicted to this game show hosted by Richard Gomez — to the point that it was already running my schedule and my life. I know it's making a comeback soon. Oh no, there goes my life and schedule again.

Eat, Bulaga! — GMA 7 is its third home and there is an industry belief that wherever it is aired, the network becomes Number One.

Startalk — It's my all-time favorite show for obvious reasons.

Butch Francisco's Article (April 28, 2011)

April 28, 2011 at 1:23am

Philippine TV's more recent golden age came in the months and the couple of years after EDSA I. That was the period when the then sequestered IBC 13 had the sitcom Happy House, the gag program Sic O'clock News and the political talk show Public Forum.

GMA 7 had Viewpoint, but that was launched a year prior to EDSA I. The network could also be credited for giving Vilma Santos a new home for her musical/variety program that is already listed as among the very best in its genre.

Over at the newly reopened ABS-CBN was Zsa Zsa that proved to be so expensive to produce that it failed to reach one season (but it was a divine musical during its short run). Channel 2 also provided The Probe Team with its first roof before it moved to GMA 7 where it was hailed as an award-winning docu series.

However, ABS-CBN also came up with tabloid TV via TV Patrol that sensationalized news and also encroached on showbiz turf. But that was what democracy was all about.

When hard times came (there was the Gulf War in 1989), TV began resorting to cheap entertainment to cover the soaring cost of production. Crap began creeping into the scene and there were viewers willing to lap it up.

GMA fires 'The Probe Team' - MALAYA

May 2, 2011 at 1:56am

PAGCOR chairman Efraim Genuino should be very happy now. "The Probe Team" has been axed from GMA-7.

The cause, of course, was The Probe Team's lifestyle check story on Genuino which was stopped from being aired as originally scheduled last Sept. 16. The GMA-7 management had said that it was not in deference to Pagcor that the Genuino episode was prevented from being shown. It had, they said, something to do with incomplete documentation.

But we know for a fact that Genuino had called media owners and executives on the subject. A Pagcor director told us that he later advised Genuino to stop blocking the airing of "The Probe Team" episode on him so the controversy would die down.

The Probe Team's Genuino lifestyle check, updated, was finally shown last Sept. 23. But by then a lot of hurtful exchanges had already transpired. Last Friday evening, Cheche Lazaro, host and producer of the much-awarded magazine TV show, was informed by GMA-7 executives that the station cannot work with her anymore. She was asked when she wanted the last airing of "The Probe Team."

Lazaro replied that it's GMA-7's call because they are the carrying station. In her meeting with her staff about GMA-7's decision, Lazaro said, "I fought on a matter of principle. I will not beg for air time."

What happened to "The Probe Team" underscores the hypocrisy of Gloria Arroyo's oft-repeated declaration about her administration being transparent and serious about fighting corruption. It's a farce.

The investigation by "The Probe Team", which merely scratched the surface, showed that Arroyo's much-hyped lifestyle check is not being taken seriously by government officials, most especially people close to her.

It must be stressed that Genuino is a close friend of Mike Arroyo, who has been alleged as engaging in money laundering activities through "Jose Pidal" bank accounts.

"The Probe Team" found out that there were a number of companies listed in the Securities and Exchange Commission under Genuino's name which were not reflected in his 2001 and 2002 statements of assets and liabilities submitted to Malacañang.

"The Probe Team" also found out that Genuino's SAL in Malacañang did not have a docket number, book number, file number, and documentary stamp. In short, it was not a public document. Talk of being law abiding. "The Probe Team" went to the National Statistics Office and they couldn't find the name of Efraim Genuino. What came out was Efraim de la Cruz Gino Gino. How Efraim Gino Gino became Efraim Genuino is one of the mysteries that still has to be fully explained.

If Genuino thinks that without "The Probe Team" no one would raise questions on his finances and his management of Pagcor, he is in for a surprise.

GMA Network and ABS-CBN Logos

May 6, 2011 at 2:05pm

Early GMA circular logos (1960s)

The blue circular seven logo, which Republic Broadcasting System (RBS) used for the past years, has developed into iconic in local television, mostly due to the existence of the same logo in key markets. Like in any other countries, which broadcast on channel 7 frequencies, circular seven logo is commonly used. Later on, the circular seven logo was used opposite to the square rounded edge

GMA symbol in network presentation on-screen, although many current variations of the circular seven have incorporated to GMA logo.

Greater Manila Area logos (1970s)

In early 1970s, then Republic Broadcasting System changed its corporate identity to GMA Radio-Television Arts (GMA stands for Greater Manila Area, the network broadcast area). The word “GMA” and “ARTS” uses a Serif old stylized Garamond font in yellow color. The letter “R” extending its ribbon rounded tail underneath the letter “T” of ARTS while the word “Radio Television” uses a San Serif Helvetica Neue Bold Condense font in white toning the pale blue background with black outlines.

From circular number 7 logo, GMA developed its on-screen symbol into a bigger number seven (a three angles upward bar using red, green and blue colors) removing the circular border. Aside from retaining the square-rounded edge box, the word “GMA” and “ARTS” changes its color to white similar to the lower case word “radio television” and still uses the same Serif old stylized Garamond and San Serif Helvetica Neue Bold Condense fonts. In addition the word “greater” was placed between the insignia and number 7.

Again in 1978, GMA insignia changes into another version restoring the circular logo, now in black background and replacing the word “greater” to Serif font “GMA”. In the 1980s, GMA again changes its on-screen logo scrapping the circular number 7 and using only the GMA Radio Television Arts sign reverting its original yellow color for “GMA” and “ARTS” text while “Radio Television” in white complements the pale blue background in black outline.

GMA Network during mid-1970s and early 1980s

In September 1972, then President Ferdinand Marcos declared Martial Law, ordered the closure of all television station in the Philippines except for channels 9, 13 and 7. GMA was later allowed to operate with a restricted three-month provisional franchise license. In the latter part of 1973[4], then Republic Broadcasting System was forced to cede majority control and later on reopened under new ownership with a new identity as GMA Radio-Television Arts.

In 1974 as GMA introduces the viewing public to a new GMA Radio Television Arts it employs a new symbol and utilizes the square-rounded edge insignia. To catch the attention of local viewers, GMA embarked into marketing promotion and uses the new slogan “Where You Belong” in 1979 and it was used for the next 20 years.

A different version was introduced in the latter part of 1979 placing “Where You Belong!” slogan angles upward below the insignia using a black Serif font. Another adaptation was made in 1986 using multihued colors. As GMA prepares for a network reformatting, for the first time GMA used the beaming rainbow colors of red, yellow, green and blue. The same “Where You Belong” slogan were used, this time in a different Serif font.

During the 1980s, a variety of logos were used to complement the present event, especially live programs. One example of this is, when GMA has the exclusive rights to broadcast Miss Universepageant, it employ the standard GMA Radio Television Arts logo while embossing a crown-like object above it.

All logos including the present one were placed at the top rightmost corner of television screens. Only live breaking news and public affairs programs uses the lower left corner portion of television screen.

The Rainbow Satellite Network (1992-2002)

In preparation for the launching of Tower of Power[5], GMA again rebranded its network identity. Logo used similar to the early 90s. A beaming rainbow in a multicolored consisting of stripes. The actual colors used differ, but many of the designs are based on the traditional scheme of red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet. The letters, GMA in blue color uses a San Serif Century Gothic Extra Bold font. Underneath its logo is their slogan from 1975, Where You Belongin Serif style font.[6]

On April 30, 1992, GMA Network's vigorous ambition[7] is to reach Filipino viewers around the world through the launching of its Rainbow Satellite image[8]. At the same time, GMA utilizes a new logo to correspond with the rebranding. A satellite-beaming rainbow in a multicolored stripes based on the traditional scheme of red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet. The letters, GMA in metallic form uses a San Serif Century Gothic Extra Bold and analogous gloominess of Indigo as its fonts.

Sometime in 1993, GMA ambitious plan to penetrate international markets and to establish GMA as the most award network both locally and internationally; it uses a gold rectangular box and utilizes the similar beaming rainbow logo (the same specifications was used) embossed on it. At the time, the network makes use of its newest slogan... "The World's Most Awarded Philippine Broadcast Network."

GMA creates a series of logos with its Rainbow Satellite Network image. In mid-1990s, for the first time in Philippine television history, a human-like shape in stylized cloud effect was incorporated in one of its in-house station ID. The once famous beaming rainbow effect came from the hands of the human-like figure once called "The Rainbow Man" or "The GMA Man."

The heart-shaped rainbow colored logo called Kapuso

In October 27, 2002 at exactly 12:00 p.m. during a special presentation on its noontime musical show, SOP, GMA unveiled its new corporate logo and slogan. In an effort to localized and transformed its image into a more intrinsic Filipino, GMA Network engaged in a rebranding course in line with its objective to become the leader in providing local news and entertainment. The rebranding of its logo and slogans reflects its new business distinctiveness but still integrating the network's character as the "Rainbow Network."

The trademark consists of a stylized heart shaped red logo, with different band of colors representing the rainbow and adapted a new network slogan "Kapuso ng pamilyang Pilipino, Anumang Kulay ng Buhay" ("One in heart With the Filipino family, in Whatever Colors of Life")[9]. This time, it uses Century Gothic Bold as its main font for the letters, GMA while an animated stylized heart shaped rainbow colored logo placed on rightmost top corner of the letter "A." GMA also uses a stand alone animated heart shaped logo for its pre- and post-commercial programming.

The logo first appeared as an on-screen in October 27, 2002, emerging only at the beginning of shows and staying on throughout shows and disappearing every commercial load.

The logo becomes visible on the upper rightmost top of the screen and a variety of effects resulting in its formation, usually during a show's opening sequence. GMA carry out trial on a variety of heart shape logo to take off international broadcast networks using a grey color translucent logo like NBC, ABC, Fox, and CBS. On its experimental phases, GMA uses a transparent grey color logo version at the upper rightmost top of the screen and was less embossed than the previous version and later on reverted to its original colored heart shape logo. Since its unveiling, GMA places a text "LIVE" below its logo signifying a live event but uses a different logo when a breaking news story happens or unfolds.

DZAQ-TV3

DZAQ-TV logo early 50s

DZAQ-TV began commercial television operations on October 23, 1953, the first fully-licensed commercial television station in the Philippines. The first program that aired was a garden party at the Quirino residence in Guevarra Street, Quezon City. After the premiere telecast, the station followed a four-hour a day schedule, from six to ten in the evening. Its logo consist of text-fonted letters of DZAQ-TV, Starts Regular telecast and it is the first image on Philippine television.

During 50's

When channel 3 starts airing, logo also aired. It consists of the slogan CHANNEL 3, THE PHILIPPINES PREMIER CHANNEL.

Chronicle Broadcasting Network

Chronicle Broadcasting Network This image is used with text "Chronicle Broadcasting Network" since the second Philippine TV Station was introduced. Since 1956 when it was introduced.

Merger of ABS and CBN

When Alto Broadcasting System (ABS) and Chronicle Broadcasting Network (CBN) have merged, new logo introduced. It consist of 3 bold circles and a square but the colors is black and white and a vertical line in middle of the circles and ABS-CBN styled.

Post merger

In 1957, the memorandum of agreement between ABS and CBN was signed only at a piece of table napkin. Also, to that same table napkin, the prototype logo was sketched. The logo had two components - the three circles - which represents the Philippine islands of Luzon, Visayas and Mindanao - which signifies its aim to eventually be able to broadcast on a nationwide scope; and, the vertical wand enclosed in a box which signifies the ABS and CBN's transmitter. left As ABS-CBN started to broadcast in full color on 1966, it displayed the colorful Sarimanok logo. Eventually, the Sarimanok (a legendary Muslim rooster) was added to the prototype logo as an accent. It soon became the network's corporate identity, even if it was forced to shut down operations in 1972. It remained as both the company and station identity until 1998.[2]

BBC-2

Reviving

When ABS-CBN revived on 1986 after EDSA, the ABS-CBN logo changed its style. Its still the 3 bold circles have colors, red, green, and blue. Then the square is bold and still using the vertical line in middle of the circles, the letters still.

The Channel 2 Symbol

ABS-CBN have many styles of channel 2 symbols. In 1986, when the The Star Network produced, the new 2 symbol was introduced. Again, there are 3 colors RGB with a star at the end of it.

In 1999, ABS-CBN decided to give the logo a new look, yet maintaining its prototype ensign. The box that encloses the circles and the vertical wand was removed. A light gray background emphasized the prototype ensign. The typeface for ABS-CBN was also changed. In the year 2000, ABS-CBN had changed its corporate logo. The previous logo, which featured stylized letters and a square with three concentric circles and a line gave way to the present logo's styling. The three circles with colors, red, green, blue with the vertical line at the center still remain, although the logotype has changed and the square is no longer used in some uses of the logo.

Branding of ABS-CBN

The ABS-CBN logo features three main elements, the vertical line rooted on a horizontal origin, the three extending circles, and the text ABS-CBN. The vertical line or bar represents a tower (broadcasting tower), with the circles symbolizing its signals representing the red, green and blue or RGB colors which makes up a pixel shown on the television. The 3 divisions of the Philippines, Luzon, Visayas, and Mindanao, are also denoted by the three circles.

ABS-CBN once used a logo with ABS on top and CBN on the bottom, meaning the broadcasting corporations owned by two different families, the Quirino-owned ABS and the Lopez-owned CBN. Three circles, from the past years having no color variety, represent the three main islands of the Philippines, Luzon, Visayas and Mindanao. While the vertical bar represented the ABS-CBN TV transmitter tower. The whole logo is boxed, meaning ABS-CBN connects all the islands of the country with one family. The logo was updated during the late 1980's to include the colored circles. Then, the latter years, ABS-CBN launched The Filipino Channel, making the ABS-CBN logo unboxed, and represented as ABS-CBN is not only for the Filipinos inside, but also outside of the country. Merging the two stations, ABS and CBN, with one owner, the Lopez family, the ABS-CBN logo now uses "ABS-CBN", instead of having ABS and CBN, in one variation, situated on the bottom of the logo.

Channel 2

Since 1969, the network has started using a channel logo beginning on DZAQ-TV with the early channel 2 logo for use as a promotion from 1969 to 1972 as The Family Channel. The frequency was later awarded to BBC as DWWX-TV from 1973 to 1986, and had a different logo used.

ABS-CBN introduced an innovation to the channel 2 logo from 1986 to 1992. At first, the channel 2 logo is introduced into ABS-CBN, after the dissolution of BBC in July. The features of the first channel 2 logo is a wing-shaped blue crest with a white curve at the top and a white line as a tail, the Broadway 2 logo was used from 1986 to 1987. It has a slogan name Watch Us Do It Again! as the station ID aired since the network's revival.

After six months of carefully selected plans, the first tri-ribbon 2 logo laced with a rhomboidal star came to be on March 1, 1987. The tri-ribbon 2 logo's color is white carried the slogan The Star Network when it aired as a station ID to reclaim the dominance in TV ratings. By 1988, the ribbons in the tri-ribbon 2 logo are tri-colored with red, green and blue. Truly, the tri-ribbon 2 logo was accidentally came from a shooting star in the form of 2. Similarly, most numerical channel logos within this slogan have with a star and versions came into regional TV channels like 3 (DYCB-TV in Cebu and DZRR-TV in Baguio), 4 (DYXL-TV in Bacolod and DXAS-TV in Davao), 11 (DZNC-TV) in Naga and other regional stations.

Sarimanok

The Sarimanok, a legendary bird in Philippine Folklore was first used in 1966 to identify color broadcasts (somewhat similar on how the NBC peacock has been utilized). In 1993, which happens to be the Chinese Year of the Rooster, ABS-CBN relaunched the Sarimanok with a new station ID featuring the legendary bird. The Sarimanok ID became utmostly associated with the channel that ABS-CBN opted it to become the station's mascot. Incidentally, ABS-CBN named its new 24-hour news channel the Sarimanok News Network, the precursor of the ABS-CBN News Channel.

The evolution of ABS-CBN logos

In the Year 2000, ABS-CBN had changed its corporate logo. The previous logo, which featured stylized letters and a square with three concentric circles and a line gave way to the present logo's styling. The three circles with colors, red, green, blue with the vertical line at the center still remain, although the logotype has changed and the square is no longer used in some uses of the logo.

Network identity

On October 29, 1961, then Loreto F. de Hemedes Inc. through Radio Broadcasting Station launches its first television station in the Philippines, known back then as DZBB TV Channel 7. GMA Network began branding its identity by eliminating call signs to its network identification. By 1974, the call letters were disregarded and paves the way for other networks to affect such naming structures. Thus, GMA is the first television station in the Philippines to be called by its corporate name and not by its call sign.

- DZBB TV Channel 7 (1961-1974)—From the success of its amplitude modulation band radio DZBB, Robert La Rue "Uncle Bob" Stewart launches its first television and the Philippines third terrestrial channel, DZBB TV Channel 7.
- RBS TV Channel 7 (1972-1975)—When Gilberto Duavit, Menardo Jimenez and Felipe Gozon took over the management of Loreto F. de Hemedes Inc. in 1974, GMA Network was rebranded to Republic Broadcasting System.
- GMA Radio Television Arts (1975-1992)—To ascertain its present in its coverage area, the Greater Manila Area, GMA Network changed its character to GMA Radio-Television Arts.

- GMA Rainbow Satellite Network (Rainbow Network, 1992-2002)—In preparation for the launching of Tower of Power, GMA again rebranded its network identity on April 30, 1992.
- GMA Network (Kapuso Network, 2002-Present)—In October 27, 2002, GMA Network unveiled its new identity and catchphrase. In an effort to localized and transformed its image into a more intrinsic Filipino, GMA Network engaged in a rebranding course in line with its objective to become the leader in providing local news and entertainment. The rebranding of its logo and slogans reflects its new business distinctiveness and integrating the network's character as the former "Rainbow Network."

Logos

GMA Network has used a number of logos throughout its history especially when Gozon, Jimenez and Duavit acquired the station in the 1974. From late 1970s to the early 1990s, the network used the Circle 7 logo, which is also expended by several networks around the world. In the 1980s, to refine its presence in Philippine broadcast industry, GMA Network used the slogan Where You Belong, and lasted for two decades before invigorating to another catchphrase. In 1989, GMA Network redefines itself as the Rainbow Network, succeeding the ensigns of the rainbow. Throughout the 1990s, the network developed the logo before having it replaced by its current logo in 2002 and as the Kapuso Network.<sup>[14]</sup> After a huge marketing campaign, and improved television ratings, the new insignia (the rainbow-colored stylized heart-shape logo known as Kapuso) is now one of the most recognizable in the Philippines.

Pinoy Nostalgia Few years ago, G-Sat added GNN to its lineup as GNN would later expanded to Southeast Asian neighbors. This was also expanded into terrestrial (free TV) airwaves, first launched on UHF Channel 44 in Pampanga.

CLTV 36 History (source:www.lausgroup.com.ph)

May 13, 2011 at 8:23pm

CLTV 36 has come a long way since it first hit the airwaves on May 10, 2007 and has since become Central Luzon's trusted source of news and information. Broadcasting over Central Luzon's seven provinces, CLTV is designed to serve the region through hard-hitting news and public affairs programs.

CLTV 36 founder and Chairman of the LausGroup of Companies, Levy P. Laus was left undaunted in setting up a TV station in Central Luzon for recognizing the important and strategic role the region has been playing in national history and development. The region, he believes, needs to harness its voice for it to be better heard. It needs a media platform that exists for the region, managed and ran by the people of the region.

Viewers get a glimpse of some of their favorite shows such as CLTV 36's longest-running political talk show, Hamon Central Luzon, hosted by veteran journalist Tonette Orejas. CLTV 36 devotes an hour everyday for its flagship program, CLTV 36 Balitaan anchored by Jenifer Salenga. The CLTV 36 news and public affairs team assembles and produces more than 15 hours of news and issue-based programs every week such as Spot Report, Special Report, Focus, and Trip, Treat at Gimik.

CLTV 36 also offers public affairs programs, such as: Travel Blog, featuring the travel experiences of the famous and seasoned blogger Ivan Henares, co-hosted by Ching Pangilinan; Spotlight, a showcase of the arts and culture of the region, hosted by the multi-talented artist and Kapampangan cultural advocate, Andy Alviz; and OK si Dok, a medical program hosted by Dr. William Olalia and Dr. Salve Olalia. CLTV 36 Vice President and General Manager Sonia P. Soto hosts So to Speak and WAGI or Women Are Great Inspirations. The latter, a first of its kind in the region, a woman empowerment show which celebrates the triumphs of women from Central Luzon has received accolades both locally and nationally. The show has been honored by the prestigious media organization, Kapisanan ng mga Brodkaster ng Pilipinas or KBP. In 2008, barely a year in the airwaves, host Sonia P. Soto was awarded Best Public Affairs Program Host in the 17th KBP Golden Dove Awards.

Aside from its regular weekly programs, CLTV 36 has also been at the forefront of major events in the region such as the annual Giant Lantern Festival of the City of San Fernando, Pampanga. True to its commitment to serve the community and the region, CLTV 36 has also initiated various activities, taking its outreach efforts beyond the broadcast studios. In the past years, CLTV 36, with its staff and crew, organized a medical mission through the medical program OK si Dok, Takbo Para Kay Lola fun run to raise funds for women victims of military sexual slavery in Mapaniqui, Candaba and Operation Tulong to aid victims of Typhoon Ondoy.

CLTV 36 has made its mark in the regional media industry by providing a platform by which the community can articulate their aspirations and be involved in the discourses that shape the nation. It continues to serve the community through first-rate news and programming, with its heart in Central Luzon's past and its eye on Central Luzon's future.

GMA Network's coffee-table book launched

In celebration of its 60th anniversary, GMA Network launched a coffee-table book titled Kapuso: The GMA Story which traces the generations of individuals behind the history of the company from its founding to the present.

President Benigno “Noy” Aquino III and Vice President Jejomar Binay were the guests of honor at the book launch last July 30, at the Rizal Ballroom of the Makati Shangri-La Hotel.

The 199-page book, written by celebrated editor and accomplished writer Krip Yuson, features the triumvirate of Felipe Gozon, Gilberto Duavit, Menardo Jimenez and top executives and personalities like Annette Gozon-Abrogar, Mike Enriquez, Mel Tiangco, Marissa Flores, Wilma Galvante, Antonio Seva, Orly Mercado, German Moreno, Tina Monzon-Palma and Freddie Garcia who shared their key insights and memorable experiences with the institution in the last six decades.

Kapuso: The GMA Story highlighted the role of the broadcast company in the Philippines’ history and its achievements that continue to be a lasting legacy of hardwork, dedication and innovation inside each and every household’s television.

The book is a testament to GMA 7’s success from its humble beginnings on June 14, 1950 to what it is today. It gives the reader a glance into the richness of possibilities that the network seeks in order to touch the hearts and enrich the lives of Filipinos everywhere.

Also present in the event were Speaker of the House of Representatives Feliciano “Sonny” Belmonte Jr., former president Fidel Ramos, Senators Franklin Drilon, Ramon “Bong” Revilla Jr., Vicente “Tito” Sotto III and former senate president Jovito Salonga.

Advertising executives, foreign dignitaries from the diplomatic corps, government officials, members of the media and Kapuso celebrities also graced the cocktail event.

The 60th anniversary book launch was hosted by Mike Enriquez. (Philippine Star)

Privatization of 2 gov’t TV networks pressed

The government is planning to raise the quality of government television station Channel 4 similar to those broadcasting services in the United Kingdom and United States.

Herminio Coloma, secretary of the Communications Group, said they also intend to pursue the privatization of RPN-9 and IBC-13, both government sequestered television stations since 1986, to generate additional government resources.

Coloma, former transportation undersecretary, supervises the “dissemination” aspect of the new communications group. He has authority over government television and radio stations, Philippine Information Agency, National Printing Office, among others.

Coloma said he intends to modernize NBN-4, the government's main television station, and emulate British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) and Public Broadcasting Service (PBS), which provide quality programs while ensuring commercial viability. (Manila Bulletin)

'Midnight DJ' to End Soon and to be Replaced by Another Horror Series!

The horror-anthology program of TV5 called "Midnight DJ" will soon bid goodbye on TV!

According to a reliable source, this weekly horror series will be replaced by another horror program. This is "Regal Shocker" which will be produced by Mother Lily. If you can still recall, "Regal Shocker" is the late 80's hit horror TV program aired on Channel 13. TV5 then got the rights to air a remake of it!

"Midnight DJ" already gone too far on TV. This is one of the longest running weekly mini TV series and already had many seasons. On its last and latest season, it is now called "Mga Tunay na Kwento ng Lagim" since it features real-life horror stories. It's now like the former hit TV program "Nginig" of the Kapamilya station.

Oyo Boy Sotto successfully hosted and played a lead role in the said horror show. He replaces the original Midnight DJ Paolo Contis when the latter becomes an exclusive contract of the Kapuso network.

And to date, "Midnight DJ" is one of the successful TV programs produced by the Kapatid network. Keep up the good work "Midnight DJ" team until the last round!

REMEMBERING DEAD STARS

Archiving is poor in the movies, but worse in television. Copies of some old movies at least still exist. Unfortunately, we can't say the same for TV. Most of us therefore have forgotten the TV stars of old – especially those who have moved on to the other world ahead of us. Today, let us remember those talented individuals who made significant contributions to television before returning to their Creator.

Lopito – The original male co-host of Tawag ng Tanghalan, he died at the peak of his career in 1966.
Joey Lardizabal – Hosted The Morning Show in ABS-CBN Channel 3 up to the time he died of cancer in 1969.

Chito Feliciano – He pioneered in dance shows via Dancetime With Chito in the early '60s on Channel 7. He died in a helicopter crash in the early '70s.

Vic Pacia – A mainstay of Oras ng Ligaya, he also dabbled in films as an actor (Sampaguita Pictures). Pacia died in a car crash in 1973 while driving in Laguna.

Eddie Peregrina – A jukebox king, he hosted The Eddie-Nora Show with Nora Aunor on Channel 9 in the late '60s.

Ronald Remy – A former Premiere Productions contract star who made a lot of films for international release, he appeared as Rosa Rosal's husband in 'Yan ang Misis Ko and later hosted the Sunday noontime game show (Lucky 13 among them) on Channel 13.

Nanding Flores – The original Mr. Baltic when the comic strip Baltic & Co. was made into a series on Channel 7. The show was still at its peak in 1975 when he died. He was replaced by Prospero Luna.

Doro de los Ojos – Known for his dilated eyes that gave him his showbiz screen name, he hosted the early afternoon variety show Everyday Holiday on ABS-CBN up to the late '60s. He died in 1981.

Pugo – A veteran of stage shows, he did several successful comedies for LVN before he ventured into television where he starred in Tangtarangtang (which later became Si Tatang Kasi), Wanted: Boarders, Alright, Okay, My Son, My Son and also as replacement of Lopito in Tawag ng Tanghalan. Dolphy so respected Pugo that when the mentor died in 1978, he cut short his US vacation to attend the wake. Dolphy also had Pugo's coffin replaced with a more expensive one – something more fit for the original King of Comedy, which Pugo was in the '50s and '60s.

Patsy – She passed on to the other world about half a year after the death of Pugo, who was her Tawag ng Tanghalan co-host and screen husband in Wanted: Boarders and My Son, My Son.

Tony Santos, Sr. – A great character actor from LVN, he directed Oras ng Ligaya and several sitcoms for the old ABS-CBN. He also hosted Mr. Public Service and appeared as Dindo Fernando's brother in Flordeluna.

Maliban sa TV5 ay nagbabalak din ang ABS-CBN gamit ang Studio 23 na makuha ang rights ng SEAG dahil sa pagiging tagasuporta sa Azkals sa football.

"We have no idea if there are other interested in the SEA Games. But it's a perfect fit to what we really want that to feature Filipino athletes to the entire nation," dagdag pa ng opisyal.

Ang London Olympics ay gagawin sa susunod na taon pero ngayon pa lamang ay gumagawa na ng paraan ang network para makuha ang rights sa isang istasyon.

"We know that the London Olympics rights is owned by somebody and we are now exploring ways to acquire it," pahayag pa ni Lazatin.

Sa Hunyo 5 pa pormal na ilulunsad ang AKTV pero unang larong mapapanood ay ang FIBA Asia Champions Cup na bubuksan sa Mayo 28 sa Philsports Arena sa Pasig City.

NORA AUNOR IN PUBLIC SERVICE TV PROGRAM 'N.O.R.A.MISMO'

May 21, 2011 at 11:09pm

Quezon City, April 18, 2002 (BULLETIN) by Crispina Martinez. Belen - Fans and followers of superstar Nora Aunor has something great to look forward to from their idol. In May, La Aunor will be seen anew on TV, but this time not in the usual musical–variety show format but in a public service program. Which to her is something more relevant and fulfilling..

Entitled “n.o.r.a.mismo (ngayon na ang oras ng remedyo at aksyon)” it will be aired every Friday at 1:30–2:30 p.m. over IBC 13. So actually, Nora has come full circle, returning to the network where she started her “Superstar” program decades ago. And if Nora is acceptable to the idea, IBC 13 could even bring back the show and even her drama series. And why not? Says Cerge M. Remonde, chairman and chief executive officer of the network. But Nora would like to concentrate on her public service program first.

Why a public service program? “Because this is something I’ve always wanted to do, for the common people, for the masa (from where I came from by the way) who’ve been there for me through thick and thin,” the diminutive superstar said. “And we hope that this program could be an effective bridge between the government and the people to be able to help each other. President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo is doing her best but she needs our help, everybody’s help for her to succeed and realize her goals for the country and people.”

Doing something for the common folk, for the needy, is the ultimate goal of the superstar now. “I don’t have to be in politics to do public service,” she stressed. Everyone knows that Nora sought a political post in the last elections but lost. This has not dampened her desire though to serve the needy, especially her kabayans in Bicol. Her public service program would just be the start of the realization of her dream to be of help to the common folk. “Tutulong na lang ako kahit wala ako sa pulitika.”

Her public service program “n.o.r.a.mismo” will have various segments, all focusing on vital, relevant and timely issues, like the protection and promotion of the rights and welfare of women and children. The segments are “Babae,” “Kaya Kong Magtrabaho,” “Bawal Pong Maglimos,” “Pag-usapan Natin,” “Wow.inspirasyon,” “Problema Ba Yan?” “Iisa ang Ating Planeta,” “Bata.Bata” and “Problema Mo, Lunas Mo.”

The theme of the program is: Alleviate poverty, uplift dignity.” The three objectives are: extend assistance and keep hope alive for the less privileged; encourage public and private sectors cooperation to lighten the burden of the masses; and keep the government closer to the people by facilitating easier public access to social services.

“So in my own little way, I would like to bring government closer to the people by facilitating access to public services,” Nora added. “Noong una, I had misgivings. Sabi ko sa sarili ko, kaya ko ba ito dahil ibangiba itong papasukan ko. Pero napagisipisip ko rin na kung taos sa puso mo ang gagawin mo, magagawa mo para makatulong sa mga mahihirap at nangangailangan ng tulong. This is my chance to do public service, and I don’t have to be a politician to do so.

Chairman Remonde said the program is an excellent venue for Nora, phenomenally still a well-loved icon in Philippine showbiz, a living legend in fact, to connect to the people who she’ve wanted to serve ever since. This is the time for her to do a public service program, to make use of her gift and persona as a superstar. “A public service program could really be a more meaningful job for her to do, since she will be giving assistance to the poor who are truly close to her heart,” Cerge said.

“I really hope Nora will be successful in this program because she can really touch lives in a more meaningful way, aside from entertaining people through her gift of music.” IBC 13 has plans to make the program daily, “but in the meantime na nag-uumpisa pa lang kami, once a week lang muna,” Cerge added.

Nora revealed that they are also toying with the idea of bringing back “Superstar” and her drama series, “but one thing at a time. Mas gusto ko itong public service program sa ngayon.”

In “n.o.r.a.mismo,” Nora will have as co-host Junne Palacios Abejuela, a popular ABS–CBN broadcast journalist in Naga City. He joined ABS-CBN in 1998. Because of this opportunity to be working with the superstar in a public service program, he might have to resign from ABS-CBN and move to Manila, he said which is just good because his family is here.

In Naga, Junne is host and executive producer of the Saturday show “Tips Atbp.” Interestingly, Junne was originally a stage actor when he was still studying mass communications at Centro Escolar University. He toured Central Luzon with Teatro Artistico for a year, he recalled. The opportunity to work in Bicol beckoned and there, Junne pioneered in some shows and newscasts. He also hosted a quiz show and a singing contest entitled “A Star Is Born.”

He and Nora met in 1999 when the superstar guested in his show. Junne is of course very excited to be working with Nora in “n.o.r.a.mismo.”

GMA WITHDRAWS FROM 'KAPISANAN NG MGA BROADCASTERS NG PILIPINAS'

May 31, 2011 at 10:28am

Here's the scoop: GMA Broadcasting Corp. has withdrawn its membership from the Kapisanan ng mga Brodkaster ng Pilipinas (KBP).

In a letter dated last Monday, GMA chairman Felipe Gozon informed KBP chairman Cerge Remonde about the network's decision although no reasons were stated in the letter. Highly placed sources who were privy to previous talks between GMA and KBP on the matter however informed this writer that the network may be attempting to preempt an upcoming decision of the KBP to suspend GMA for certain violations of the Television Code.

The first ground for suspension is obscenity, in particular certain 'foul' statements uttered by Starktalk host Rossana Roces in her show aired over GMA 7. The second one involves GMA news anchor Mike Enriquez who in several instances lambasted rival ABS-CBN on air, which is expressly prohibited in the Code. The third one is commercial overloading. Current rules of the Ad Board provide that the maximum allowable commercial load per hour of broadcast is 18 minutes.

There are several justifications for this. The Ad Board has to protect the interest of the TV viewers. Another reason is to protect the advertisers. Too many ads will diminish the effectiveness of the ads as far as recall is concerned. The limit is also designed to make sure that one or two TV stations do not corner all the ad revenues to the detriment of the other stations. Sources say that GMA 7 has been asking KBP to increase the load limit, but its request has been denied.

The KBP board is meeting today to discuss GMA's pull out. There is however a growing sentiment among the board members not to allow GMA-7 to withdraw its membership until after the suspension is meted out. GMA's pullout from KBP came as a big surprise to the industry especially since the current president of KBP, Atty. Veloso is a representative from GMA 7. What are the repercussions for GMA 7 if it is finally allowed to withdraw its membership from the KBP?

Who will now regulate GMA considering that the industry has agreed on self-regulation? (they adopted on their own the Television Code while the Ad Board consists of industry representatives). If the network is no longer in the family of the Ad Board, it can commit any violation it wants, and will be answerable only to the MTRCB. But the more severe backlash of its decision to pull out will come from the advertising industry, the bread and butter of the television industry.

Already, some ad agencies have already been asking what guarantees do they have that their rights will be protected and that they will not be shortchanged by GMA 7. At present, the only VHF TV station which is not a member of KBP is Channel 4, not because it does not want to, but because the rules of the industry prohibit the airing of shows dealing with gambling (lotto). In wanting more in terms of commercial load, GMA 7 may end losing more.

Notes :

1. NBN won't have interference with ABC Ch. 47 and GEM TV Ch 49 since ISDB-T uses OFDM modulation.

2. There are unknown frequencies for some networks to operate DTV.

I can't tell it since most of them are under preparation and they may subject to change.

I just gave 18 channels but in reality, it is around 20.

AKTV on IBC-13 Launch updates

June 2, 2011 at 12:47pm

MANILA, Philippines - Nabili na ba ni Manny V. Pangilinan ang IBC-13? Parang walang kaingay-ingay kung totoo mang bahagi na ng business mogul ang matagal nang sequestered na network. Napanood kasi namin ang laban ng team Smart Gilas sa ongoing FIBA tournament sa Channel 13. Tapos, nakalagay ang logo na Sports 5 sa araw-araw na game kaya naman naisip naming pag-aari na ni MVP ang network.

Eh nabasa rin namin sa sports news na tanging ang TV5 ang nag-bid upang makuha ang rights ng PBA sa telebisyon. Kung isasalpak pa sa regular programming ng TV5 ang PBA games, paano na ang alagang show ni Willie Revillame? Alangan namang maitsapuwera 'yun dahil lang sa basketball 'di ba?

Naghahanap pa ng mga bagong empleyado ang IBC-13 na pina-flash nila parati sa mga shows nila. Kung bahagi na nga ng Singko ang Trese, well and good para higit pang sumigla ang TV industry! (Pilipino Star Ngayon)

IBC 13, paghaharian na rin ni Manny Pangilinan!

IBA talaga ang arrive ng isa sa pinakamadadatung na negosyante ng makabagong panahon, si Mr. Manny Pangilinan.

Say n'yo? He's been able to buy the network owned by Mr. Tony 'Boy' Cojuangco and right now, he'll soon be taking over IBC 13 with a big bang!

This one we've gathered from source whose credibility is infinitely beyond reproach. Hahaha!

Dati-rati, nagetlag ng well-connected businessman ang PLDT, ang SUN, ang TV5 at iba pang mga negosyo with a minimal of effort.

Lately, nakuha na niya ang 6 to 11 in the evening na timeslot ng IBC 13 and pretty soon, pati raw ang 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. slot ay makukuha na rin niya.

Pabolosa, di ba naman, Bubonika? Hahahaha!

But I'm sure, Mr. Pangilinan is not going to commit the same blunder of letting Ferminatex host one of the shows that they would be producing for IBC 13. Hahaha!

Nakasisiguro akong they would be getting new and talented hosts and not the antiquated host of many flop shows at TV5. Hakhakhak!

Anyway, the employees of IBC 13 are now luxuriating in their newfound opulence.

Kung dati-rati'y hand-to-mouth existence ang drama nila, ngayon ay sitting pretty na lang sila dahil sa rami ng anda. Hahahaha!

Ang nakadi-depress lang, tigbakers na siyempre ang maliliit na show producers sa nasabing network dahil dominated na ito ng influencial at super rich na si Mr. Pangilinan.

To Ferminatex, don't have the baseless and utterly unfounded delusion that you'll be given another show at Channel 13, Lola. You're a goner and a stale meat in as far as the TV 5 people are concerned. Hahahahaha!

Mag-blocktime ka na lang kaya sa mga religious network, lola. I'm sure na tatanggapin ka nila with open arms. Hahahahahaha!

Tulfos blame FG for TV show's demise

June 16, 2011 at 4:51pm

HARD-HITTING journalist Ramon Tulfo and his brothers Raffy and Erwin yesterday cried foul over the cancellation of their TV show on RPN-9—a government-owned station—allegedly upon the orders of First Gentleman Mike Arroyo.

The Tulfo brothers said the station had informed them that their block-time contract for their Saturday public affairs program “Isumbong Mo (Tulfo Brothers),” would no longer be renewed once it lapses on Aug. 12.

“The official reason they gave us was that they were reprogramming. What we can’t understand is why only our program was excluded from the lineup,” said Tulfo, who also writes a column for the Inquirer. He added that the show had been rating well and was also getting enough revenues from commercials. “In fact, Isumbong Mo has the highest rating among the local shows on RPN-9,” Tulfo said.

According to him, a “big personality”—whom he later identified as Arroyo—was behind the nonrenewal of the contract, purportedly out of anger over his exposés on the alleged smuggling activities of Arroyo’s rumored mistress, Victoria Toh. The Inquirer columnist had written a series of reports quoting Bureau of Customs sources about Toh’s alleged control over the agency.

At a press conference yesterday, the Tulfos said Arroyo had “advised” RPN-9 not to air their show for a second season. Tulfo said Arroyo had asked RPN-9 executives to stop the airing of the first season, but the station could not do so because the contract had already been signed.

The program, an offshoot of Tulfo’s “Isumbong Mo Kay Tulfo” TV show, began airing in May, and is covered by a three-month block-time contract worth P720,000.

“Just yesterday (Tuesday), I resigned from my radio program on dwlZ because the station was also starting to feel the pressure,” he claimed.

Erwin and Raffy, meanwhile, urged Arroyo to patch things up with their brother, since many people were being affected, especially those who wanted to seek the brothers’ help through their TV program.

Dozens of people who said they had been helped by the Tulfos turned up at the press conference to express support for the brothers. They carried placards condemning what they said was an attack on press freedom.

GMA-7'S STATION ID: UNWAVERING FAITH IN THE PINOY

MANILA, APRIL 16, 2007By Bot Glorioso - Simple, yet meaningful; short but unforgettable. These best describe the new GMA 7's station ID as it touches on the unwavering faith and undying perseverance of every Filipino aspiring for a better life.

The six-man team behind the network's station ID created a concept that would clearly impart the network's aim of becoming part of every Filipino's life — his success or failure, glory or downfall.

"GMA, for several years, surpassed various challenges and emerged as the leading TV station. That's why the network has become a Kapuso of every televiewer as it understands his struggles to reach success," creative team head Regie Bautista says.

GMA initially used a rainbow beside its logo as a sign that the TV station caters to people from different walks of life. And because it wanted to show televiewers that it shares their feelings — both happy or sad — the TV station used the slogan "Where you belong."

Since GMA became known as the Kapuso network, it continued its commitment of reaching out to different levels of society by listening and understanding televiewers.

The creative team decided to retain the original melody of the first Kapuso station ID Louie Ocampo created four years ago. Its lyrics were enhanced with Mon Faustino's guidance to reflect the network's deeper relationship with its viewers.

GMA personalities — from the News and Public Affairs to sitcoms to noontime show and to musical variety shows — have come together on one stage to sing the theme of the network that speaks not just about the TV station but uplifts the spirit of televiewers as well.

Regine Velasquez, Jaya, Ogie Alcasid and Janno Gibbs led the stars in singing the channel's theme song in the video shoot.

"The theme of Kapuso is somewhat more universal. It reminds everybody that we all have struggles, that we can all survive them together. The new station ID is more inspiring compared to the one that came before it, since it introduces the network as one in the heart of every televiewer," offers Regine who sang the first Kapuso station ID.

Jaya adds that one could have goose bumps upon hearing the new song.

"One could feel the message of the song and it's good to know that a network as competitive as GMA is there for everyone. A Kapuso," Jaya says.

A video showing vignettes about life's milestones will be shown while stars sing in the background.

"We shot on location what normally happens to us like starting a family, earning a living either through farmlands, in buildings as construction worker, or as a workforce in an office set-up," Regie says.

Director Paul Ticzon handled the rigorous two-day shoot in Laguna, Manila and some parts of Quezon City.

"I ironed out all the details needed to effectively convey the message of deepening our relationship with the viewers," says Direk Paul. He is the same guy who helmed the teasers of GMA shows like Lupin, Asian Treasures and Super Twins.

Direk Louie Ignacio, on the other hand, guided the GMA stars on the big stage in singing the theme using high definition cameras.

"I make sure all of them get equal exposure. Imagine having over 200 stars on one stage," he says.

The two-minute Kapuso station ID started airing yesterday.

PLDT REVIVES BID TO ACQUIRE MAJORITY STAKE IN GMA-7

MANILA, January 6, 2004 (STAR) By Mary Ann Li. Reyes - More than two years after it pulled out of an agreement to buy a majority stake in GMA Broadcasting Corp., telecommunications giant Philippine Long Distance Telephone Co. (PLDT) has renewed its interest in the country's second biggest television company and is planning to make a new offer, this time through its wireless subsidiary Smart Communications, Inc.

Highly placed sources told The STAR yesterday that Smart will be making an offer to acquire a majority stake in GMA-7 that will be very hard for the owners to refuse. GMA is owned by the Jimenezes (35 percent), Duavits (35 percent) and Gozons (30 percent). The same sources revealed that Smart wants to close a deal before May this year.

"With the huge revenues Smart is expected to make this year, financing the acquisition of GMA 7 will not even make a dent on its finances," the source said.

It will be recalled that on Feb. 8, 2001, PLDT signed an agreement with GMA Network to acquire a 66 percent stake in the broadcasting network for P8.5 billion. Later in the year, however, PLDT had to withdraw from the memorandum of understanding due to concerns raised by its creditors over some $1.3 billion in loans that will mature in 2002 to 2004. Despite due diligence investigations, PLDT and GMA did not arrive at a purchase agreement.

At that time, PLDT dangled the promise that it was merely "deferring" acquisition and that it would resume negotiations when the economy improves.

The plan in 2001 was for Mediaquest Holdings Inc. to be PLDT's vehicle in the acquisition of GMA. PLDT may and in the execution of PLDT's convergence strategy. Mediaquest, a PLDT subsidiary, owns Home Cable Inc., through Unilink Communications Corp. It also holds a controlling interest in Nation Broadcasting Corp. or NBC which operates a network of 30 radio stations. Convergence basically meant that PLDT will have control of both content (which will be produced by GMA) and the means of transporting this content.

But even after the whole deal was set aside in 2001, PLDT insiders said that Pangilinan never really abandoned his wish for the telecom company to own a television network.

On the part of the owners of GMA, company insiders told The STAR that GMA chairman Felipe Gozon has always said that they are willing to sell at the right price. But GMA is expected to increase its asking price from the P8.5 billion agreed upon in 2001 considering the profits it made last year.

GMA earlier announced that it plans to go public and to list its shares in the stock exchange this year to raise funds for its expansion program. GMA, sources, however said another major reason is that some of the company's loans are falling due soon.

New capital infusion for GMA is also deemed necessary, especially with its rival in the industry already armed with enough ammunition for the tough TV war looming ahead. Associated Broadcasting Corp. (ABC 5) was recently acquired by a group led by former PLDT chairman Antonio "Tonyboy" Cojuangco and sources close to Cojuangco revealed that the latter is willing to spend to make ABC 5 a major player in the ratings game.

GMA7 NETWORK EYES INTERNATIONAL MARKET

Quezon City, April 28, 2003 -- In the race for broadcast supremacy, GMA Network Inc., the country's second largest TV network, is setting its sights on the international market this year to build a growing presence in Asia and across the globe. Felipe Yalong, senior vice-president for the corporate services group of GMA-7, said the broadcast firm is confident it has the capacity to go international after establishing a strong foothold in the Philippine market. "We are now discussing the costs and the timing.

It won't be as big as we planned. It really depends on the opportunity that becomes available. Hopefully, we'll have something by the end of the year," Yalong said. Yalong said the company is targeting to penetrate the United States market, initially and thereafter, in other parts of the world where there are large concentration of Filipinos.

The network is exploring ventures such as selling local programs abroad or co-producing with foreign television players to establish GMA 7's presence in the global arena. An analyst from a local brokerage firm said partnerships and co-productions would be cheaper since these will not require substantial investments. GMA-7 is also looking into marketing its soap operas in other countries, with the programs dubbed in the country's local language. Yalong said the broadcast firm has earmarked P20 million for investments this year.

This is apart from the P204-million capital budget programmed this year for maintenance requirements. Aiming to unseat its chief rival from the top spot, ABS-CBN Broadcasting Corp., GMA would continue focusing on its programs and strengthening its provincial coverage and its international distribution signal to provide a clearer reception. Over the last two years, GMA has always been one step ahead of its competition. At the end of 2002, GMA has narrowed the gap with its biggest rival in overall ratings to one percentage point as most of its programs have either closed in, tied, or taken the lead in their respective time slots.

GMA had also taken a bite off its competitor's share of the advertising pie as advertisers shifted their preference to the more cost-efficient GMA programs. It noted that there has been tremendous growth in advertising sales for news and public affairs programs. The network also expanded its production capability and produced soap operas that also pushed up its ratings. Believing that the strength of GMA has always been in its news and public affairs programming, the network is determined to improve its infrastructure in key areas outside Metro Manila. If the market shows signs of recovery, GMA would pursue an initial public offering to raise capital for its expansion plans, which would include creating more studios, modernizing equipment, and penetrating the international market. Gaining the momentum in the network competition, GMA-7 reported a big turnaround in its financial performance during the first quarter this year. From a net loss of P600,000 last year, the company registered a net income of P164 million.

Gross airtime revenues, on the other hand, grew by 65 percent from P722 million in the first three months of 2002 to P1.2 billion this year. At the end of last year, GMA-7's net income amounted to P406 million, 34 percent higher than the 2001 figure while gross airtime revenues reached P4.2 billion, 21 percent better than the previous level.

GMA-7 expects to sustain its remarkable performance as it continues to introduce more innovative programs, upgrade its facilities and expand into the international market. (By Zinnia B. Dela Peña, Star)

f. Brief History

- The People's Television Network, Incorporated, traces its roots to a fledgling TV facility GTV-4 (Government TV 4) created in 1974 through a Presidential Decree during the martial law regime.
- In 1980, As the broadcast arm of the National Media Production Center, the station was renamed Maharlika Broadcasting System (MBS). Also in the year, they converted into Color TV, the last TV network to do so.
- Following the People Power Revolution in 1986, it was renamed People's Television 4 (PTV) became noted for its 4 logos from 1986 to 1987 and from 1987 to 1995.
- PTV-4 became a government corporation in early 1992 by virtue of Republic Act 7306 signed by President Corazon C. Aquino. Its official name is People's Television Network Inc. (PTNI). Shortly after he took over the mantle of government in June 1992, President Fidel V. Ramos appointed PTV Network's first board of directors. The Network was given a one-time equity funding for capital outlay. Since 1992, PTV has been operating on revenues it generates on its own. Republic Act 7306 stipulates that the government shall not appropriate funds for the operations of the Network.
- On July 16, 2002, under the new management appointed by President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo, PTNI adopted a new call sign, the National Broadcasting Network (NBN), in line with its re-launched programming thrusts and imaging; They continues the new name until the Aquino Administration in 2010.
- As specified in its Charter, the PTNI does not receive a regular subsidy from the government. It generates revenue for its overhead operating expenses through advertising and sale of airtime. Its Charter provides an authorized capital stock of P1Billion divided into P1Million shares with par value of One Thousand Pesos per share, which shall be subscribed in full by the Government. The One Billion Pesos equity was appropriated by Congress and released to the Network from 1992 to 2008 through the General Appropriations Act.
- But as specified in its Charter, the Network had to stop airing commercial advertisements since July 2001, nine years after its incorporation. To augment its operational requirements, PTNI has received government subsidies released as needed based on requests made by the Network from the National Government.
- A major technological breakthrough in 1992 was the Network's acquisition of transmitters, ENG equipment, satellite receivers, studio and lighting facilities through the 2nd and 3rd French Protocol. The transmission and production capability of the Network's flag station, Channel 4 in Quezon City, was upgraded and the number of its provincial stations nationwide was increased.
- In 1992, the Network was able to build its building and tower in Visayas Avenue, Quezon City through the support of President Corazon C. Aquino and assistance from government agencies such as the Philippine Information Agency and the Department of Agriculture. The construction of the News Building was completed in 2005. The renovation and upgrading of the Main Transmitter Building and the construction of the Engineering and Provincial Building were completed in 2009
- A major technological breakthrough in 1992 was the Network's acquisition of transmitters, ENG equipment, satellite receivers, studio and lighting facilities through the 2nd and 3rd French Protocol upgrading the transmission and production capability of its flag station and increasing the number of its provincial stations nationwide.

- PTNI takes pride in its many technological firsts: the first television network to use all-solid-state transmitters in its provincial stations with power ranging from 1 to 10kw; first to convert its satellite transmission to digital compression; first to use serial digital video system in its Quezon City studios; the first to have the famous Getris-Venice video graphics and paint systems incorporated in its digital studios; the first to use layering technology in video production and one of the first television stations with computerized news operations in the Philippines using the BASYS Computer System.
- The PTNI takes pride in having pioneered in educational, cultural and children's programming. Some of its award-winning programs were Tele-aralan ng Kakayahan, Ating Alamin, Batibot, For Art's Sake, Coast to Coast, and Paco Park Presents. The Network made its mark in educational programming through its Continuing Education via Television (CONSTEL), a series of telecourses aimed at upgrading the content knowledge and teaching skills of elementary and secondary teachers of Science and English. These telecourses continue to be used in teacher training by the Regional and Divisional Leader Schools of the Department of Education and in Teacher Education Institutions of the Commission on Higher Education.
- News and public affairs programs are the core of the Network's programming. The news program, "Teledyaryo", adopt the concept of a "newspaper on television" featuring segments commonly featured in newspapers.
- PTNI has been the official broadcaster of major international sports competitions. It has covered the Olympic Games starting 1988 with the Seoul Olympics in South Korea missing only the 1992 Barcelona Olympics in Spain. The Network received a presidential citation from then President Fidel V. Ramos for its successful coverage of the 1996 Atlanta Olympic Games in the USA. It also covered and aired the 2000 Sydney Olympic Games in Australia and the 2004 Athens Olympics in Greece.
- PTNI was the carrying station of the South East Asian Games from 1991 to 2007. It managed the International Broadcast Center (IBC) of the 1981, 1991 and the 2005 SEA Games held in Manila.
- The Network has earned for itself the Hall of Fame Award from the Catholic Mass Media Award for Best Station and for Most Balanced Programming in 1999 for consistently receiving the said award for three (3) consecutive years (1987-89). In 1996, PTV won the award for Best TV Station ID in the PMPC Star Awards for Television.
- As of March 31, 2011, the PTNI has a personnel complement of 454 of which 332 are permanent, temporary and contractual employees while 122 are on contract of service status.

g. Local and Global Reach

- PTNI is on full satellite transmission nationwide since 1992 using PALAPA C2 and is now using ABS5 (formerly Agila2). Its flag station, PTNI Channel 4 in Quezon City, operates on a brand new 60-kilowatt transmitter sitting on a 550-foot tower. Before the year 2010, NBN main studios in Quezon City and its regional stations in Baguio, Cebu and Naga will be equipped with the most modern news gathering equipment for them to compete with the major television networks. Also, a new Harris Transmitter has been installed. NBN's transmitter power shall be increased from 40 kW to 60 kW. NBN's digital channel is now available on channel 48 using the Japanese digital TV standard.
- The Network has 26 broadcasting stations duly licensed by the National Telecommunications Commission (NTC) and 800 cable affiliates. However, only 20 stations are presently on-air while 6 stations still have to acquire a transmitter for transmission operations. Of the 20 operational stations, 6 are being operated by the Local Government Units; the network has also extended its reach and coverage to approximately 85 percent of the television viewing public nationwide.

- The PTNI started its global broadcast reach in 2003 with the launching of NBN World in cooperation with the Television and Radio Broadcasting Service (TARBS). This global expansion signalled new directions for PTNI as it became accessible to the rest of the world, particularly the millions of Filipinos overseas.
- In 2011, NBN continued to enhance its digital broadcasting capabilities with equipment donated from the Japanese government. This equipment will also allow NBN to begin broadcasting emergency alerts when necessary (similar to the Emergency Alert System in the United States, but it is more likely, due to the usage of the Japanese digital TV standard, that the system would be based on the Japanese J-Alertsystem).
- Today, PTNI programs are seen worldwide via Glocal Media Network and the direct-to-home satellite of Dish Network, in Eastern Canada (via Rogers Cable and IPQube), in Africa (via DTH provider). PTNI rode on the power and potential of web 2.0, launching its own real-time live streaming and video-on-demand website (www.ptni.tv), making its programs free and accessible to all anywhere and anytime.

GMA Network's (History/Timeline/Milestones)

October 17, 2010 at 5:04am

1950

- March 1: Loreto F. De Hemedes, Inc. is born when its owner/american war correspondent Robert "Bob" Stewart sends the first static-marred newscast of radio station dzBB from a makeshift studio on the 4th floor of the Calvo Building in Escolta.
- Those were lean times, Stewart recounted in an interview. "It was murder. All our equipment were begged or borrowed. There was hardly any advertising." To save his floundering station and sustain its operations, Stewart and his wife Loreto, a Pampanguena widow with three kids, put up a bakery in the garage of their Quezon City home. Even then, Stewart knew he had something potentially big in his hand -- the power to use the air to link Filipino households together.

"We didn't know anything about television, not even which camera was on air," admitted the visionary who later came to be known as Uncle Bob. "Everyone was a director because we didn't have any directors in the first place. ## Kung buhay lang sana sila... <ni Admin-11 Cho Man Jae>

October 7, 2011 at 11:21pm

Kung buhay lang sana si Tita Helen Vela, 30 taon na ang Lovingly Yours at isa na siya sa mga pillars ng GMA News.

Kung buhay lang sana si Ate Julie Vega, isa na siya marahil sa mga tinitingalang aktres sa telebisyon, pelikula at OPM scene. At siya rin ang PRIMETIME QUEEN.

Kung buhay lang sana si Ate Halina Perez, isa na siya sana sa mga pinakamahusay na aktres na may magandang mukha sa pelikula at telebisyon.

Kung buhay lang sana si Tita Selena Quintanilla, marahil kahanay siya nina Jennifer Lopez, Britney Spears, atbp.

Kung buhay lang sana si Tita Inday Badiday, marahil puro light showbiz news stories lang ang napapanood o napapakinggan, at di puro blind items.

Kung buhay lang sana si Kuya Marky Cielo, siya na ang susunod na Robin Padilla.

Kung buhay lang sana si Tito Ronnie (FPJ), siya na ang 15th president of our republic (pang-16 si PNoy).

Kung buhay lang sana si Kuya Rico Yan, asawa na sana siya ni Ate Claudine, at isa na siya sa mga tinitingalang aktor.

Kung buhay lang sana si Kuya Miko Sotto, marahil walang Phil si Angel.

Kung buhay lang sana si Kuya AJ Perez, marahil nakahakot na siya ng mga awards, isa siya sa mga tinitingalang aktor, matinee idol, superstar of the new generation.

Marami pa silang magagawa pero, huli na ang lahat nung magwakas ang buhay nila sa mundong ibabaw. Kaya sana, wag nating kaligtaan na ipanalangin silang lahat. Mahal namin kayong lahat, sumalangit nawa ang inyong mga kaluluwa.

OFF-TOPIC: Balik TV5 ang Bitag. Mula late-2002 'til early-2004 pinalabas ang Bitag sa ABC 5, tapos lumipat na nga sa IBC 13 until October 7, 2011 (natapos na ang kontrata ng BST Tri-Media sa IBC, pero pinapalabas pa din nila yung reruns tuwing Fridays after NT13). Mamaya yan after Aksyon Journalism.

remember yung (2002?) commercial ng Likas Papaya Soap na laging napapanood sa Eat Bulaga?

nagkaroon kasi ng spoof sa Bubble Gang. yan yata ang spoof ng isang kilalang male sexy star (nakalimutan ang pangalan).

ang naalala kong spoof ng Likas was Lakas Papaya, sa Ispup (dating show sa TV5) naman yun. Sina Selina Sevilla at Jon Santos pa ang nag-spoof nun. Tapos kinain nila yung sabon, ginawang dessert. Tawa ako nang tawa dun.

kahit na Christian Network ang GMA, naging official broadcaster pa rin sila ng Papal Visit nung 1995; pati na rin ang mga Holy Week, Christmas at New Year events from Vatican na pinapalabas na ng Sunday midnight or Monday morning. Pati na rin ang beatification kay Blessed (Saint-to be) John Paul II nung May 1 ay binigay ng GNTV ang primetime programming nila by that day for Blessed JP2.

official Anime Authority an GMA7 mula 1999 hanggang 2002, d na mabilang ang mga anime na ipinalabas dito, una siguro sa listahan ang most popular anime series based on fangirls ay ang GUNDAM WING (side comment, isa ako sa die-hard fans ng anime na ito for one hell good reason : Trowa Barton at ang kanyang hairdo, naiintriga ako kung ano ang ginamit niya, hehehe!!!).

yes way back in 2001 pero ang Gundam Wing ang tingin ko ang pinakamagandang anime na naipalabas sa GMA7, kung susuriin ang paraan ng dubbing, karamihan ng mga binitiwang linya na isinalin sa Filipino ay parang vulgar sa aking opinyon, check the ep where Heero threaten Relena, i think it's ep 1 or 2.

Noong 2009 si Sarah Lahbati ay sumali sa starstruck V at naging ulimate female survivor siya at naging cast siya sa little star as Paula then time of my life naman as Pia at ung mag commercial parodies nila! un ang fave ko dun!

Btw d ba Aiko Melendez was part of the original BG, bakit siya nawala sa show?

Nung 1986, bumalik si Helen Vela sa GMA-7 matapos ma-sequester ang crony-controlled na BBC-2. Sa kanyang pagbabalik sa 7, ay naging anchorwoman siya ng GMA Balita (naging katapat sila ng Mga Balita Ngayon sa resurrected ABS-CBN na tumagal nang ilang buwan at napalitan agad ng TV Patrol), at bumalik uli sa ere ang kanyang drama-advice program na Lovingly Yours, na lumipat sa BBC at DWOK 101.9 nung 1984.

at mga soap opera ng TAPE, Inc. like heredero

co-host of Vilma Santos' show Vilma! in 1989

then he is also the anchor of GMA Network News English edition in 1992

former Anchor ng Newscentral sa Studio 23 at The Correspondents sa ABS-CBN dati din syang isang commercial model.. now sa 700 club na siya

noong 2006 po yun admin and it was hosted by alfred vargas and diana zubiri... i think parang extra challenge ata ang format ng show nila eh; ang ganda nun bat di nagtagal

Si Dong Puno ay nag-interview Kay Vilma Santos sa Viewpoint dahil sa pagkapanalo ng Hall of Fame Award sa FAMAS noong 1990

Sinu-sino ang mga hosts ng Dating GMA Morning Program na Good Morning Asia?

Mon Isberto

Ang Hokus Pokus (HP: Ibang Level To!) ay nag-reformatted mula sa pagiging sitcom at naging Reality Show noong 2006.

Anu-ano ang mga religious programs na nagere sa GMA?

Ecclesia in Asia: Asia

Pasugo: Ang Tinig ng Iglesia ni Cristo

Jesus Miracle Crusade

ZOE-Produced programs like Jesus the Healer, Diyos at Bayan, etc.

700 Club International

dati eh yung sa inc sa pagkakaalam ko. tpos yung mga misa kapag sunday mornings...
yung other religious programs na ipinalabas sa GMA 7 tuwing holy week meron yun eh.cathedral of praise

ano ang unang show ni Dennis Trillo sa GMA7 after nang lumipat mula sa Star Magic ng ABS-CBN?

kahit kailan tuwing sunday (yung sunday soap opera noon sa GMA 7)

oo nga pala kahit kailan pala ang una nyang show yong , next season na sina sunshine dizon ang bida

Noong 2010, Si Bela Padilla ay naging cast ng Endless Love bilang Yumi then naging bida naman siya sa Machete as Rosella then sa sisid naging Kontrabida ang role niya

Sina Teddy Benigno at Oscar Orbos ay ang mga hosts ng 90s GMA Public Affairs program na Firing Line yung firing line ata yan yung pinalitan ng i-witness na nagsimula naman noong 1999 (possibly) correction: si Mareng Winnie Monsod yon, yung co-host ni Teddy Benigno sa Firing Line.

Noong December 6, 1999, Ang Unang Hirit ay ang kauna-unahang Taglish Morning Show sa GMA.

diba ang Mornings@GMA, tagalog din sila? Yung Unang Hirit, pinantapat sa ASYM pero nung mawala na yung MUP nung 2007, sila na ang nagmana ng trono ng longest-running morning show. I remember ung mga past hosts ng UH na kasama nina Igan, Lyn, Suzi and Rhea were Mickey Ferriols, Martin Andanar (siya ang original anchor ng Unang Balita), and Eagle and Ryan Agoncillo also.

dating kapuso na yan si Ryan Agoncillo since 1999 then lumipat siya sa ABS-CBN noong 2001 then noong 2009 nang bumalik si Ryan Agoncillo sa kapuso network in GMA's noontime variety show Eat Bulaga at certified kapuso dabarkads na siya. di pa orig sina lyn ching rhea santos at drew arellano sa uh, sina mickey ferriols , miriam quiambao at ryan agoncillo ang ilan sa pioneers

noong 2008 si Kylie Padilla ay naging cast ng Joaquin Bordado then noong 2011 ay naging cast na din siya ng Tween Hearts,Dwarfina at naging bida pa siya sa Blusang Itim she won BEST NEW FEMALE PERSONALITY in 2008 dahil sa Joaquin Bordado!!!

Late night viewing and locally produced shows defined the 1980s, with GMA Supershow, Vilma!, FPJ sa GMA and Penthouse Live setting the trend.

Si JM Reyes ay Alumni siya ng StarStruck Kids noong 2004.

Noong 1987, Si Louie Beltran ay sumama sa GMA bilang host ng Straight from the Shoulder Guys, bakit wala nang Ecclesia in Asia (Kadiwa sa Pagkapari Foundation, Inc.) dun sa GMA, at saka, bakit wala nang ineere ng Sunday mass dun sa GMA, kasi Christian TV network sila or madami pa talaga na tulog pa, or what?

kasi po sabi ni MSGR. SABINO VENGCO yung pari na nagmimisa sa ECCLESIA IN ASIA ay wala na raw po silang pambayad sa airtime ng programa nila kaya yun inalis na po nila. it's because na wala nang commercials. naretiro lang si Msgr. Sabino Vengco noong 2011, at yan ang dahilan ng pagtatapos sa ere ng nasabing misa.

Matapos ang Expiration ng Kontrata ng Geebees noong 1984, ang Germespesyal na naging GMA Supershow oo dahil hindi sumunod si kuya germs sa bbc2, loyalty ang pinairal

Channel 4's glory days by Butch Francisco

December 3, 2011 at 3:53pm

Some five years prior to the declaration of martial law, the only stations were Channels 2, 5, 7, 9 and 13.

Then toward the '70s, ABS-CBN began to reconfigure its signal to give way to a sister network that was to become Channel 4.

By 1971, ABS-CBN Channel 4 was already in full commercial broadcast. It's pre-primetime program was a game show called Premyo sa Kuwatro, hosted by Maya Valdes (she is Mitch today).

Around this time, the nightly variety series Oras ng Ligaya on Channel 2 had already been cancelled and in its place was On With the Show and the hosts were Baby O'Brien and Manolo Favis.

Eventually, Ms. O'Brien was taken out of the program and was given her own — Wow Generation on Channel 4 that competed directly against On With the Show.

On primetime were weekly sitcoms — Mission: Patok (every Monday), Ala Eh! Buhay Maynila (every Friday) and Wanted: Boarders (every Saturday).

Channel 4 also aired one of the finest drama anthologies on local television: Salaghati that featured different female stars late Saturday evening.

It was a thriving network, except that it was killed at infancy by Ferdinand Marcos' martial law in September 1972.

There was no Channel 4 from the time martial law was declared in September 1972 till toward the end of that decade.

Channel 9 had taken over the facilities of ABS-CBN that housed two TV networks (Channels 2 and 4) and seven radio stations. RPN-9 remained the only operating TV station from September to December of that year. Before 1972 could end, Channel 7 was reopened — with a slew of former ABS-CBN programs resurfacing there with the same format and cast, but with a different title. For instance, Wanted: Boarders became Boarding House. Shortly after, Channels 2 and 13 also became operational.

In 1978, Broadcast City was completed and BBC-2, RPN-9 and IBC-13 all moved there. Despite the fact that all three networks were controlled by Marcos and his cronies, an official government station had to be put up. This became Channel 4 that initially had its home base in Arroceros in Manila.

By 1980, Channel 4 had moved to the ABS-CBN complex along Bohol Ave. (now Sgt. Esguerra). It shared the compound with the National Media Production Center.

Channel 4 that time had an impressive lineup of programs. There was this consumerism program hosted by Nanette Franco-Dyco and Julie Amargo that was put up by the Kapisanan ng mga Mamimiling Pilipino, Inc. or KMPI. This afternoon show addressed the complaints of consumers who had bought defective goods.

Another public service program was the Damayan of Rosa Rosal, who was the original female host of Kapwa Ko, Mahal Ko on Channel 7.

A delight to watch was Cecile B. Garrucho's Tele-aralan, which gave viewers on-air lessons on how to develop or hone further their skills. And so they brought in a headwaiter from the Manila Hotel and he taught the art of table-setting for those who wanted to open a catering business. Of course, there were countless sessions on handicraft-making and basically how to become your own handyman around the house.

To give the public some culture, Channel 4 aired Paco Park Presents (Fridays) and Concert at the Park (Sundays) that was annotated by Tina Monzon-Palma. Never mind that she was with Channel 7 that time. This was the era before the network wars and the time when anchors had impeccable diction and spoke flawless English.

Given this kind of programming, it was understandable that advertisers stayed away from Channel 4. TV is the business of making money. Even in those more civilized times, Filipinos already shied away from entertainment programs with substance.

But what gravely affected the network's ratings was the fact that programming was pre-empted every time Marcos felt an itch to come out on TV. Tele-aralan may have developed regular following, but would lose it because Marcos and his speeches would interrupt the show and may linger for as long as an hour.

This network had been screwed big-time because it was used as a tool for government propaganda. Sometimes Marcos would also cut into the rest of the networks (Channel 7 had always been the rebellious one — the first, in fact, to fight dictatorship). But the Broadcast City stations still had it easier than Channel 4. Channels 2, 9 and 13 would be allowed to resume regular programming, but not the official government network. Marcos could have been on Channel 4 the whole day and no one from the station could complain.

In 1981, when studio coffers were practically empty, there was an attempt to commercialize Channel 4. It was called Maharlika Broadcasting System or MBS-4. Studio executives also tried to sell to advertisers by making some of the shows more commercially viable. (It only made money when it was the carrying station of PBA.)

They put up a sitcom, for instance, called Dorm Po sa Amin that starred Lloyd Samartino, Cherie Gil and Bambi Arambulo. The format was obviously copied from Three's Company and not surprisingly flopped in the ratings game.

There was also this noontime show called Con-Todo Pakulo they pitted against Student Canteen and Eat, Bulaga!. As expected, it didn't last long.

Strangely enough, the one lunchtime fare the station produced that appealed to viewers went on air shortly before the EDSA revolution: The gag show Ito 'Yun, ang Galing! Led by Bernardo Bernardo, it featured a relatively unknown cast and among them was Ben Tisoy, the dark-skinned comedian, who was so talented I now wonder what become of him.

After the success of EDSA I, of course, there was a total overhauling. Lucky for Mel Tiangco and Korina Sanchez, who were both from MBS-4, they only had to cross corridors when ABS-CBN reopened and took in applicants. For a while, the two networks shared the same building until Channel 4 was relocated to its present site in Visayas Ave.

Channel 4 was again renamed People's Television or PTV-4. For a while, it had promise: Tina Palma was its news anchor no less. There were also shows that offered substance — like Gerry Geronimo's agricultural show Ating Alamin.

PTV-4, sadly, was dwarfed by the bigger privately-owned networks Channels 2 and 7. Even the sequestered Channels 9 and 13 did better economically.

Now called National Broadcast Network or NBN-4, it is hardly breathing. Let's hope that the bill filed by Sen. Loren Legarda to save Channel 4 is passed before the government network finally conks out.

- Negative and hate/bad questions and choices are prohibited and not allowed
- Do not post unrelated questions and choices
- No repeating of questions and choices
- NO futuristic questions and choices
- Dahan-dahanin nyo lang ang paglagay po ng mga choices dyan sa mga correct questions nyo, at saka, huwag nyo pong mamali-maliin yung mga choices dyan sa mga correct questions nyo (ito, for example, yung Budoy, hindi po kasali dun sa Popular Child Star of 2011, kasi, ang Budoy, nandoon po siya sa Most Popular TV Show of 2011, hindi po naman talaga child star yan si Gerald Anderson eh, nasa 20s na talaga siya eh, ok.)
- Bawal din po ang maglagay ng mga choices about dun sa mga foreign personalities and TV channels dun po sa mga questions dun about dun sa Best in Pinoy TV (example, si Katie Couric, nilagay dun sa MOST ADMIREF FEMALE NEWS PERSONALITY ng 2011, alam naman talaga natin yan na si Katie Couric, hindi naman talaga sya COUNTED eh, at pati na rin sina Brian Williams at saka si Matt Lauer, hindi din talaga sila COUNTED dun sa Male News Personality Poll, kasi, yung mga yan, hindi talaga kilala sa masang Pinoy yan, eh, at saka, sa poll about MOST WATCHED TV STATION OR CHANNEL ng 2011, hindi po talaga kasali dun yung mga foreign TV channels such as YLE and CTV Canada, kasi, hindi po talaga sila counted, kasi, wala talaga tayong naririnig dun sa TV dito sa Pilipinas na meron ang mga iyan, and also, dun sa MOST WATCHED CABLE TV CHANNEL, i-post nyo lang talaga yung mga choices dun, kung ano talaga ang mga sikat na favorite cable TV channels ang pinapanood nyo dun, such as FOX, Animax and STAR World, pero, yung mga hindi sikat, such as KidsCo, CBeebies and Baby TV and also, Al Jazeera English, bahala kayo kung ilalagay nyo yang mga iyan o hindi, pero, yung mga channels na hindi carried dun sa mga cable provider dito sa Pilipinas, such as RTM1, VH1 and okto, huwag nyo talaga ilalagay yan kasi, hindi naman talaga counted yung mga yan, at saka, ok.)
- Bawal din po ang maglagay ng mga questions and choices about international TV.
- Bawal mag-post ng mga questions and choices na kalokohan (such as "justin bebe gandanghari" sa poll ng MOST POPULAR ACTRESS/PERSONALITY, and yung Philippine Fashion Ball sa poll na major news event of 2011 na gawa po ni Lian Las Pinas, hindi po talaga pwede yan, at saka, hindi namin talaga tatanggapin yan)

ABS-CBN and Phil.TV Timeline (1946-1972)

October 16, 2010 at 6:07pm

1946

- June 13: American electronics engineer James Lindenberg (December 20, 1921 - April 28, 2009), pioneer of Philippine TV, establishes the Bolinao Electronics Corporation (BEC), naming after the town of Bolinao in the northern Philippine province of Pangasinan--the hometown of Lindenberg's wife. Establishing itself as a radio manufacturing company, BEC involves in selling radio sets and local assembly of radio transmission equipment and manufacture of RCA equipment (transmitters, radio spare parts) for export abroad. BEC is the first media firm in the Philippines incorporated after the World War II.

1948

- 1st Quarter: Government policies on import controls of foreign radio equipment cause BEC to divert its resources into radio broadcasting.
- March 1: BEC sets up the Bolinao Broadcasting System (BBS) in San Juan in Rizal (now in Metro Manila); That time, the giant Philippine network was Manila Broadcasting, with DZRH as the top station.
- November 23: BEC opens its first radio station DZBC, with a wire tied to two mango trees atop a hill in Bolinao Warehouse, Little Baguio, San Juan as its first antenna.
- December: With the transmission of 1,000 kilohertz, BEC-DZBC airs variety shows. BEC-DZBC becomes the first station to broadcast dramas of the Procter and Gamble Company as it introduces its first drama production of Procter and Gamble as the first commercial serialized radio soap opera then, and becomes the closest competitor to MBC-DZRH. Lindenberg checks out the houses with radios blaring the BEC-DZBC broadcasts to determine the size of the station's audiences for advertisers' purposes--the crude measurement serving as precursor to the ratings.

1949

- BEC-DZBC shows Tawag ng Tanghalan/Call of the Stage, Doctor Selga, Prinsipe Amante/Prince Amante, Gulong ng Palad/Wheel of Fate(with the TV adaptation by BEC itself, now ABS-CBN, in 2006), Aklat ng Pag-Ibig/Book of Love, Ilaw ng Tahanan/Light of the Home and Camay Theater of the Air--some of them the first dramas of Procter and Gamble--become the first radio shows serving as vehicles for commercials.
- Lindenberg becomes the first to apply a franchise to operate a TV station from Philippine Congress.

1950

- University of Santo Tomas engineering student Jose Nicholas begins first attempt of a TV broadcast as an experiment.
- June 14: The Philippine Congress gives Lindenberg the franchise for what will be BEC Manila, the first TV station in the Philippines.

1950-1960

BEC airs

- the drama Flor de Luna (with its TV adaptation in the late 1970's this time on KBS/RPN starring Janice de Belen))

- the variety show Mahiwagang Kahon/Magic Box (hosted by Jaime dela Rosa)

1952

- The FEATI Institute of Technology conducts academic experiments with television.
- BEC becomes the first Philippine media station to establish a provincial radio station, as it launches 3 provincial radio stations--one in Davao, one in Dagupan (DZRI Radio Ilocos) and one in Naga.
- Judge Antonio Quirino, President Elpidio Quirino's brother, plans to ask a TV franchise from Congress but backs out due to charges of nepotism and instead buys 70% of BEC from Lindenberg.
- September: Though they had little money and resources, BEC changes into Alto Broadcasting System (ABS) after its new co-owners--Aleli (AL) and Tony (TO), the nickname of Judge Quirino. Lindenberg is still part owner, this time as ABS general manager.

THE STORY OF ABS-CBN's RESSURECTION

All through long years of the dictatorship, Geny and Jake Lopez had nursed the dream that Marcos would fall. They even dreamed ABS-CBN playing a key role in it, broadcasting to the nation to organize resistance. They knew their dream was far-fetched, but they cherished it nonetheless.

After four years in exile, Jake decided to help make it all happen somehow. In 1982, he tried to infiltrate back into the country from the south, through the Sabah backdoor. But he was intercepted by the Philippine Navy ship Rajah Humabon on October 25, 1982, off the coast of Sulu. Col. Rudy Aguinaldo, his adversary from his first spell in a military prison, wanted to interrogate him, but friendly military officers kept Jake away from him. He was held in a military prison for 15 months. Eventually released in February 1984, he became very active in the opposition.

In the meantime, Ninoy Aquino had been assassinated and the dictatorship was reeling. The economy began to melt down from a full-blown debt crisis. Inflation soared 50 percent and interest rates went to well over 40 percent. Most business activity ground to a halt under this pressure. The poor bore the brunt of the slowdown, and discontent spread across the nation. The country was in the grip of the worst economic and political crisis since World War II, and Ferdinand Marcos was slowly but inexorably losing his grip on power.

Jake Lopez, and Geny's brothers Oscar and Manolo Lopez talked often about strategy and, at one point, decided to revive the cause of ABS-CBN. Oscar said: "Jake Lopez said to me that we had to continue to fight and get back ABS-CBN. By that time, we felt we really had to do something to take part in the struggle against Marcos. So that was what brought about my letter to Benedicto."

On December 19, 1984, Oscar Lopez wrote to Roberto Benedicto to "demand that you vacate our Broadcast Center on Bohol Avenue and allow our 22 provincial radio and television stations by January 19, 1985." Oscar ended his letter with: "We reserve the right to take at the appropriate time such actions or measures as may be called for to recover the damages we have suffered as a result of your actions."

On December 27, 1984, Exequiel Garcia, comptroller of Kanlaon Broadcasting System (KBS), wrote to Oscar. Garcia claimed that the Broadcast Center had been "sequestered" by government and, therefore, KBS bore no responsibility for what happened to ABS-CBN. Garcia wrote: "You will have to keep up your demands with the government." The government, for its part, ignored the Lopezes, completely.

This was only to be expected. Oscar and Jake knew the December 1984 letter was a bluff. In a country where the judiciary was in one man's pocket, there was no chance of the Lopez family receiving justice for the theft of ABS-CBN. But they felt that, even if their letter brought no response from the regime, simply disseminating the truth about what happened to ABS-CBN would be victory enough.

On January 10, 1985, Oscar Lopez had a well-attended press conference at Club Filipino in San Juan demanding the return of ABS-CBN. Neither Benedicto nor Marcos made any response, but the facts about ABS-CBN received a good deal of publicity in the aftermath—pushed along by a series of articles by Jake. The story of the seizure of ABS-CBN joined a number of recent exposés that chipped away at the myth that Marcos had built around himself. The Washington Post and the New York Times had exposed Marcos's fake war medals, and other investigators were not focusing on the Marcoses' ill-gotten wealth that had been hidden away abroad. The theft of an entire network only underlined the real character of his regime.

Fourteen months after Oscar sent that letter to Benedicto, Jake Lopez would indeed find a "measure" with which to recover ABS-CBN.

The journey to revolution began on November 3, 1985. For over two years, Marcos had been helpless as the economy crumbled, weakened by years of plunder by his family and cronies. In an attempt to silence his critics and reclaim a popular mandate, Marcos went on the American ABC-TV show "This Week with David Brinkley" and announced a snap presidential election. The polls were set for February 7, 1986. The wily old politico counted on the opposition being unable to field a single candidate. Running against a divided field, Marcos expected an easy victory.

He was wrong. On December 11, 1985, the once-fragmented and feuding opposition forces united behind Ninoy's widow, Corazon Cojuangco Aquino; her erstwhile rival Salvador Laurel agreed to be her running mate. The opposition campaign was initially disorganized, but it gained steam over time as the people took its message to heart. By the first week of February, US Embassy analysts were estimating that Cory Aquino would win 60 percent to 70 percent of the votes.

In January 1986, GMA-7 ran several campaign spots for Cory Aquino, the only TV station to do so. The spots were aired on the instructions of Freddie Garcia and Rolly Cruz, who caught fire from the GMA bosses for doing so. Freddie Garcia said: "During the election of 1986, I gave Cory's campaign some TV spots without telling the owners of the station. So what we were giving Cory was just to give her a fighting chance."

Rolly Cruz said: "We even helped Cory people to pay for the spots. Malacañang was furious, so we had to lie low after a while. But at least the spots were aired."

On the day of the snap elections, February 7, 1986, fraud and terror were widespread, but the will of the people was clear. Foreign observers concluded that Cory Aquino had won 60 percent of the vote—even after taking into account all the cheating by the administration—including vote-buying, disenfranchisement of voters, tampering with election returns, intimidation, harassment, terrorism and murder. A US observer team that included Sen. Richard Lugar arrived at similar conclusions.

Nonetheless, despite all the indications that Marcos was stealing the election, Ronald Reagan stood by his old friend. On February 15, 1986, the Marcos-controlled parliament, Batasang Pambansa, declared him the victor of the snap elections. In response, on February 16, Cory Aquino launched a nationwide civil-disobedience campaign, aimed at bringing down Marcos.

Marcos geared up for retaliation. The military units loyal to Gen. Fabian Ver began to prepare "Operation Mad Dog," a massive crackdown to round up, imprison and decimate the opposition. Jake Lopez said: "We were always monitoring the situation. There was already word that all the top opposition leaders would be arrested. I had a cousin who was a colonel, and he told me that the AFP was already conducting exercises how to collect all these oppositionists and bring them to Carballo Island in Manila Bay."

Other military units, who were part of the Reform the Armed Forces Movement (RAM) and were loyal to Defense Minister Juan Ponce Enrile, began preparing a coup against Marcos. The stage was set for a bloody confrontation. What came, instead, was a nonviolent uprising that would startle the world.

On the night of February 22, millions of Filipinos learned from Radio Veritas that Gen. Fidel Ramos and Defense Minister Enrile, began preparing a coup against Marcos. They had fortified the national defense headquarters, Camp Aguinaldo, and were prepared to fight for their lives. Enrile announced that Cory Aquino was cheated of her poll victory by Marcos, and also confessed that, back in September 1972, he had staged the ambush on himself to create a pretext for martial law. Military units loyal to Marcos began moving into opposition for a full-scale assault on Enrile and Ramos. Jaime Cardinal Sin had issued an appeal for the people to come to Camp Aguinaldo to protect Ramos and Enrile. By the afternoon of the next day, close to a million people had flooded EDSA, the broad thoroughfare outside Camp Aguinaldo.

Over in San Francisco, Geny Lopez was watching TV and marveling. He said: "It was around two in the morning. I woke up when the phone rang. My brother Manolo said: 'Things are happening here, Manong. Watch CNN.' Which is what I did; I stayed glued to CNN for the next few days. I saw what was happening, because the coverage of the CNN was just fantastic. I said to myself: 'It looks like this is really the beginning of the end for Mr. Marcos.'"

As the situation in Manila turned critical, the ABS-CBN Broadcast Center remained at the center of Jake Lopez's thoughts. Jake said: "When the revolt broke out on February 22, I alerted some friends: Jimmy Navarro and also Prinsesito Pascual, the president of the union of the old ABS-CBN. We agreed that [the rebel group] would need media support to win. So we agreed to wait for developments. We had to be ready to move."

The sign he was waiting for came on Monday morning, February 24, at 9:56 a.m. when Marcos was speaking in a televised press conference about the crisis. Nationwide, the TV screens suddenly went blank.

The signal for the press conference was coming from MBS-4, in the Broadcast Center. At around 9:30 a.m. on February 24, rebel soldiers, led by Col. Rudy Aguinaldo and Maj. Sonny Razon, attacked it. After a short, intense firefight, Lt. Col. Arthur Balmaceda, the commander of the loyalist soldiers guarding the network, agreed to pull out. The loyalist forces left. Technicians at the MBS-4 master control stopped transmitter operations. Finally, the man who shut down Philippine television in September 1972 was himself knocked off the air.

Soon after, Jake Lopez, Jimmy Navarro and Prinsesito Pascual arrived at the Broadcast Center. The rebel officers recognized Jake as the former GM of ABS-CBN and a member of the opposition. They let him and his friends in to get the station back on the air and have it start broadcasting for the rebels.

Jake said: "So we went inside ABS-CBN. This was the first time I had been inside this complex in 14 years. I supervised the construction back in 1966-68, so it really had a place in my heart. But the corridors of the Broadcast Center were dark and deserted. The technicians had gone into hiding when the firing had started outside. I was looking for some of the broadcast engineers. All I needed were a few engineers to put it on the air. All I needed was one man to run the transmitter, one in the Technical Operations Center (TOC), and one cameraman, and then we would be on the air. But for a while, I couldn't find any technician. The first man I saw was a cameraman, someone I knew from the old days. So I asked him: "Where is everyone?" He said that everyone was hiding because of the firing outside. One man, a senior engineer, had actually died of a heart attack because of the stress."

Jake and Jimmy Navarro went around reassembling the station's technical crew, many of whom knew them from the days of the premartial-law ABS-CBN: "We gathered the people who were hiding and I spoke to them. I said: 'We have to put this station back on the air.'"

To do that, he needed and got a lot of help from some more ABS-CBN veterans. Director Johnny Manahan was among them. He recalled: "We had been getting signals from Jimmy Navarro to stand by because they might try taking over the station. So that day [February 24], some friends and I went to ABS-CBN. Once we got here, there was still some firing going on. We got right up to the gate and we heard helicopters hovering just above the roof, and there were lot of soldiers, but we didn't know what was happening really. We climbed over the fence."

He went on: "Then I saw some of the old ABS-CBN people there. Together, we became an ad hoc group to run the station. We were not really organized. It was kind of chaotic. We just said: 'Let's get on the air.' So this station became the communications center [of the revolution] because it was broadcasting live. We were manning the studios, handling security, deciding who would get on the air. It was not a top-down kind of thing. There was no one guy in charge."

Fittingly enough, when the station came back on the air, the first words spoken were by an ABS-CBN veteran, Orly Punzalan. Orly said: "I was then station manager of Radyo Veritas; our transmitter was destroyed by government troops. That Monday morning, we were monitoring the TV broadcasts when one of my people said: 'Tatang, biglang nawala ang Channel 4 [Sir, Channel 4 has suddenly gone off the air].' I had a hunch that this was it. So I brought my people, Frankie Batacan and some technicians, to the Broadcast Center. When we arrived, I saw a friend, Col. Mariano Santiago. I said: 'Mar, we're here if you need us.' He let us in."

Orly added: "Inside the Broadcast Center, I saw Atty. Jake Lopez. He said: 'Orly, you know the place; you know what to do.' Frankie Batacan and the technicians went to the basement, and got everything up and running. It took some time; we arrived at 10 a.m., we got on the air shortly after 1 p.m. I was given the privilege to reopen the station. The floor director gave me the signal. I said: 'Channel 4 is back on the air to serve the people. Now you will get the truth from this channel.' And everyone in the studio was clapping. For me, it was such a big honor to do that."

That first broadcast came at 1:25 p.m. on February 24. Marcos's Mahar*lika Broadcasting System was now redubbed the "People's Television Network." Johnny Manahan directed an improvised public-affairs show in Studio 3. The on-air talents included Orly, June Keithley, Maan Hontiveros, Noel Trinidad and Subas Herrero. Among the volunteers who worked backstage for this show were some who would later become ABS-CBN executives, such as Salvii Casino, Mariol Alberto, Enrico Santos, Charie Villa and Joanna Gomez.

Enrico, then 22, said: "I was one of those who climbed over the fence and did that news show. Someone asked: 'Who can write around here?' I just raised my hand. So I was told to write news stories on index cards and hand them to June Keithley, Fr. Efren Datu, Noel Trinidad and Subas Herrero. That's what we did, in 24-hour shifts."

Salvii Casino fed the newsanchor David Nye with up-to-the minute newsbites relayed by long-distance telephone from New York, where relatives of Salvii were watching the reports of CNN and ABS news crews in Manila. The news took a circuitous route, but it worked.

Johnny Manahan recalled: "Gen. Ramos called. He wanted footage of the Edsa uprising to be shown on television. At that time, we had no news camera. Before we took over, Channel 4 took out all the vans, all the equipment, the U-matic cameras. There were only Video 8s, Betamax cameras. I was so used to professional things, I didn't think about using these 'toy cameras' to cover the Edsa thing. But somebody reminded me we had the 'toy cameras,' so we started sending people there to cover it. And we were able to get from the Americans a copy of that famous footage of Ramos jumping into the air."

Then, ABS-CBN's ace director Mito Villareal directed a helicopter to take aerial footage of the crowd at Edsa. The liberated Channel 4 aired her footage, as well as shots of the inauguration of Cory Aquino in the morning of February 24. These broadcasts clearly demonstrated to the national that the Marcoses were finished.

Jake said: "When we went back on the air, we started to invite some politicians to come and they would come over, but they would not stay long, because the report was the Marcos forces would attack the station." This was actually true; the night of February 24, Marcos's son, Bongbong, was crafting a plan that had him leading an assault on the Broadcast Center. The plan was aborted at the last minute.

Orly said: "On the air, I called on our old friends from the old ABS-CBN. We called on them to come back and help—people like Bong Lapira. They came quickly. We were no longer nervous because there were so many of us now inside the studio. And the broadcast continued."

Some veterans came back to Bohol Avenue wearing their old ABS-CBN bush jackets. They would say to all who would listen: "For many years, I've kept this jacket for a day like today."

An impromptu reunion began at the Broadcast Center as old comrades embraced. "O, pare, saan ka ngayon?" "O, puti na ang buhok mo." It was a time for many smiles and reminiscences, and not a few tears. Veterans like Johnny Midnight, Cris Daluz and Betty Mendez showed up to work.

Jake added: "So that was the story of the takeover of ABS-CBN. The streets outside were full of people, there to protect us from the soldiers of Marcos. It was outstanding. We were really thrilled. Imagine, for 14 years, we were kept outside [the Broadcast Center], and then the revolution happened. I am glad that we had a chance to participate."

Johnny Manahan said: "It meant a lot to me personally just to get inside the Broadcast Center again. We felt: Let's get ABS-CBN back; let's get this Broadcast Center back. And then I saw the old ABS-CBN veterans like Jimmy Navarro and Attorney Jake there, and that was a great sight to see."

Jimmy Navarro said: "Getting back to ABS-CBN was beautiful. Beautiful, maniwala ka."

As elated as the ABS-CBN veterans were, it was also a bittersweet moment. Orly Punzalan said: "We veterans felt so much nostalgia and also sad. The buildings had been poorly maintained; the bathrooms smelled bad. The lights and corridors were not well kept. It used to be spic and span before. Then for us to see what we had worked so hard to build in a shambles was so sad. Naku, ang sakit pala sa dibdib."

The veterans found out that MBS had been systematically pillaged by some of its own staff, so that much of the movable equipment, such as cameras, were missing. It had accumulated some P13 million in unpaid Meralco bills, but had only P154 in cash in the till. Jake Almeda Lopez says: "It broke my heart to see the station this way, in such dirt and disrepair. I had supervised the building of it, after all, for two years, from 1966-68. I knew every nook, every cranny. It was a beautiful place. This was then the second most advanced broadcast center in Asia, next to NHK in Japan. To see it in such a sorry state was really painful to me."

And yet Jake provided a reminder to all the veterans of what attitude they had to take. As Salvii Casino said: "Of all the sights I saw during the revolution, I will never forget one glimpse I had of Attorney Jake. In the afternoon of February 24, he came into the newsroom, where I was busy working on the news, and looked around. And the place was a mess because we were rushing to put the news program on the air. So he stopped, picked up a crumpled piece of paper—I think it was a discarded draft of a news story we had just read on the air—and he put it in the wastebasket. I was really touched by that: imagine someone like Attorney Jake, our boss, doing something like that. I think he was also telling us that, after all these years, the station was ours again, and that, therefore, we had to take care of it. I think he was saying that it was time to get back to work."

Because of the ABS-CBN veterans' role in recapturing the Broadcast Center and running it, the Lopezes' right to the Broadcast Center was not questioned by the new government. Joker Arroyo, executive secretary to the new president, Corazon Aquino, signed an executive order designating Jake Lopez as OIC of the Broadcast Center. (There was a brief attempt by some of Juan Ponce Enrile's officers, including Col. Eduardo Ermita, to take over the station from Jake, but they gave up when they realized they didn't know how to run a TV station.) And because possession, as they say, is nine-tenths of the law, that order by Joker Arroyo paved the way for the return of Geny Lopez to ABS-CBN, and the Broadcast Center to him.

WHEN Geny saw the events of February 24, with his beloved Broadcast Center back on the air, he made up his mind: "I made reservations to fly back to Manila as soon as I could. Things were unraveling so fast. I wanted to be home as soon as possible. I felt that this was where I belonged anyway. This was what I had been waiting for. I wanted to be with my friends, my relatives, with our people and to participate in a very significant event in our history."

He could not get back fast enough to see the end of the regime. At 11 p.m. on February 25, the dictator and his family fled to Hawaii.

On the flight back to Manila, Geny met Gloria Romero, his star from the old ABS-CBN's The Gloria-Luis Show, who was also rushing home. Gloria said: "I embraced him, I was so thrilled to see him. I said, 'Sir, when ABS-CBN opens again, don't forget me.'" Geny said yes and kept his promise.

Saturday, March 1. Shortly before noon, Geny and Chita Lopez arrived in the Manila International Airport, to be greeted by a large crowd of relatives, friends and former employees. A man who had left the country covertly in 1977 came home in triumph. He said: "I'm euphoric, I'm numb, I'm speechless. I knew I'd be home again someday. But I never thought that it would be so soon."

A few days later, Geny called many of his old friends and former ABS-CBN employees for a Thanksgiving Mass at the Chronicle (now Benpres) Building in Pasig. For almost everyone, it was the first time they had seen Geny in many years. There were embraces, quips and tears. The ABS-CBN veterans came confident that Geny would soon revive the network and take them all back to the top.

After Mass, Geny made a short speech, to thank everyone for coming and to share his hopes for the future. In the end, however, he was overcome by emotion. The enormity of all that had happened—all the little miracles that had enabled him to stand where he was that morning—was just too much. Tears filled his eyes, and his voice died away.

Wala naman talaga masama dyan eh, di ba, yung mga iba dyan na nagse-search talaga sa Google o sa iba man na tungkol dyan, ok naman, pero, yung mga ibang pages, ayaw talaga, kaya, yung iba dyan, nagpunta talaga dito sa page na ito para malaman nila talaga about this, at saka, indi lang yan, kahapon, Maundy Thursday and Good Friday, ngayon naman is Black Saturday, at saka, hindi lang yan, this will also serve as an archive, di ba, yun lang. ## PINOY NOSTALGIA TV YEAREND POLLS 2012

November 21, 2012 at 9:06pm

dahil magtatapos na naman ang taon, muling inihahandog ng PINOY NOSTALGIA TV ang YEAREND POLLS 2012 kung saan bibigyang pugay natin ang mga pinaka-pinapanood na palabas sa telebisyon at mga pinakapaboritong mga artista at personalidad na napanood nitong 2012!!!

ngayong taong ito, mas pinaaga natin ang Yearend Polls para kung sakaling mahuhuli ang ilang programa o artista sa pwestuhan sa votes, ay may tsansa pang makahabol... at may pagkakataon ang bawat kaTV lalo na ang mga tagahanga ng ilang malalaki at mga rising stars sa telebisyon at mga pinakapinapanood na programa na mai-SHARE ang polls sa kanilang fan groups o maging sa profiles nila o sa mga friends nila...

as usual, ang mga ihahatid nating POLLS ay ang mga sumusunod...

MOST POPULAR CHILD STARS

MOST POPULAR TEEN STARS
MOST WATCHED CABLE TV CHANNELS
SPORTS ICONS
MOST ADMIRER MALE NEWS PERSONALITIES
MOST ADMIRER FEMALE NEWS PERSONALITIES
RISING STARS (formerly BREAKTHROUGH STARS)
MOST POPULAR ACTORS/PERSONALITIES
MOST FEMALE ACTRESSES/PERSONALITIES
BIGGEST WORLD EVENTS
BIGGEST PINOY EVENTS
PINOY NEWSMAKERS
PINOY SHOWBIZ NEWSMAKERS
MOST WATCHED TV SHOWS
MOST WATCHED TV STATION

at di lang yan... may dinagdag akong 2 pang POLLS, dahil minahal na rin natin ang ilang "kapitbahay" natin sa Asya, inihahandog ko ang MOST POPULAR ASIAN PERSONALITIES this year, at ang TRENDING PHENOMENON, kung saan nandun ang mga nag-trend na salita, event, video. kanta o kahit anong nauso o pinag-usapan kahit saan, kahit pa sa social media this year!!!

at eto pa... kaya ko ginawang RISING STARS ang dating BREAKTHROUGH STARS dahil sa dami na rin ng mga nagsulputang bagong stars sa TV, lalo na ang mga sumikat sa mga reality at talent searches gaya ng Pinoy Big Brother Unlimited, PBB Teen Edition 4, Protege, X-Factor Philippines, Pilipinas Got Talent, Artista Academy, Biggest Loser, Survivor at marami pang iba... idadagdag na rin natin dyan ang mga radio personalities na sumulpot na rin sa telebisyon, gaya ng nangyari kay DJ ChaCha ng Tambayan 101.9, Jessica Mendoza ng Magic 89.9, Angelicopter, Papa Jack ng Love Radio, at marami pang iba...

ang lahat ng yan ay handog ng PNTV para sa LAHAT ng mga kaTV bilang pasasalamat na rin sa patuloy na pagtangkilik sa nag-iisang source ng OLD PINOY TV INFO sa Facebook at sa buong bansa... :)

maraming salamat po!!

Bro Ryan A. America Pati SMNI 39, may New Year Countdown nang Live from their headquarters sa Davao, ewan ko lang kung ila-Live din sa SMNI 39 ang New Year Countdown ng Sonshine TV-Radyo ng DZAR 1026. May Yearend Report pa during Give us this Day program ng SMNI.

Timothy John Liwanag Paragas Bro, PTV retained its normal programming pero because of my proposal, na-extend hanggang 1:30 a.m. Sad to say, no countdown but a Vespers of Thanksgiving Live from Vatican (wow, too holy to start the year). Check out the sked on their website at www.ptv.ph. GNTV will probably follow a normal sked: Adyenda ni Joel Villanueva most likely to air. Net25, INCTV, dunno. AksyonTV, baka simulcast with Pilipinas News for the New Year's Special.

The Annual Kapamilya Flag Raising Day! by Admin-02/Jenine

October 9, 2010 at 9:24am

Every year, the Philippines' ABS-CBN Stations commemorate Independence Day by airing an Annual Kapamilya Flag Raising Day. It may have started in 2007 or 2008. In this program, employees, including regional headquarters and offices outside the Philippines, sing the national anthem (Lupang Hinirang) with a guest artist or a choir, while witnessing a simultaneous raising of the national flag from different points of the world.

Some of the singers that performed the pambansang awit in the ceremony were Charice and Toni Gonzaga.

Update: In 2011 and 2013, ABS-CBN released their national anthem video during the show, where you can spot in the latest edition Jodi Santa Maria and Richard Yap.

While in 2012, the ABS-CBN Philharmonic Orchestra and the Hail Mary The Queen Children's Choir did this.

Banco Filipino

September 27, 2013 at 6:06pm

Banco Filipino Savings and Mortgage Bank (PSE: BF), or simply Banco Filipino, is a bank in the Philippines. It is also known for property developments such as BF Homes, subdivisions in Parañaque, Quezon City and Las Piñas. The Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) on March 17, 2011 ordered the closure of Banco Filipino Savings and Mortgage Bank and placed it under the receivership of state-run Philippine Deposit Insurance Corp. (PDIC), saying its liabilities topped its assets by P8.4 billion.

History:

Banco Filipino was established in 1964. It then set out to leave its mark as an innovator, by conceiving the first all-woman bank branch, which became a hit, in 1965, and by 1969 became the first bank to process online transactions in real time, giving customers the ability to deposit in any online BF branch. From 1966 until its closure in 1985, BF was the largest savings bank in the Philippines.

In 1970, Banco Filipino started expanding into the countryside with its first provincial branch opening in Naga City. By 1972, the bank's customer base grew to one million customers, even in the midst of martial law. It was voted the most preferred bank in Metro Manila in 1975. By 1981, the bank achieved what no other savings bank could: 89 branches, four billion pesos worth of assets, three million customers and three thousand shareholders.

On January 25, 1985, even though Banco Filipino was performing well and was seen by most people as a very healthy bank, the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas ordered its closure over alleged insolvency. For most of the 1980s, Banco Filipino would remain closed, until a 1991 ruling made by the Supreme Court declared the bank's closure illegal. Banco Filipino subsequently reopened, albeit only with fifteen of its original 92 branches, in 1994.

For much of the remaining 1990s, Banco Filipino would be busy trying to reestablish itself. It became a member of BancNet after launching the BF Cash Card in 1995 and issued its first credit card, a VISA card, a year later. Two years later, BF shares were re-listed on the Philippine Stock Exchange, and the Supreme Court declared in 1999 that Banco Filipino is entitled to damages payments caused by its illegal closure.

Competition: Banco Filipino mostly competes with other savings banks, such as Philippine Savings Bank and Centennial Savings Bank.

Firsts:

In line with its corporate philosophy, which is personalized service, Banco Filipino is known for the following firsts:

- Open teller counters instead of the then-common glass-encased counter. Today, all banks have adopted the open teller counter concept.
- Plastic signs inside bank branches
- Acceptance of initial savings deposits that are as low as one peso
- The offering of capital stock to its depositors. Through that scheme, Banco Filipino depositors could in effect become bank co-owners
- Extended banking hours from Monday to Saturday, 8 am to 8 pm, 6 days a week, 12 hours a day
- Monthly and even daily (known as "Interest Araw-Araw") interest payments. Many commercial banks and some universal banks have since adopted the monthly interest payment scheme.
- Advance interest payments on time deposits.
- The offering of negotiable orders of withdrawal. At the time, savings banks were prohibited from issuing government securities.

2011 closure:

Banco Filipino was Closed by the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas by claiming that Banco Filipino has exceeded its assets with more liabilities which is against Philippine law which states that a bank's assets must equal or be in excess of its liabilities with an 8.4 billion pesos worth of liabilities. However Banco Filipino claims that it had 31.4 billion worth of properties and 23.8 Billion pesos worth of liabilities leaving the savings and mortgage bank with 1.6 billion pesos worth of positive assets showing that its assets according to Banco Filipino are more than its liabilities which could have been used in its planned rehabilitation.

Meanwhile, the Philippine Deposit Insurance Corp. (PDIC) has revealed that they will start paying next month Banco Filipino depositors whose accounts had at least P10,000 when the bank went on a holiday.

PDIC executive vice president Cristina Orbeta said it has settled 53 percent of the closed bank's deposit liabilities. These were accounts that had P5,000 or less when Banco Filipino shut down.

Goto King History (source: Entrepreneur.com.ph)

September 28, 2013 at 4:42pm

Within the year, a Goto King branch is set to be opened by an Arab national in Abu Dhabi, Goto King founder Maria Teresa Dula-Laurel discloses. A second Middle East outlet will probably open early next year.

And during the 8th Filipino Franchise Show on September 4 to 6, 2009 at the World Trade Center in Pasay City, the company is launching four new franchise concepts. These are the Goto King Express Cart, Goto Queen Kiosk Type, Hot Bowl for hot soup and hot rice toppings, and Habba-Habba which will sell noodles from Lucban, Quezon Province.

In a way, Goto King is bucking the trend, since other food franchisers have been reportedly suffering declines in sales of up to 20 percent this year, a sign of the troubled economic times.

Having gone through numerous domestic and international crises in its 25 years in the business, the company is well-poised to weather this one, too. After all, Goto King was established in 1984 at the backdrop of domestic political and economic crises as it was a time of mass upheaval due to the assassination of former Senator Ninoy Aquino

Early Days

Dula-Laurel narrates that the management of mall food courts were then looking for new offerings that would be easy on the budget but would satisfy the hunger of the customers. With a P50,000 capital, she approached a mall operator in Cubao, Quezon City to sell her concept, and with just a small food cart, and goto and tokwa't baboy on the menu, Goto King instantly became a hit across all classes of the market.

"(Filipinos) all love to eat goto. However, it was considered street food and the usual impression was that it was not sanitarily prepared. So we repackaged it, improved its quality and then placed it in a mall setting where the customers can enjoy it in a clean and air-conditioned surrounding," she says. In 1987, the company opened its first 24-hour store along Timog Avenue in Quezon City.

Opening the business to partners

In 1994, Goto King opened its doors to franchisees, with the first franchise partner setting up a 30-seater outlet on V. Luna Street, also in Quezon City. Today, the company has 10 franchise outlets out of the 32 total number of stores. The farthest branch up north is in Pangasinan, and down south, the farthest is in Cebu. The company is now in negotiations for a franchise outlet in Iloilo.

Dula-Laurel says before going into franchising, they familiarized themselves with all the nitty-gritty that goes into signing up franchisees. Not only did they attend seminars on franchising held locally, but even attended those held abroad.

Goto King charges a franchise fee of P500,000 for a stand-alone store. The total investment ranges from P2 million to P5 million.

Secret of its staying power

Dula-Laurel knows only too well from experience that the survival of a company in these difficult times depends on how it is able to maintain the high quality standards it is known for, and not on employing any of the so-called "band-aid solutions" or "of-the-moment" adjustments.

"Especially if you haven't done them before or are not used to making these adjustments, they will not help you. (Your customers) will only keep on patronizing you if you will maintain the same standard, quality and customer care (that they have been used to receiving from your company)," Dula-Laurel shares.

One indication that Goto King has its business strategies on surviving the hard times down pat is that, even in the midst of recession, Goto King revenues went down by only 3 to 5 percent in the first half of the year. "And we are still expecting positive growth this year because we are scheduled to open four more outlets. So compared to others, we are okay," she says.

Dula-Laurel attributes the company's staying power mainly to the excellence of its products, and also to the way the company deals with its customers. "Our loyal customers call me personally if they see something wrong. At the end of the day, it is still the way you care for your customers and your products that really matter," she goes on to explain.

Premiere Bank (now acquired by Security Bank Corp.) History

September 28, 2013 at 4:44pm

Premiere Bank

a pleasant banking experience

Premiere Bank, one of the largest capitalized thrift banks today, was founded by the late Dr. Procopio C. Reyes on July 16, 1960. The Bank grew rapidly as a small, five-man operation known as the Pasay City Development Bank and eventually adopted the name Premiere Development Bank in 1979. While a good number of banks throughout the 1980s were suffering from liquidity problems and were closed by the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP), Premiere Bank has remained stable and dedicated to its service.

In 2001, the management of the bank was formally turned over to the founder's daughter, Mrs. Belen R. Castro. She remained as Premiere Bank President & Chief Executive Officer until 2007, with Mr. Herminio M. Famatigan Jr. assuming the new post. While in 2005, it marked the launched of the new Premiere Bank logo, symbolizing continuity, personalized service, innovation, and heightened services of the Bank.

Premiere Bank has always been focused toward serving the Filipino entrepreneur. Since then, Premiere Bank has continued to improve and enhance its services and has kept up with modern day electronic banking services and other innovative products to meet the needs of its growing base of satisfied customers.

Premiere Bank's business philosophy is anchored on building customers' trust, on being a catalyst for growth and on its mission to make banking a pleasant experience for its customers.

The Bank has thirty-eight (38) online branches located within Metro Manila and the CALABARZON area. From being the Bank for the entrepreneurs and small-and-medium enterprises, its operations have expanded to include consumer finance (personal, salary and auto loans), factoring of receivables and purchase of contract-to-sell receivables. In its effort to expand market reach, Premiere Bank has embarked on a program to deploy off-site ATMs in select malls and commercial establishments. This provides support to the Bank's suite of new, unique, and exciting electronic card and cash management products. Forged through its membership with the MegaLink consortium, the Bank allows its customers to make financial transactions not only through MegaLink's ATM network but also through those of BancNet and ExpressNet as well.

In 2006, a consortium led by the Rohatyn Group, a New York-based private investment firm specializing in emerging markets with US$ 3.0 Billion in funds under management, and the Madrigal-Gonzalez family, infused fresh equity into Premiere Bank with the acquisition of fifty percent (50%) of total ownership. As a result, the Bank now ranks as one of the best capitalized thrift banks in the country. With a strong capital base, Premiere Bank is certainly on a steep and well-positioned growth trajectory that is anchored on a solid value proposition to its customers and on technology-enabled superior customer service.

10 Most Memorable Ad Jingles (Forget "Careless Whisper" LSS)

September 28, 2013 at 5:01pm

Back when channel surfing was limited to less than 10 TV channels, escaping the ubiquitous television ads was quite difficult. We had to endure the worst commercial jingles along with the best and hoped that we didn't catch ourselves unconsciously humming them in public. Cable TV and a million commercials later, we can still hear these tunes in our head:

1. Nips

"You wanna see what happens in a bag of nips?"

*What goes on before they touch my lips?
They make a rainbow...(chocolate Nips)
A choco rainbow...(chocolate Nips)
And then they color all the flowers and they paint the trees
They're sweet and delicious, look at all those bees
When I want fun, I get a bag of nips
And make a rainbow
(Nips, Nips)..."*

With rhyming lyrics, a catchy tune and colorful commercial scenes, the jingle and the candies were on the lips of everyone who loved munching on the colorful chocolate-coated sweets in the late '80s. The play on words and images was as appealing as the candies and the jingle is the reason many little kiddies stopped and stared at the TV screen whenever the commercial came on.

2. Caronia

*"Caronia, Caronia...
The secret of beauty is in your hands,
Caronia, Caronia,
Your beauty shines with Caronia."*

The first Caronia commercial actually came out in 1968 on black and white TV, featuring four models in Mary Quant Mondrian-esque miniskirts, bobs and black eyeliner dancing to the original jingle from which we only remember the word "Manicural!" It was reincarnated in the '80s in a commercial choreographed by Douglas Nierras and directed by Fritz Infante. With the same singsong jingle but with more contemporary words and the sight of four models dancing, now in fuchsia and electric blue mini-dresses in front of life-sized Caronia nail polish bottles is one of the hardest TV commercials to forget. The nail polish brand didn't come out with a lot of other TV commercials after that but the product remained on grocery shelves and on ladies' well-manicured tips over the years.

Recently, Caronia employed local band, Imago, to come out with a new, much-improved commercial jingle and video that screams modern and hip with psychedelic colors and hip-hopping dance moves. Still fun, but not as catchy. Watch the 1990's TV Commercial at

<http://http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=eg8HIE0Uz-c>

3. Seiko

*"Seiko Seiko Wallet,
Ang wallet na masuwerte,
Balat nito ay genuine
International pa ang mga design
Ang wallet na masuwerte
Seiko Seiko Wallet."*

Strong in recall, the Seiko wallet ditty is a singular hit about how the genuine (pronounced JIN-YOU-WHINE) leather wallets equate luck and prosperity. Ignore the song-writing and appreciate the novelty. And while the commercial itself was not anywhere near Cannes-worthy, the jingle is an LSS stand-out, a Hall-of-Famer if there was any.

4. YC Bikini Brief

*"YC Bikini Briefs, YC Bikini Briefs, YC Bikini Briefs,
For the man who packs a wallop
YC is comfort
YC is fashion
YC is beauty in motion
YC is for you
YC Bikini Briefs, YC Bikini Briefs, YC Bikini Briefs"*

This infamous ad even bought airtime in the metro's cinemas so being early for the movies meant catching this commercial on the big screen. The Yacht Club (YC) Bikini Brief jingle became so popular that it spawned many production spoofs (with a change of lyrics to "Wash Your Bikini Briefs...") on TV, corporate teambuilding weekends and during Christmas parties by various men who packed a wallop.

5. United American Tiki Tiki

*United American Tiki Tiki
Pampalusog ng iyong baby
United American Tiki Tiki
Tiki Tiki for baby!"*

The kid-friendly multi-vitamin had a weird name to start with and the jingle was no less quirky. Local creatives at the Able Minds Advertising Agency were enlisted by pharma giant Unilab, to come up with a jingle to sell the brand to young families. According to the agency, "One of our most memorable jingles was the one we made for United American Tiki-Tiki". Everyone who has heard the jingle more than once can't seem to forget it too.

6. Electrolux

*I'm gonna knock on your door
Ring on your bell
Tap on your window too
So why don't you open your door
So I can show you more
I'm your friendly Electrolux man."*

The Electrolux TVC with the ever-smiling door-to-door salesman is an '80s classic. By lending new lyrics to the '60s song, "I'm Gonna Knock On your Door", the jingle is easy-to-remember, relatively effortless to sing, scores high on the LSS-meter and certainly gave the Electrolux Man his five minutes of fame.

7. Bear Brand Sterilized Milk

*I remember yesterday
The world was so young
Fun times with grandma.
Sharing moments...of fun
(Is that you Lolo? Look at my mole)."*

The young boy dancing with his doting lolo to the crooning jingle of the Bear Brand Sterilized Milk is downright likeable. The lines, "Is that you, Lolo?" and "Look at my mole!" are easily two of the most memorable lines in TV commercial history. Without overdosing on sappy overtones, the ad evokes a gentler, more family-centric bygone era which tugs at the heartstrings but isn't so sappy that it would make you tear up. Watch on <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5sEt0IH0o8A>

8. Kyowa

"Kyowa, Kyowa, Kyowa type kita Basta may Kyowa, ginhawa ka"

Repetition always gets you plus points in the land of advertising jingles and Kyowa is proof that repeating the brand name obsessively in the jingle definitely works. And even with a lame line like, 'type kita', this jingle comes to mind whenever we see the brand in home appliance stores.

9. Lee Kum Kee

"Bring out the Lee Kum Kee, Bring out the Lee Kum Kee Bring out the Lee Kum Kee, Bring out the Lee Kum Kee..."

Another brand that relied heavily on repeating their brand name in their TV commercial, Lee Kum Kee's jingle easily stuck. Of course, repeating lyrics are always easy to remember. The Chinese brand tried to inject Pinoy humor in their more recent 2006 ad with Melanie Marquez, but it was not as memorable as the previous one which urges you to just "Bring out the Lee Kum Kee".

10. Beam Toothpaste

"B-E-A-M means smile Smile kami pag-Beam,

BEAM na BEAM ngipi'y protektado

Panalo sa presyo, panalo, pag BEAM..."

One of the best of the worst, the Beam jingle does what other commercials aspire to do: make you remember it for a long time. Beam Toothpaste's ad scores high on brand awareness and recall. And even if we're not sure if we believe that "B-E-A-M means smile", we can easily sing to the ad with bright, toothy grins.

You, what memorable ad jingle you remember? Like this note and comment!

Insular Life history

September 28, 2013 at 5:03pm

INSULAR LIFE

Insuring the Filipino Dream

Heritage

Insular Life was established on November 25, 1910 at a time when the Philippines was flexing its wings as an independent country. Today, as the Philippines' leading and largest Filipino life insurance company, Insular Life prides itself with its role in securing the lives of Filipinos families for close to a century. Its roster of products -- from its ordinary whole life, endowment, limited-payment, college education and insurance plans, to pension and investment plans -- not only offers the best cost-benefits ratios among insurance plans in the market. More importantly, these are designed to allow individuals to wield control over their and their family's financial security.

Insular Life is anchored on four fundamental corporate values: Commitment to Excellence, Integrity in Work, Respect for the Individual, and Upliftment of the Filipino. Through years of growth and of struggle, these values have remained constant, guiding generations of Insular Life officers and employees in serving hundreds of thousands of its policyholders.

Insular Life has a long tradition of steadfast commitment to its policyholders. The Company demonstrated this trait most vividly during World War II when it honored pre-war and Japanese occupation commitments regardless of its toll on the company's reserves.

As one of the pioneering life insurance companies in the Philippines, Insular Life is credited for introducing a number of groundbreaking moves in the industry. In 1953, it introduced the first school of insurance in the Philippines. The following year, it lowered its premiums -- the first insurance company to do so. In 1958 Insular Life introduced what would soon be a hugely successful business line: industrial life insurance which was intended for lower income-earning Filipinos. Insular Life's most significant step, however, was its mutualization, completed in 1987, which effectively made Insular Life's policyholders part Owners of the company.

Insular Life Today

Insular Life today is the only Filipino life insurance company among the top five industry leaders. It continues to deliver a solid performance, posting P2.1 billion in net income by end of 2008. A cornerstone of Insular Life's financial stability is its strong asset base which has consistently increased through the years, reaching P57.9 billion in 2008. Its business-in-force of P209.2 billion reflects a growing number of policyholders.

Insular Life transferred its headquarters at the Insular Life Corporate Centre in Filinvest, Alabang in 2001 in a symbolic step toward the fast-paced and I.T.-based 21st century. Here, fully in step with the demands of the modern world but rooted in its unique heritage, Insular Life continues to design innovative and responsive products and services for Filipino families to help them realize their dreams.

Subsidiaries and Affiliate

Beyond life insurance, Insular Life has diversified into related financial services through its subsidiaries and affiliate: Insular Life Health Care, Inc. (I-Care), Insular Investment and Trust Corporation (IITC), HomeCredit Mutual Building and Loan Association, Inc. (HomeCredit), and affiliate Mapfre Insular Insurance Corporation.

Corporate Citizenship

Insular Life practices responsible corporate citizenship through the Insular Life Foundation (ILF), Inc. ILF, formerly known as the Insular Life Educational Foundation (ILEF), Inc. is focused on education and on nation-building. Its current programs include the Ateneo Principal Empowerment Program, 57-75 Campaign participation, University of the Philippines B.S. Math Scholarship, Insular Life Gold Eagle Award, Adopt-a-Scholar Program with the Muntinlupa Itaas Elementary School, Literacy Campaign consisting of a Storybooks Donation and Storytelling Workshop, and Filfest Music Festival. One of its cornerstone projects is The Outstanding Filipino (TOFIL) award program in partnership with the JCI Senate Philippines. Since the program's beginning in 1988, TOFIL has recognized 94 Filipino men and women who have excelled in their profession and have contributed to the upliftment of their communities

History of Nestle Philippines

September 28, 2013 at 5:04pm

The Early Years. Although Nestlé products were already available in the Philippines as far back as 1895, it was not until 1911 when The Nestlé and Anglo Swiss Condensed Milk Company was established in the country, with its first sales office in Calle Renta, Binondo.

The Company was forced to suspend its operations during World War II, but soon made a comeback after Liberation, under a new name: Filipro, Inc. It continued to import products such as MILO, NIDO powder milk, MILKMAID and NESCAFÉ from other countries. In the early 1950's, Filipro encountered difficulties when the Philippine government imposed import control. Due to lack of imported products to sell, it was forced to become a distributor of peanut butter, napkins, fruit preserves, and patis (fish sauce) just to keep its operations going.

Local Production. In 1960, Nestlé S.A. and San Miguel Corporation entered into a partnership resulting in the formation of Nutritional Products, Inc. (Nutripro). In 1962, Nutripro's first factory started operations in Alabang, Muntinlupa to manufacture NESCAFÉ. In 1977, Filipro, Inc. and Nutripro Inc. merged under the name Filipro, Inc. In 1986, Filipro, Inc. changed to its present name as Nestlé Philippines, Inc.

Nestle now has manufacturing facilities in Cabuyao (Laguna), Cagayan de Oro, Lipa (Batangas), and Pulilan (Bulacan) to meet the growing demand for Nestlé products in the country. Soon to rise is another factory in Tanauan, Batangas.

Growth and Diversification. In 1991, Nestlé pioneered the AIJV (ASEAN Industrial Joint Venture), a regional complementation program. The Company participated in this program with the production of breakfast cereals at the Nestlé Lipa Factory, for export to ASEAN markets. Today, three of the Nestle factories in the Philippines – Lipa, Cabuyao, and Cagayan de Oro -- serve as ASEAN Supply Centers to meet the requirements of Nestle markets in the region.

In late 1998, Nestlé Philippines became a wholly owned subsidiary of Nestlé S.A., following the latter's purchase of all of San Miguel Corporation's equity shareholding in the Company.

Driven by its mission to nurture generations of Filipino families, Nestlé today produces and markets products under some of the country's well known brands such as NESCAFÉ, NIDO, MILO, NESTEA, MAGGI, BEAR BRAND, NESTLÉ, and PURINA, among others. Its product range has expanded to include coffee, milk, beverages, non-dairy creamer, food, infant nutrition, ice cream and chilled dairy, breakfast cereals, confectionery, and pet-care.

What happened to some favorite brands? (Part 1 of 3)

September 28, 2013 at 5:34pm

Source: INQUIRER.net

Which way is your brand going—to supermarket shelves or the dustbin?

Here today, gone tomorrow.

Many moons ago, your lola would shop with a list of grocery items in her purse. She'd hie off to the market with a dab of Cashmere Bouquet on her cheeks. A spray of Freyssinet and perfume bought from Botica Boie would complete her retinue.

She went to Divisoria every Saturday. On her list were must-buys: Purico (for frying and other "ginisa" cooking), Camay (for your sister's facial beauty regimen), Lifebuoy (for your kuya's after-basketball shower), Darigold (for young kids), Breeze (for your labandera), Pancho Pantera (chocomilk for the unruly kids) and, when she's overly generous, Glo-Co Lipstick (for the maids).

Once upon a time, other Filipino brands also created rhubarb in Escolta, Rizal Avenue, Azcarraga, even as far as the Philippines' farthest towns.

Esco, Elpo, Ang Tibay Shoes, Chelsea, Siga Siga, Bataan Matamis cigarettes, Radiowealth, Avegon Transistor radios, Three Flowers, Trocadero, Hour-After-Hour, Halo Shampoo were among them. But where are they now?

Why do some brands not last long while others stand the tests of time?

Anyone of these could be the answer:

Reformulated and re-branded with another catchy name. Suffered marketing comatose because of bad awareness caused by bad advertising aggravated by bad distribution. Killed by brand strategists because of poor consumer acceptance.

"Bad feng shui" could be another reason (remember that many manufacturers are Chinese and believe in it). Acquired by another company and re-acquired by another. Offered no distinct product advantage. They became bankrupt or they simply faded away because they became irrelevant.

Like their local counterparts, there are countless brands all over the world that vanished into thin air just a few years after they were launched.

There are, however, many brands that went beyond expectations, survived changing times, and consumer needs they emerged market leaders.

Popular brands that are still available today are Coca Cola, Oreo, Campbell's, Kellogg's, Del Monte, Nabisco, Hersheys, Fig Newtons, Heinz Ketchup, Graham Crackers, Philadelphia Cream Cheese, Quaker Oats, Pillsbury Flour, Lea & Perrins Worcestershire Sauce, Wrigley's among others.

"When a brand fails, it means it has lost customer loyalty. And loyalty is lost usually because customers have switched to a competitive brand or different category or altogether new industry that offers a more meaningful benefit while the original brand failed to respond," says Willy Arcilla, founder and president of Brand Mentors, a management consultancy firm dedicated to helping Filipino companies grow their revenues and compete more effectively in a global economy via marketing leadership.

Arcilla cites a camera film brand as perhaps the best example—being replaced by digital photography.

He also mentions the failed financial institutions from the 2007 crisis. “This emphasizes the need for constant reinvention. Why do you think multinational companies relaunch their soaps and other brands as ‘New Improved!’ practically every year?”

As a seasoned marketer with more than 25 years of experience in marketing, sales and general management roles in Procter & Gamble, SC Johnson, Coca-Cola and Philippine conglomerates around the Asia-Pacific region (San Miguel, RFM, URC) and managed 50 global, regional and local brands, Arcilla discusses it in his book “Marketing and Advertising with a Conscience.”

Arcilla says a brand can also fade away from the market along with its set of loyal but dwindling users, when it is unable to attract new and younger users to eventually replace an aging customer base.

“An established brand that is faltering must be careful not to depart from its established positioning just to acquire new customers at the risk of alienating core users,” he says.

“This is usually done with a new but wrong advertising campaign or repositioning exercise, and frequently, diluting a brand by launching line extensions that are off-strategy. Herein lies the challenge for brand managers—how to enhance a brand’s core DNA while constantly evolving,” Arcilla says.

Arcilla says the secret usually lies in rediscovering the core essence of the brand, translating that into a more contemporary message more relevant to new and younger consumers.

“No other brand can best epitomize this than Apple with its stream of innovations like the iPod, iPhone, iPad—all consistent in delivering its promise of ‘Think Different,’” he says.

Advertising people feel the same way.

A top advertising account director bewails the fact that some advertisers blame their ad agencies when they fail to deliver the bottom line. “They change their ad agency more often not knowing that it boils down to the quality of brand they are manufacturing,” Arcilla says.

Indeed, no amount of advertising can sell a bad product. It will only fast-track its death on the shelf.

BBDO-Guerrero copywriter Raymund Sison tells us: “With consumers’ ever-changing needs, brands should continue to evolve. For a brand to thrive, let alone survive, it must be flexible in adapting to consumer and dynamic market changes.”

Ogilvy Manila copywriter Paul Palmero believes that brands are like people. He says, “People that are most open to improvement and innovation are the ones that are most successful. People who have the ability to adapt to changes each day are the ones that thrive. In the same manner, brands that are most consistent in their equity and character are the ones that last long.”

San Miguel Beer is perhaps the longest-surviving Filipino brand in the Philippines. In 1896, it advertised a young Spanish girl with a beer mug on the front page of Diario de Manila.

Lyle’s Golden Syrup, manufactured by United Kingdom’s Tate & Lyle, is the world’s oldest brand, according to the Guinness Book of World Records.

The sweet syrup was first put into green and gold tin in 1885. Popular all over the world, its packaging and formula have remained almost completely unchanged and is found in more than 85 percent of British households.

As they say, nothing lasts forever but for a brand to last 20 years is already a great feat. When a brand’s DNA remains undiluted and it continues to provide relevant use and excitement to its target it will not only earn money—but additional years to its life span.

All about Natural 97.9 and its nationwide stations (by Mr. Admin-3)

September 26, 2014 at 5:56pm

Last July 2014, Aliw Broadcasting Corporation decided to rename 97.9 Natural and its Natural provincial stations (such as 106.7 Natural, 98.7 Natural) as Natural 97.9, while the provincial stations retained its brand Natural, but with a minor changes of branding (like Natural 106.7, Natural 98.7, Natural 89.5, and Natural 98.3). With its brand renaming, it is the same format from Home Radio Natural, and Natural, but the program titles still removable and retaining its respective DJs (but with a minor additional DJs like Braggy Orange on Natural 97.9 Manila), and also, some of its female DJs are decided to remove and retain its respective male DJs (but they also added R&B: Ramos & Bondoc show on Natural 97.9 Manila). Natural 97.9 and its provincial stations retain its well-known branding programs like Pinoy Music Salad, Happy Hour, Solid Gold Sunday and Instant Request (but Instant Request decided to air in a weekly basis, every Sunday morning).

On August 2014, Natural 97.9 and its provincial stations' format was reformatted into a Top 40 station instead of being as a hot AC (masa) station because of its low listenership as a masa station due to the popularity of the other masa stations like Star FM, MOR, Energy FM, Love Radio, and YES! FM. Still, this reformatted Top 40 station's language decided to change into a Taglish, to compete with the other Top 40 stations like Magic 89.9, Mellow 947 and 99.5 Play FM (who speaks completely in English). The program titles are unchanged (or still removable) and the (retaining) DJs are now all-male, instead of having a female jocks, and retain Instant Request, and especially, the R&B: Ramos & Bondoc show on Natural 97.9 Manila, but they decided to remove Pinoy Music Salad, Happy Hour and Solid Gold Sunday to became more focus on its current playlist and becoming as an all-Top 40 station.

Para sa akin, ibalik na dapat agad-agad yang Home Radio na yan, but retain its Top 40/CHR format to become more comfortable and more competitive to other Top 40 or pop stations, and it will also have a female jocks imbes na puro male jocks ang inatupag, and also, the jocks will also speak completely in English to compete with the other pop stations. Kapag ibinalik agad-agad yan, things will become more worst, so hintayin na lang ang desisyon ng management kung ibabalik ba nila ang Home Radio o may paraan pa sila, but for now, stick muna tayo sa Natural.
